Customs Change In Medicine, Too

Whole Trend of Modern Medical Practice Is Away From Needless "Dosing"

Back in the old "horse and buggy" days, it was the custom to give large doses of internal medicines for colds and almost every human ailment. Then Lunsford Richardson, a North Carolina pharmacist, originated Vicks VapoRub—the better method of treating colds externally.

From the very first, Vicks has been appreciated, especially by mothers of young children, because it checks colds without the risk of upsetting delicate stomachs. Just rubbed on, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice or plaster, and, at the same time, it gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages.

Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing," and millions of families in more than 60 countries use Vicks for all cold troubles. Ever-increasing demand for this better method of treating colds is shown in the familiar Vicks slogan. Made famous when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly"—later raised to "21 Million"—there are now "Over 28 Million Jars Used Yearly."
