

LAST RITES HELD FOR C. W. ROGERS

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon from the First Baptist Church for Mr. C. W. Rogers, 48, who passed away at his home on Bridge street late Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Rogers had been ill for the past several years, suffering from rheumatism and a complication of diseases.

He was held in high regard by his fellow townsmen and had been in the employ of the Chatham Manufacturing Company for the past thirty years, up to the time of his illness. He was also a member of the Masonic Order, and was Master of the Elkin Lodge, a Junior, Odd Fellow and Woodmen of America.

Surviving are his wife, who is Mrs. Blanche Norman, his mother, three brothers, C. F., A. C., and R. P. Rogers and one sister, Mrs. Rudolph Foreman.

YOUTHS ARRAIGNED IN "HIJACKING" CASE

Hugh Creed was bound over to Federal Court at Winston-Salem under a $500.00 bond, before U. S. Commissioner Mackie at Yadkinville last week-end for his part in the "hijacking" of forty-five gallons of liquor from Mack Walls, of Wilkes county. Ray Johnson, also implicated in the affair has not yet been taken and Roscoe Spencer, also alleged to have been implicated was released when it could not be shown that he was present when the alleged "hijacking" was done. The men were represented by attorneys Harry Barker and Frank H. Whitaker of this city.

It will be recalled that the trio was charged with going to Walls' home and purchasing 45 gallons of liquor, then driving away without having paid for it. Wall in the meantime was arrested by federal agents on a liquor charge and, after he had given bond, came here and had the men arrested. The case was slated for the Elkin Recorder's court but it was shown the local court had no jurisdiction as the alleged "hijacking" occurred in Wilkes and the whiskey was not brought to Elkin.

The Way of Life

FIGHTERS

The officers of a great chain of stores were sitting at lunch, and making good progress with their business discussion when somebody mentioned a forthcoming prize fight.

Instantly all business conversation ceased; every man leaned forward eagerly to present his view on the more engrossing subject.

On another occasion I stopped at the offices of J. P. Morgan and Company to see one of the partners. His secretary apologized. "You will have to wait a few minutes," he said. "They will be down from lunch a little late today. They are entertaining Gene Tunney."

One could write several different kinds of comments on these incidents.

One might, if piously inclined, view with alarm the absorption of the best business minds in a low and brutal form of sport.

One might point out the interesting fact that at the top of 11 winners meet. Be the best in your line be it prize-fighting, motion-picture acting or preaching, and you may lunch with Mr. Morgan. "Seest thou a man diligent" (a top notcher) "in his business? He shall stand before kings."

I prefer, however, to point a prize-fights and entertain champions because all the world loves a fighter.

People sometimes ask: "Why do the richest men in the world keep on working? Why don't they take their millions and retire?"

Because the decision to keep on working is not a decision of the intellect. It lies deeper than that. Man was made for struggle. He was cast by Providence into a hard, unfriendly universe. Climate was his enemy, and heat and cold of the plow, and beaten it would give him no food until he scarred its face with the under-to helplessness with the barrage of the harrow. "Fight, and you shall live," says Nature. "Quit and no matter how well you have surrounded yourself with comfort you will soften and die."

I once made a visit with the late George W. Perkins to a foreign city. Nature has so favored it that people can live with very little effort and be in the sunshine all the year round.

"How do you like this city?" I asked him.

He answered, "It's full of men who have run away from the game."

MRS. F. A. LINEBERRY WINS CONTEST PRIZE

Mrs. F. A. Lineberry won the $5 in Gold given by Martin's Inc., given as a prize for the one guessing the nearest of the correct number of lots sold in Arlington Heights in the past year. Her guess was 215 and the right number was 212. The rule of the contest was to guess how many lots were sold in Arlington Heights in the past year, and to tell how many houses had been built in the past five years, also predict how many houses would be built in the next four or five years. Also the houses had nothing to do with winning the prize, many who investigated learned that there were many more houses than they had ever dreamed.

In the past five years there have been 31 new homes built there, and about fifteen under construction at this time, and in addition to that there are eight lots graded but it could not be learned if the building was to start right away or not.

The average guessing on how many new homes would be built there in the next five years was 150, it seems that this is a very good guess. Some ran up as high as 500 while there were some as low as 100.

Arlington Heights is one of the most beautiful places to just outside of Jonesville and at the rate these lots are being sold anyone who wants to build in Arlington had better be looking for their home site for they will all be picked over before so very much longer.

OLD EASTER FLOWERS PATCHWORK DESIGNS OF EARLY AMERICAN HOUSEWIVES SHOWN IN INTERESTING BOOK

"It is not the bustle and rush of our modern cities," says Ruth E. Finley, author of "Old Patchwork Quilts and Women Who Made Them," published by the J. B. Lippincott Co., of Philadelphia, "that the best of our American traditions are preserved. It is in the small town, the cross road village, the isolated farm, plantation or ranch-house that first-hand knowledge of our country's lore is still cherished. And it was there among the women whose mothers and grandmothers before them had made quilts, that I sought and found the historical data for my book."

"Old Patchwork Quilts is a complete history of quilt-making in America, together with full instructions for carrying on the art. There are 96 full-page illustrations of old quilts and 100 diagrams of block patterns. All the old favorites are there—"Fox and Geese," "Irish Chain," "Rose of Sharon," "Hand of Friendship," and dozens more.

But, in addition to the patterns themselves and their quaint and interesting names that have been handed down from mother to daughter generation after generation, Mrs. Finley has searched out the reasons for these names and their historical significance.

Thus, while such quilts as "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too," commemorating the presidential campaign of William Henry Harrison, testify to women's interest in politics in the eighteenth century, the "Easter Lily," quilt here pictured and many others shown in "Old Patchwork Quilts" such as "Cross Upon Cross," "Crown of Thorns" and "Crowned Cross," are indicative of the loyalty of American women to the Pilgrim's initial slogan—"freedom to worship God."

"The early American," says Mrs. Finley in her book, "was religiously minded. . . . The Bible read not only as the mainstay of a meager library but as a guide to daily living left its phraseology on the common tongue. . . . All these characteristics are reflected in quilt names.

It is a historical fact that long before pioneer America made a festival of Christmas, Easter was celebrated in her churches. And it is interesting to note that for every quilt pattern named for Christmas—and many are shown in "Old Patchwork Quilts" such as the "Christmas Tree," and "Star in the East"—there are two named in honor of Easter.

AUTO BELONGING TO DR. PARKS STOLEN

A Chevrolet coupe belonging to Dr. Hugh Parks, was stolen while it was parked in front of the Tom Thumb golf course near the river bridge Tuesday night about 9 o'clock and no trace of the thief or thieves has been found.

Dr. Parks left his car parked near the curb and had gone to the course for a few moments and found upon his return that the auto was missing.

SOCIETY

HONOR D. H. MORRISON ON HIS BIRTHDAY

Honoring her husband on the occasion of his birthday, Mrs. D. H. Morrison entertained at a surprise dinner at their home at Klondike Farm Wednesday evening. The home was charming in its decoration of jonquils and spirea, and a handsome cake made a pretty centerpiece for the handsomely appointed table.

Covers were laid for Messrs. Alex Chatham, Avery Neaves, W. W. Whitaker, Worth Gray, R. L. Church, Charlie Jackson, Earl Roseberry and the honor guest.

MISS EADS AND LINEBERRY ENTERTAIN O. B. H. CLUB

Misses Ruth Eads and Bertelle Lineberry were hostesses to the members of the O. B. H. Club and several additional guests at the home of Miss Lineberry Thursday evening. The guests were invited for seven o'clock and a handsomely appointed dinner was served buffet style. Misses Bettie Allen and Blanche Dixon assisted the hostesses in serving. The lovely home was decorated throughout with jonquils and japaonia, making a pretty setting for the party.

The guests were: Miss Bettie Allen, Miss Blanche Dixon, Miss Artelee Puit, Miss Elizabeth Anderson, Miss Mary Hendren, Miss Gertrude Michael, Miss Lollie Payne, Miss Ola Angell, Miss Marie Baird, Mrs. Fletcher Harris, Miss Effie Crater, Miss Maude Greenwood, Miss Sadie Franklin, Miss Ophelia Paul, Mrs. I. R. Johnson, Mrs. George Royall and Mrs. J. R. Johnson.

After dinner the evening was spent informally in conversation.

HONOR DOROTHY COLHARD ON ELEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Miss Dorothy Colhard celebrated her eleventh birthday with a pretty party at her home on Church street Thursday afternoon. The lovely home was decorated with a color scheme of yellow and white, jonquils and narcissi being used throughout. Hearts were played at four tables and prizes were awarded to Miss Nancy Click for high score and to Miss Dorothy Chappell for low score.

MISS GRACE SNOW IS BRIDGE CLUB HOSTESS

Miss Grace Snow was hostess to her bridge club at her home on Circle Court Monday evening. Two tables were made up for play in a charming setting of spring flowers. Tulips and apple blossoms were used in the decorations and the place cards, favors and refreshments suggested the Easter season. After several interesting progressions, scores were counted and high score was awarded Miss Ola Church and Mrs. Edwin Harris received consolation.

Those playing were: Miss Ola Church, Miss Norma Church, Miss Kathleen Bailey, Mrs. Edwin Harris, Mrs. Ruth Byrd Crater and Mrs. Frank Whitaker.

JONESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR CLASS ENTERTAINED

The members of the senior class together with the members of the school faculty were delightfully entertained on Thursday evening by Misses Elizabeth Turner and Clara Bell at the home of the former on Circle Court.

The home was beautifully decorated in pink apple blossoms, peach almond and white spirea, carrying out the class colors of pink and white, and making a pretty setting for the various games played. Place cards were tiny white chicks and rabbits bearing the card in pink blossoms.

There was much merriment when each senior was presented a gift characteristic of his or her "superlative."

In the draw for prizes, Miss Ruby Steeleman was the lucky teacher receiving a dainty guest towel, Mildred Reece and Thompson Greenwood the lucky seniors receiving respectively, a bottle of pink bath salts and a bill folder. Later in the evening a course of refreshments consisting of a salad course followed by ices again carrying out the color scheme of pink and white was served to the following:

Members of the class: Misses Mae Triplett, Fannie Nicholson, Eloise Greenwood, Gladys Chapman, Mildred Reece and Mrs. Carol Baker and Messrs. Thompson Greenwood, Aml Eller and Waymouth Vestal. Members of the faculty, Misses Ruby Steeleman, Beulah Flemming, Kate Fletcher, Mollie Burrus, Mrs. Z. D. Greenwood, Mrs. A. D. Stout and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunt.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS DR. MADDRY AT BAPTIST CHURCH

A large audience filled the Baptist church last Sunday morning heard a powerful sermon preached by Dr. Charles E. Maddry, of Raleigh, secretary of the General Board of Missions. The speaker, preached a missionary sermon was one of the ablest ever heard. The morning service featured the dedication of four memorial windows to Mrs. E. C. Bates, Mrs. J. H. Tharpe, Mrs. J. H. Allred and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bray. The latter window was the gift of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Bray on their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

The evening services at the church were devoted entirely to music featuring the Easter season and was as follows:

Precessional: "The Old Rugged Cross," the choir; Doxology: "Coronation Hymn," congregation; Invocation; Response: "Softly Now the Light of Day," choir; Anthem: "Behold What Manner of Love," choir; Quartet "Day is Dying in the West," Mrs. Maguire, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Nor-

MEMORIAL WINDOWS DEDICATED; MUSICAL PROGRAM GIVEN AT NIGHT

The evening services at the church were devoted entirely to music featuring the Easter season and was as follows:

Precessional: "The Old Rugged Cross," the choir; Doxology: "Coronation Hymn," congregation; Invocation; Response: "Softly Now the Light of Day," choir; Anthem: "Behold What Manner of Love," choir; Quartet "Day is Dying in the West," Mrs. Maguire, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Norman and Mrs. Whisenhunt; Day is Over," choir. Choir, Soprano: Mrs. J. H. Beeson, Mrs. F. M. Norman, Miss Lee May Lowery, Miss Willie duet: "Evening Dreams," Miss Bertelle Lineberry and Mrs. Whisenhunt; Male chorus: "Hallelujah for the Cross," Messrs. Alexander, Martin, Chappell, Cockerham, Burgess, Myers, Lowery, Lawrence, R. M. Bates, C. T. Walker and Lonnie Martin; Offertory duet: "Aria from Lucrezia Borgia," Virginia Lawrence and Mrs. Whisenhunt; Quartet: "The Savouir Calling," Ale-under Bates Martin Myers; Anthem: "The Voice of Jesus," choir; Benediction: Recessional: "Now the L. C. Couch.

WITH WHEELERS CURCUS HERE APRIL 22

WITH WHEELERS CURCUS HERE APRIL 22

For the Easter Promenade

THE fastidious woman isn't changing her ideals with her skirt length. She favored Humming Bird Hosiery when all their fineness and richness of color were flaunted full length before the world. She favors them still in their newer role of semi-underthings—daintily fine, smartly colorful as ever.

Tiny stitches, firmly knit, not only create a sheer, even fabric, but also account to a large extent for the remarkable wearing quality of Humming Bird Hosiery.

Humming Bird Full Fashioned Hosiery

New Spring shades, developed exclusively for Humming Bird by Mme. Julie Bolegard, Paris stylist and color specialist, now on display.

Sydnor - Spainhour
DEPARTMENT STORE
Elkin, N. C.

For the Easter Promenade

In every style $4.95 to $8.50

FOOTWEAR is here that will take its place at the head of the Easter fashion parade. The well dressed woman will select them, knowing her choice will combine youthfulness and subtle sophistication. She, too, will appreciate the fact that the prices here are outstandingly moderate.

Sydnor-Spainhour Co.
Elkin's Most Modern Dept. Store
ELKIN N. C.