

THE ELKIN TRIBUNE

VOL. IX.

ELKIN, N. C., THURSDAY, AUGUST 5, 1930

NO. 26.

THE STATE LEADS IN HIGH SCHOOLS

RETURNS FROM PROJECT WORK SHOWED A PROFIT OF 41 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR

NET PROFIT PER PUPIL, $1.50

Individual incomes of Agricultural Students were Greater than Those of Any Other Southern State

Raleigh.—Mr. D. M. McElroy, federal agent for agricultural education, who spent a day at State College in conference with the officials of the State Board for Vocational Education and teachers of vocational agriculture, stated that North Carolina will lead all Southern States in many respects next year in the results obtained from the work in agricultural high schools.

Mr. McElroy said that for each dollar invested in teaching agriculture the return from the project work of the students enrolled in the agricultural courses was one dollar and forty cents. That is, the students, while going to school, realized a net profit from their supervised practical work at home a sum which is several thousand dollars in excess of the cost of maintenance of these agricultural departments. Also the individual income of North Carolina agricultural pupils was greater than that of any other Southern State. Records show that the average net profit of each pupil was $1.50.

Population of Granville 28,848

Washington, (Special).—The Census Bureau announced the census of Granville county, North Carolina, as 28,848. The figures show that the county's population increased 4.7 per cent during the past decade, the growth in number of persons being 1,744.

No Plans to Lay His Head

Where Governor T. W. Elliott will reside when his term as chief executive expires is something that he himself has not figured out. He will do something in either Raleigh or Winston-Salem, he said.

Textile Engineering Course

A new course has been added to the courses already given by the North Carolina Textile School, the textile department of the State College. It will be known as the Texas Engineering Course and will make four courses offered by this department as follows:

Four year course in textile engineering, textile manufacturing, and textile chemistry and dying and a two year course in textile manufacturing.

"Carthage Must be Destroyed"

Old Cato always would, up his speeches in the Roman Senate, with a declaration that "Carthage Must be destroyed" and William McDermott of Washington, who comes for good roads most of the time, likewise has a slogan that "the cattle tick must go." McDermott has gotten out a letter remonstrating members of the State General Assembly of their duty and telling them to go to it. It is plain and simple; there are 22 counties in North Carolina that are still tick infested.

Bulls Pay no Attention to Us

Washington, (Special).—Miss Alice Paul, head of the national women's party, said that she is not giving much attention to the North Carolina situation but is concentrating her efforts on Tennessee. If we get Tennessee we will not need another state, but we hope to add North Carolina within the next six weeks."

The Greatest Summer School

When the summer school at the University of North Carolina closes, outgoing trains from Chapel Hill will carry at least one of the 1,122 students to every county in the state except five which are hidden behind the Blue Ridge—the counties of Ashe, Graham, Mitchell, Swain, and Watauga. The Methodists and Baptists as usual are far in the lead.

Oppose Against Ratification

The forecast is now being made that neither North Carolina or Tennessee will be in a hurry to ratify the Anthony amendment, but that each state will try to pass the bill. Out side of those prominently affiliated with the "cause" there are few who have been heard to express it as the opinion that North Carolina will ratify the amendment. It is known that sentiment in the state is opposed to ratification in spite of the plank in the state platform.

Charlotte Lawyer Wins Out

HAMILTON C. JONES, Charlotte lawyer, is to be the new assistant attorney general for the western district of North Carolina. The appointment having been decided upon by Senator Long R. Overman at his home in Salisbury, where he was waited upon by a Charlotte delegation and when Mr. Jones personally presented his recommendations for the position.

With the character of those the same law was strongly impressed and covered his decision at the conclusion of the interview.

No Casing Wanted from Gulliver.
Governor Dickson not only resents the reported intention of the Prisoners' Relief Society of Washington, of which E. E. Dodington is president, to investigate prison camps in North Carolina, but he will not permit it. He said so in very emphatic terms.

"I do not propose to allow anybody outside of North Carolina to investigate any of our institutions. We have a state superintendent of health, Dr. W. H. Rankin, who looks after sanitary conditions, and a state supervisor head of public welfare, H. F. Beasley, who looks after the moral and humanitarian condition of our institutions. I have more confidence in the judgment and sincerity of purpose of those officials than I have in any of our civil rights agitators."

"I have been cussed all over the state, from Cape Lookout to Black Rock creek, on account of my sentimental love for convicts. One leading newspaper accused me of trying to turn our prisons into reformatories."

"I am perfectly willing to take this cussing from our own North Carolina folks. I am their servant and it is the constitutional right of every Tar Heel to curse public officials, a right they freely exercise and about which I make no complaint. But I absolutely refuse to take cussing or criticism on account of my official conduct from any outsiders."

Committee of Investigation

Former Adjutant General Beverly S. Boyce of Oxford; Colonel A. H. Baynes of Salisbury and Judge W. H. Whiddon of Greensboro, have been named by Governor T. W. Elliott as members of the committee appointed by him to investigate the conduct of the Durham machine gun company in Graham.

More Recruits for the Navy

Ten men were accepted for service in the United States navy during the past week at the local naval recruiting station, declared Chief Quartermaster W. A. Wilson, recruiting officer at Charlotte.

The list includes: M. H. Reavis, G. A. Wasson, Gaston; J. H. Tarlton, J. P. Waddell, Concord; E. B. Limerick, Winston City; J. W. Wofford, Monroe; S. C. H. Mills, Monroeville; J. J. Thomas, J. C. Dease, Piedmont, and P. B. Long, Charlotte.

Jenkins Going to Antwerp

Washington.—John Wilmer Jenkins, formerly of North Carolina, now hispanic of the navy, under Secretary Daniels, is going to Antwerp for the Olympic games. He will be one of the interested observers and recorders of events.

Reward for Graham Kidnap

Governor Elliott has offered a reward of $100 for the arrest of the man who perpetrated the assault upon Mrs. A. A. Riddle in Graham or for evidence that will lead to the conviction of the criminal. The announcement of the reward was made after the Governor had conferred with Governor B. M. Galtis, who was here to report to the chief executive his observations of the trouble in the Alamance county area.

The solicitor declined to talk for publication, or to discuss the situation.

Suffragettes Open Headquarters

The North Carolina Equal Suffrage association is opening state headquarters in the Shepard building at Raleigh. Mrs. Jerome, Mrs. Wolf, of Goldsboro, and other ladies who are making the fight in the state for ratification will be in charge. Headquarters will be maintained until after the session of the special session of the legislature. Mrs. Jerome and others interested in the movement express a belief that their fight will be successful.

Funeral of Lieutenant Manning

Funeral services for Lieut. Frederick Manning, son of the attorney general who died in Indiana in France in the fall of 1918, were held at Christopher. There were 800 former servicemen present, most of them in uniform. The service followed a terrific storm, but the sun had come out and a large rainbow appeared directly over the church. Interment was in Oakwood cemetery.

The body was taken to the attorney general's home under military escort.

The Greatest Summer School

When the summer school at the University of North Carolina closes, outgoing trains from Chapel Hill will carry at least one of the 1,122 students to every county in the state except five which are hidden behind the Blue Ridge—the counties of Ashe, Graham, Mitchell, Swain, and Watauga. The Methodists and Baptists as usual are far in the lead.

Important Examinations Pending

Washington, (Special).—Director of the Census Sam L. Rogers announces subject in correction, that 154,197 acres of land in organized drainage enterprises have been reported in Bladen, Columbus, Cumberland, Harnett, New Hanover, Pender and Robeson counties, North Carolina.

Of this area $3,647 acres represent improved farm lands, $3,000 timber and timber land and $629 other improved land.

The cost of the organized drainage enterprise is placed at $46,400.

Important Examinations Pending

Washington, (Special).—The civil service commission announced several important examinations for jobs in the new civil service district, comprising Maryland, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Examinations will be held for clerks and carriers, male and female, salary of which at beginning is $1,400 per annum, July 21, at Durham, Edenton, Washington, Greenville and Greenfield. The examinations will be held in the room specially built for the purpose of the examination in the United States office of that government.

1—Soldiers and sailors parading at the Chester W. Chapin farm at Towns, N. Y., which has been donated as a convalescent camp for service men. 2—Thomas Fortune Ryan, who has gone to Europe supposedly to buy the French tobacco monopoly for an American syndicate. 3—American Olympic team marching in the review.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Bolsheviki Must Accept Miller's Terms if They Want to Negotiate Peace.

LUDENDORFF OFFERS ARMY

Will Provide a Million Germans to Fight Russia, on Conditions—Armistice for Poland—Villa Surrenders, Santa Rebels, in Mexico.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

The drive of peace is being treated roughly in Europe. Every time one nation puts up a nice perch for her to alight upon, some other nation shoots her away, shooting that she must sit on the perch or stay up in the air.

Premier Lloyd George thought he had found the way of peace with the Russian Bolsheviks and went in to Paris to tell Premier Millerand all about it and to get his endorsement. But Millerand had his own ideas, and the result was that the little Welshman hurried home, virtually admitting that the Frenchman's plan must prevail. Millerand declares that if the London conference proposed by the soviet government is held, peace with Poland must be the first subject discussed and that representatives of Poland and all other states belligerent in Poland must be invited to participate in the meeting. Another condition is that Baron General Wrangel shall not be delivered up to the Bolsheviks.

Millerand's best contribution to the safety of Poland, which he makes, must be constituted a buffer state to keep Bolsheviks out of Germany. He did not even mention the claim for recognition of the Russian debt to France, for the discussion did not get that far. He refused to sign the note to Moscow stating the conditions of the conference. So Lloyd George returned to London, presumed he was quite satisfied with the situation, and said the note would be forwarded to Russia as soon as it had been accepted.

Millerand's best contribution to the safety of Poland, which he makes, must be constituted a buffer state to keep Bolsheviks out of Germany. He did not even mention the claim for recognition of the Russian debt to France, for the discussion did not get that far. He refused to sign the note to Moscow stating the conditions of the conference. So Lloyd George returned to London, presumed he was quite satisfied with the situation, and said the note would be forwarded to Russia as soon as it had been accepted.

The French in Syria professed to find that King Faisal was instances in his submission, as they stormed and captured Damascus and ordered Faisal to leave the country. So far there has been no military opposition to this procedure, but it is conceivable that Great Britain will in some way help that Arab chieftain who gave them such valuable assistance in the capture of Palestine.

In Thrace the Greeks have been making great progress against the Turkish nationalists and their desperadoes fighting who occupied Adrianople, the headquarters of Jafar Taver, and captured that leader and his staff King Alexander himself entered the city and was warmly welcomed. The Greeks also took Kirk-Kilish and other strategic points, and it was announced that it would not be comparatively easy to clear the country of the nationalist bands.

Nowhere Poland is being overwhelmed, and if she is to stand, the form of aid and the angles from which it is to come remain undecided. Neither Great Britain nor Italy is in a position politically to aid Russia and Germany will not permit the allies to transport munitions of war through her territory nor to turn over to Poland the arms and ammunition she surrendered to her conquerors. In this Germany rests on the terms of the peace treaty. France along could send an army to the rescue of the Poles, and this she may do.

One other alternative is offered. General Ludendorff, the former German war chief, is said to have told the British chargé d'affaires at Berlin that he will raise an army of 1,000,000 men to fight the Bolsheviks if the allies will consent. But his conditions are that Russia be returned to Germany and that certain clauses of the treaty of Versailles be annulled, among them those dealing with Danzig. This would be a bitter pill for the allies to swallow, but it is in effect the prescription of Winston Churchill, the British war minister, who asserts that Germany alone can stop the forward march of Bolshevism, and thus to prevent war to do so would help the nations. Such a recovery probably is desired by those who would profit financially thereby, but not many others are deeply concerned in it.

Friday saw the beginning of the armistice between the Poles and the Soviet Russians and the start of negotiations for peace in the town of Brestovetski. Fighting was supposed to cease at that time, but it was continued to the last minute, the last skirmish capturing Brestovetski and forcing the Poles steadily back toward Warsaw. The Lithuanians captured the territory through which the Russians might pass, but a corps of Lithuanian troops joined the Bolshevik cavalry operating outward through Augustow and Suwalki and the combined forces were reported massing on the east Prussian frontier. The German Bolsheviks were concentrated at Insterburg to repel the invaders.

The diplomats of Europe were not especially hopeful last week that the conference at Brestovetski would bring about peace between the two warring nations and were awaiting the Russian armistice terms with trepidation. It was reported that Lenin favored moderate terms, while Trotsky wished them so oppressive and humiliating that the Poles would be forced to continue fighting or overthrow their government if the terms were accepted.

The press of Warsaw is especially skeptical concerning the intentions and good faith of the Soviet Russians, expressing the belief that the latter do not want peace.

Poland is fully aware that negotiations may be broken off at any minute and that while they last, soviet Russia will make all efforts to cause an outbreak of insurrection and revolution in Poland. The Gazeta Warszawska declares, "Therefore Poland must, in order to safeguard an honorable peace, gather all her patriotic spirit and energy."

The Russian patriot Breslow, now in Warsaw, is quoted by the Curier Polony as saying:

"I do not believe peace will be made between Poland and soviet Russia. The soviet regime needs a temporary rest and it will sign an armistice. If it signs peace it will mean that the soviet rule hopes through propaganda to establish a soviet government in Poland."

The French in Syria professed to find that King Faisal was instances in his submission, as they stormed and captured Damascus and ordered Faisal to leave the country. So far there has been no military opposition to this procedure, but it is conceivable that Great Britain will in some way help that Arab chieftain who gave them such valuable assistance in the capture of Palestine.

In Thrace the Greeks have been making great progress against the Turkish nationalists and their desperadoes fighting who occupied Adrianople, the headquarters of Jafar Taver, and captured that leader and his staff King Alexander himself entered the city and was warmly welcomed. The Greeks also took Kirk-Kilish and other strategic points, and it was announced that it would not be comparatively easy to clear the country of the nationalist bands.

Nowhere Poland is being overwhelmed, and if she is to stand, the form of aid and the angles from which it is to come remain undecided. Neither Great Britain nor Italy is in a position politically to aid Russia and Germany will not permit the allies to transport munitions of war through her territory nor to turn over to Poland the arms and ammunition she surrendered to her conquerors. In this Germany rests on the terms of the peace treaty. France along could send an army to the rescue of the Poles, and this she may do.

One other alternative is offered. General Ludendorff, the former German war chief, is said to have told the British chargé d'affaires at Berlin that he will raise an army of 1,000,000 men to fight the Bolsheviks if the allies will consent. But his conditions are that Russia be returned to Germany and that certain clauses of the treaty of Versailles be annulled, among them those dealing with Danzig. This would be a bitter pill for the allies to swallow, but it is in effect the prescription of Winston Churchill, the British war minister, who asserts that Germany alone can stop the forward march of Bolshevism, and thus to prevent war to do so would help the nations. Such a recovery probably is desired by those who would profit financially thereby, but not many others are deeply concerned in it.

Friday saw the beginning of the armistice between the Poles and the Soviet Russians and the start of negotiations for peace in the town of Brestovetski. Fighting was supposed to cease at that time, but it was continued to the last minute, the last skirmish capturing Brestovetski and forcing the Poles steadily back toward Warsaw. The Lithuanians captured the town very smarck, because of telephone that brought news in parts of the insipid. The visitors were just to time for the raising of a red flag by angry farm tenants near Manila, whose rent has been increased six times. This a small incident in itself, shows that Filipinos, like the rest of the world, are full of social unrest. After ten days in the Philippines, the party will be taken to China under the escort of Doctor Betancourt, former American minister to China and now the Chinese minister to the Philippines.

The congressmen juketing party that has gone to the orient arrived at Manila very smarck, because of telephone that brought news in parts of the insipid. The visitors were just to time for the raising of a red flag by angry farm tenants near Manila, whose rent has been increased six times. This a small incident in itself, shows that Filipinos, like the rest of the world, are full of social unrest. After ten days in the Philippines, the party will be taken to China under the escort of Doctor Betancourt, former American minister to China and now the Chinese minister to the Philippines.

The congressmen juketing party that has gone to the orient arrived at Manila very smarck, because of telephone that brought news in parts of the insipid. The visitors were just to time for the raising of a red flag by angry farm tenants near Manila, whose rent has been increased six times. This a small incident in itself, shows that Filipinos, like the rest of the world, are full of social unrest. After ten days in the Philippines, the party will be taken to China under the escort of Doctor Betancourt, former American minister to China and now the Chinese minister to the Philippines.

The congressmen juketing party that has gone to the orient arrived at Manila very smarck, because of telephone that brought news in parts of the insipid. The visitors were just to time for the raising of a red flag by angry farm tenants near Manila, whose rent has been increased six times. This a small incident in itself, shows that Filipinos, like the rest of the world, are full of social unrest. After ten days in the Philippines, the party will be taken to China under the escort of Doctor Betancourt, former American minister to China and now the Chinese minister to the Philippines.

The congressmen juketing party that has gone to the orient arrived at Manila very smarck, because of telephone that brought news in parts of the insipid. The visitors were just to time for the raising of a red flag by angry farm tenants near Manila, whose rent has been increased six times. This a small incident in itself, shows that Filipinos, like the rest of the world, are full of social unrest. After ten days in the Philippines, the party will be taken to China under the escort of Doctor Betancourt, former American minister to China and now the Chinese minister to the Philippines.

The congressmen juketing party that has gone to the orient arrived at Manila very smarck, because of telephone that brought news in parts of the insipid. The visitors were just to time for the raising of a red flag by angry farm tenants near Manila, whose rent has been increased six times. This a small incident in itself, shows that Filipinos, like the rest of the world, are full of social unrest. After ten days in the Philippines, the party will be taken to China under the escort of Doctor Betancourt, former American minister to China and now the Chinese minister to the Philippines.