Farmers' Celebration Here On September 26 h

BIG GET-TOGETHER MEETING IS TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Kiwanis Club Is Sponsoring the Event; Many Thousands Are Expected

PROMINENT SPEAKERS

A gala day is just ahead! Friday, September 26th, will be day long to be remembered by the farmers throughout this section who come to Elkin for the big get-together meeting being sponsored by the Elkin Kiwanis club and other public spirited citizens of the town.

Just how many farmers and their wives, sons and daughters will avail themselves of the opportunity to "take in" the program now be ing mapped out is uncertain, but it is safe to say that many thousands will be here. Among those who will he heard here in addresses to the farmers is Governor O. Max Gardner if plans materialize, and the governor is not already "dated" for that particular day. And, in addition, speakers from several state depart ments are expected to be here and talk to the farmers on the issues of the day as it pertains to more successful farming and better farm

McNeer's Warehouse will be used for the men's part of the program, while the Liberty Warehouse will take care of the ladies, who are to be addressed by prominent women speakers who will touch on the subjects of home canning, poultry raising, and other important things in connection with more profits for the farm and a "year-'round" income for the family.

Farmers and their families are invited to come and spend the day. A big barbecue dinner will be served.

This get-together celebration is planned solely for the purpose of co-operating with the farmers of the adjacent territory, and is an expression of friendliness that Elkin people wish to extend them through the medium of a celebration, where folks may touch elbows with their neighbors and become better acquainted. Every farmer and his famterritory is invited and urged to atfamiliar with farm life and are intions throughout this section. There is nothing "under cover" about it. It's simply a co-operative movement sponsored by the local Kiwanis club, whose motto is "We Build." And they believe this get-together meeting will build friendship and cooperation for a more prosperous community through improved prosperity on the farms and better farm methods, including a program of diversified farming which the speakers will doubtless stress.

One hundred hens on every farm would work wonders if properly managed. And every farm should tion. have a sufficient number of hogs for the family meat supply—and some to sell. Pasture lands for the cows and sheep should be provided. Hay

Susnended Two Years; Also Fined $10 and Costs; Whiskey Case

PROMISES TO BE GOOD

Paul Hemric, 19 year old white man, pleaded guilty to poss of whiskey when arraigned before Judge Harry H. Barker, in Record er's Court Tuesday morning. Mallie-Owens, companion of Hemric at the time of the alleged whiskey possesion, testified that the two drank from the bottle which Hemric had purchased. After questioning the defendant, who promised to be good and leave whiskey alone, Judge Barker put a 60-day suspended sentence upon him and added a fine of $10 d costs Hemric said he had not en indulging in whiskey drinking for the past two months and promised hereafter to leave it alone.

GETTING READY FOR TOBACCO MARKET OPENING HERE WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1

week their opening on Wednesday, October 1st, for the sale of leaf toacco in Elkin,

These two large warehouses are ample in size to take care of a tremendous volume of tobacco, and are well lighted by skylights.

Much time and expense has been experienced by the operators of the warehoues in seeing that a full force of buyers were here for the season, and every company of importance has been communicated with, and favorable response has been given, which is very encouraging indeed.

The warehouses, which are used for storage purposes when not used for tobacco sales, are being cleaned

The management of the two local out and put in first-class condition obacco warehouses announce this and ere the day of the opening they will be ready to accommodate the farmers from a wide area of territory who have assured the warhousemen that they' would patronize the Elkin market.

A fortunate part of the tobacco warehouse situation here is the fact that thoroughly competent men are in charge-men whom the farmers have confidence in as being in sympathy with them and willing to work hard to make tobacco bring the highest dollar possible, and this, doubtless, is, why such a large number have pledged their support to the local market.

Farmers who are interested in a good market should read the messages of the local management, and try the Elkin market and the men behind the sales. They pledge their utmost in return through

TWO STORIES TO BE ADDED TO ITS PLANT FOR CURTIS BURCH

Chatham Mfg. Co., at Winston-Salem, To Begin Work At Early Date

NEEDED FOR MACHINES

The Chatham Manufacturing Co. of Winston-Salem, will immediately begin the addition of two stories to their plant, according to announcement of company officials. The two stories to be added will be $1x52

The work is estimated to cost beween $10,000 and $12,000. does not include the cost of additionat machinery which will be placed in the building after completion. The structure will be of brick with fireproof roof, and elevators will be stalled to serve all floors.

Crowded facilities in the manufac turing department necesitated the enlargement of the present building and the early need for the additional room will cause the work to be completed rapidly.

The need for greater manufacturing space tends to cast an optimistic ily who live within Elkin's trading view on the business situation, which is daily becoming more encouraging tend, and hear the suggestions of as reports are received from various several prominent speakers who are sections of the country noting a general improvement in most all lines.

Pair Knucks Concealed In Hip Pocket Wrapped In a Handkerchief

APPEAL TAKEN IN CASE

Curtis Burch, who has several times appeared in the local Recorder's court on charges of whiskey manipulations and immoral conduct, was given a four months jail sentence in Judge Harry H. Barker's court Tuesday morning, in office during the next term. after hearing evidence produced to Elkin Barber Shop.

The knucks, according to a witness, came from the hip pocket and was wrapped in a handkerchief. Judge Barker, in view of the past record of the defendant, meted out the jail sentence, which is not to run concurrent with a suspended sentence already over Burch's head. Notice of appeal was made, and bond fixed at $500. Failing to raise the required bond, young Burch was remanded to Dobson jail shortly after adjournment of court.

Upon arriving there, Burch decided to withdraw his appeal and notified his attorney to this effect. He now serve the two additional ing the total to six months. Abduction Case.

The case against the same defendant, charged with abduction, continued, it being alleged that young Mrs. Curtis Burch was a material witness and was being hidden to prevent her appearing in the case. It was brought out by the father of the young 14-year-old girl that she was in school, but he refused to divulge the information so eagerly sought as to "where," and added further that "there isn't enough lawyers in this court to make me tell." This evidence was produced in the case against Burch for carrying the knucks, which was claimed by the defendant's attorney as a case maliciously made because of the elopement of the young daughter of Mr. Owen Reece, who was married to Burch last week, in South Carolina. In view of possible evidence being produced to interest the South Carolina authorities, the abduction case was continued for two weeks to allow sufficient time for a thorough investigation before going to trial.

This case also involves Fletch Walls, local taxi driver, who is alleged to have driven to the high school building last Friday to get the girl, who was to meet Burch and then proceed to South Carolina, which they did. It is said that the town. A note left by the young Reece girl, aged 14 years, stated pared to the cost of the previous that they were going to Virginia, year. but local police discounted the statement and made a vigorous search by telephone in the opposite direction. The South Carolina town in which the license was procured was communicated with just 45 minutes after the license had been issued, and the pair were on the return journey before being apprehended. DOBSON SATURDAY

Four Elkin Citizens On Ticket Selected By the Meeting

WAS WELL ATTENDED

The Republicans of Surry county neld their convention at Dobson last Saturday and selected a full ticket which will be submitted to the voters in the November election.

While there was a large attendance the meeting proved to be, most harmonious affair, and every nominee was named by acclamation.

The meeting was featured by sev eral speeches delivered by prominent men who are seeking office in the present race. J. F. Reynolds, Republican candidate for Congress and Eugene Hester, candidate Solicitor, addressed the convention prior to the business session. These speeches proved to be outstanding features of the convention.

The work of naming the ticket proved to be an easy task, and every name accepted was by acclamation The list selected follows:

For representative, Frank H. Whitaker, of Elkin; for sheriff, Ab bie M. Smith, of Mt. Airy; for Clerk S. O. Maguire, of Elkin; for Regis ter of Deeds, T. M. Marsh, loam; for surveyor, E. L. Wolfe, of Bryan; for coroner, Lee Snow, of Elkin; for commissioners, J. G. Ray of Elkin, Sam W. Fulp, of Pilot Mountain, and Will Jackson, of Mt. Airy.

Four of the gentlemen comprising the ticket are Elkin men, as will be seen from the above list, and their friends are hopeful of seeing them

C. W. Williams, the effect that Burch had displayed throughout the county, and former a pair of brass knucks in the Hotel head of Mountain Park Institute, spoke at length with a little possible surprise to his listeners, when he stated that a negro from Gary, Ind., was in the state attempting to organize the colored voters as fol-lowers of J. W. Bailey, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, who is opposed by George M. Pritchard, of Asheville. It is believed the effort to line up the negro vote against Mr. Pritchard came about through Mr. Pritchard's refusal to work in adjoining office to Congressman Oscar DePriest, negro, of Chicago. Mr. Williams praised be given the privilege of hearing no distant date this shorter route the remarks of Mr. Hester who came him will be received with interest will be available to the public. Mr. Williams praised out openly for prohibition. Mr. Hester upheld the Republican administration, and strongly delended President Hoover, who he said had been accused of the present depression, the Wall street crash, and, he added, the recent drouth. He also stated that it was his opinion that if William Jennings Bryan lived today, he would not follow the pres ent Democratic national leadership

This was followed by Mr. Rey nolds' speech, in which he interested his Republican followers intensely reciting much history of the party in a most favorable manner.

Mr. Trent Markrader, county countaint, spoke words of high praise for Messrs. Lindsay, Somers and Pell, retiring county commissioners, and gave them due credit for economically handling the funds of the county, and in lowering the tax rate. He pointed to the sum of $39,000 which the county has saved by slicing the school budget. censored former Democratic officials, charging extravagance, after finding a note for $25,000 held by New York brokers at a high rate of interest. The money was presumably used on the school building at "The Rock," near Mount Airy Harkrader also presented figures indicating a saving of $1,237. 53 in operating the county home during the past 12 months as com-

A lively contest is expected to b forthcoming in November, and each party will no doubt use every available defense in its endeavor to put over its respective ticket and handle the affairs of the county for the next two years.

Mrs. George Fulton and children, George Jr., Jean and Catherine, of Walnut Cove, spent Friday here, the guests of Mrs. Fulton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Snow, at their home on Gwyn Avenue.

REPUBLICANS MET AT | THURMOND CHATHAM IS NEW PRESIDENT OF NORTH CAROLINA DAIRY ASSOCIATION

Association held in Greensboro last Friday, Thurmond Chatham, of Winston-Salem and Elkin, was electpresident for the ensuing year.

The meeting, held at the Central Carolina Fair Grounds, was featured by addresses by Governor O. Max Gardner, Dr. Clarence Poe, president of the association and editor of The Progressive Farmer; O. E. Reed, of Washington, chief of the Bureau of Dairy Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture, and Dr. D. W. Daniel, of Clemson College. Governor Gardner stated that "If we can make North Carolina dairy- present conditions. minded, we can look forward tochecking in a reasonable time the stream of gold that flows annually from cheap cotton and cheap tobacco grown in this state to foreign markets for canned milk, creamery he owns.

At the annual meeting of the butter and Wisconsin cheese." The North Carolina State Dairyman's Governor stressed the importance of increasing the dairy herd and decreasing cotton and tobacco crops as the solution to putting the farmer on his feet. He declared that for every million dollars' worth of crops produced, there should be another million dollars' worth of animal crops to offset it.

Approximately 2000 were in attendance at this annual meeting of the Dairy Association, and a lasting impression was made upon the minds of the large assemblage who had gathered to express their keen interest in animal crops, and to hear suggestions for the improvement of

Mr. Chatnam, the newly elected president, is very much interested in the work of the association, and has made splendid progress through experiments on Klondike Farm, which

BAILEY TO SPEAK HERE ON SEPT. 24

The School Auditorium At 8 o'Clock

BIG CROWD EXPECTED FOUR ROUTES LOCATED

Word has just been received from official channels stating that Hon. Josiah William Bailey, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, will fill an appointment here on Wednesday, September 24, at o'clock.

The large auditorium of the school building is expected to be packed with people, and many will doubtless come here from distant points to avail themselves of the opportunity to hear Mr. Bailey.

The fact that this is the last appointment to be filled in Surry counby the democratic candidate for the Senate, will add considerably, it is believed, to the number who will attend, and standing room may go at a premium.

Mr. Bailey had promised to speak in Elkin, but had not been able to name a date until now, and the announcement that our citizens are to of road, and it is believed that at men who are qualified for the posi-

HIGHWAY SURVEY NEARLY FINISHED

Will Address Citizens In Surveyors Reach Point Near City on Elkin Route To Winston

Surveyors are nearing the end of their task of locating the proposed highway from Elkin to Winston-Salem by way of Boonville, Bend and Donnaha. Four routes have been surveyed leading into Elkin, three of them connecting with route 26, in Yadkin county, and the fourth coming in on the north side of the er at a point about two or thre miles east of town. If the latter route should be decided upon there would be an advantage of two or three miles of road already constructed. This would also be the case if the most southernly route in Yadkin was chosen, when a few miles of route 26 would be used. Another survey brings the road into the city at a point near the river bridge.

The work of the surveyors is indeed an encouraging step toward the construction of this important link

Another link of no less importtowns of Ronda and Roaring River. The completion of this road, which is anticipated in the near future, would enable our Wilkes county friends to route themselves by way of Elkin and make the trip in shortof here. Enthusiastic citizens all along the route are confident that Commissioner Hanes will look favorably upon the construction of this much needed piece of road bed, and to which many feel a real need from the point of service as well as being entitled to the use of better roads than at present, some of which are almost impassable at times.

Mrs. F. D. Stockton and daughter, Miss Elizabeth, of Greensboro, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Bergman, Jr., at their home on Bridge street. Mrs: Stockton is Mrs. Bergman's mother.
