HARVEY LAWRENCE DIES IN THE CHAIR

Young Negro Is Electrocut'd For Attack On Farmer and His 35-Year-Old Wife

The State of North Carolina squared its books of the account charged against Harvey Lawrence, 17, when the young negro went to the electric chair last Friday.

Lawrence, who was 17 years old, forcibly entered the home of Frank Bailey, who is 75 years old and a semi-invalid, and attacked Bailey's wife, shooting her twice, broke her nose and smashed her teeth. Bailey finally secured a weapon and drove the negro away. Lawrence was the third to die in the chair for this particular offense.

Governor O. Max Gardner declined to interfere with the sentence of the death penalty, although his counsel pleaded for the commutation of his sentence to that of life imprisonment on the grounds that Lawrence was drunk at the time of the attack.

Walking to the electric chair with Lawrence were three negro ministers. Seated in the death chair, he confessed to his guilt, and asked that those within his hearing pray for him.

Head and Back Quit Hurting

"A few years ago, I found that I was very weak and nothing I ate seemed to give me any strength," writes Mrs. R. B. Douglas, 704 South Congress St., Jackson, Miss.

"I suffered intense pain in my head and back. At times I would have to hold to something to steady myself, so as to do my little work. I was worried about my condition."

"My mother told me that I should take Cardui. After taking two bottles, I felt stronger, but I kept on taking it until my head and back quit hurting. I took about six bottles in all, and have never quit praising Cardui."
