Candidates Stage Last Minute Fight For Votes As Election Day Nears

HOOVER PLANNING SWING INTO WEST FOR MAJOR TALKS

Observers Say Roosevelt Will Carry New York

VOTES WILL TELL

With the election only a few days off, national, state and county candidates for public office are bringing their campaign to a whirlwind finish in the hopes that heated oratory may yet turn the tide one way or another and result in victory at the polls Tuesday.

In the national race, President Hoover has approved plans for another campaign dash into electoral-ly important sections of the middle west, a journey which he may extend into an 11th hour transcontinental swing. A special train carrying him and Mrs. Hoover will leave Washington this afternoon with six brief addresses scheduled for Indiana and Illinois before he delivers a major speech at Springfield Friday afternoon.

Those who journeyed to New York with the president's party for his major speech there Monday night, agree that reception of Mr. Hoover was conducted on a mammoth scale, that the arrangements and the stage setting were impressive; but some of those taking a detached view of the situation there are persuaded that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt

GLASS ASSAILS HOOVER
Washington, Nov. 1.—The day was featured chiefly by the return of President Hoover from New York, to begin preparations for another direct appeal for support in states like Illinois, Missouri and Minnesota and a very carefully prepared address by Senator Carter Glass, who was searchingly critical, reiterated his disbelief that the country's financial structure was at any time seriously mentioned, questioned the claims of the Republicans that the rehabilitation program of the President had done much for the country and said in effect the President had done some socialistic adventuring which might have proved dangerous had it not been for the restraining influence of the Democrats in Congress.

JOBS TO BE GIVEN LOCAL UNEMPLOYED W. M. ALLEN STATES

Will Be Paid In Food And Other Necessities

MUST SEE CHURCH

W. M. Allen, chairman of the local Associated Charities, announced Tuesday that he has been authorized to give jobs to as many of Elkin's unemployed who may be needed to engage in the work of beautifying the local cemetery, school grounds and other public work, provided those taking the jobs are content to accept as payment clothing and food.

Mr. Allen stated that those applying for work should see Chief of Police W. G. Church. When their jobs have been completed, they will be given orders on local stores for food or clothing, no money to enter the transaction between worker and the associated charities. The bills for such food and clothing as may be paid out will be sent to the county treasurer, where they will be paid out of Surry county's allotment of funds received from the federal government.

This offer is limited strictly to unemployed citizens living within the Elkin district, the entire county having been divided up into districts to which the funds have been allotted. Those living outside the Elkin district should see the relief officers of their own districts for aid, while those in adjacent counties should seek aid from within their own county, as similar funds for relief have been provided in all the counties.

The rate at which those employed will be paid has been fixed at 12 1-2 cents per hour for eight hours, or one dollar per day.

NEWELL MAKES TALK AT LYRIC THEATRE

Republican Senate Nominee Assails the Democratic Party

Jake F. Newell, Republican senatorial nominee, spoke to the voters of Surry County at the Lyric Theatre here Wednesday afternoon. He featured his address with an attack on the leadership of the Democratic party of the nation.

Mr. Newell paramounted the prohibition issue, he telling his hearers that he was standing squarely on the bone-dry plank of the state Republican platform. This plank pledges the party in this state to retention of the eighteenth amendment, the Volstead act and all other anti-liquor legislation.

"I am appealing to dry Democrats to help me out in this fight," Mr. Newell said. "While thousands of the rank and file of the Democratic party are supporting me and will vote for me, I am still listening for the voice of some modern Democrat. They used to be so dry, and now I can't hear them at all, and I am about persuaded that the lure of possible victory and the hope of political reward has led them astray."

Mr. Newell said the liquor forces and "the alien-minded Democrats of

Voters to Pass On Four State Amendments Nov. 8

North Carolina voters will be expected to vote November 8 on four amendments to the state constitution, and it has been said that the majority of the people in the state haven't the slightest idea what the amendments are that they will have to pass upon. It is probable, in fact, that there are hundreds of voters who don't know that the amendments will be submitted to the state at the balloting.

For this reason, The Tribune is presenting herewith a brief explanation of the proposed amendments so that our readers may go to the polls with full knowledge of the issues at hand.

The first amendment is changing the term of office of sheriff and coroner from two to four years. If this section is passed, the sheriff and coroner will be elected for a four year term in 1934, the next

The office in the Castevens Hardware Company building, which until recently was used by E. F. McNeer, has been donated by Mr. Castevens to the local chapter of the Red Cross to be used as a sewing room in the work of making garments for the needy from cloth furnished by the American Red Cross, it was announced Wednesday.

This work, although under the auspices of the Red Cross, will be carried out by members of the various women's organizations here, who, in addition to making garments for the needy, have also put in an order for ready-made clothing such as overalls, work shirts, etc., to Red Cross headquarters.

Mrs. G. T. Roth is chairman of the local organization. Further announcements concerning the work will be made at a later date.

Opposition Must Show Cause Why Shouldn't Be Accepted

SPRADLIN IS SILENT

At the conclusion of the hearing in Greensboro last Friday before Judge Johnson J. Hayes, presiding in the Federal court for the middle North Carolina district, relative to a petition from W. H. Spradlin, receiver for the Elkin National Bank in which the petitioners requested permission to accept an offer made by the Chatham Manufacturing Company for notes said to have been executed by various members of the Chatham family to the defunct bank totalling $37,418.54 Judge Hayes left the case open until tomorrow, Friday, November 4, at which time the attorneys for the depositors will be required to show further cause why the offer of the Chatham Manufacturing Company should not be accepted by the receiver.

The petition of the receiver set forth that the directors of the Chatham Manufacturing Company offered to pay to the receiver the sum of $16,000 in cash at the date of agreement, the balance to be paid in equal payments of one, two and three years, said deferred payments to be evidenced by three notes in equal amounts signed by the Chatham Manufacturing Company and endorsed by Thurmond Chatham and further secured by leaving with W. H. Spradlin, the receiver, the notes paid off, with authority to him to credit on the three Chatham Manufacturing Company notes. The deferred payments would bear interest at six per cent.

In addition, the Chatham Manufacturing Company agreed to leave with W. H. Spradlin, receiver, during the life of the notes, the $31,352.99 on deposit in the Elkin National Bank with authority to him to pay the dividends on said deposit upon the three said Chatham Manufacturing Company notes as and when said dividends are paid or at the end of each year, the said dividends to draw interest at six per cent

ARMFIELD RESIGNS AS MANAGER LOCAL B. & L. ASSOCIATION

Paul Gwyn Elected As New Secretary And Treasurer

ADD TWO TO BOARD

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Elkin-Jonesville Building and Loan Association, held last week, C. G. Armfield handed in his resignation as secretary and treasurer, to become effective November 1. Paul Gwyn was elected to fill the vacancy. He took charge of the association Tuesday and will continue the office at the present location.

Mr. Armfield is said to have several propositions that he has been considering, but for the present expects to be at his office to wind up the affairs of the Elkin Hardware company, of which he is receiver.

When the management of the local building and loan association was placed under the guidance of Mr. Armfield several years ago, it had resources of about $25,000, and today, through the co-operation of an efficient board of directors, its resources have grown to over six times that amount.

The association is said to be one of the best in the entire state, and is as sound as it is possible to make such an institution.

Through the past several years, admittedly hard years, building and loan stock has continued to pay 100 cents on the dollar and makes a profitable tax-free safe investment for its stockholders.

Foley Norman and Herbert Graham, local business men, were added to the board of directors at the past week's meeting. Sant Holcomb is president of the organization.

WILKESBORO WILL PLAY HERE NOV. 11

Local Team Defeated Friday By Harmony 44 to 0.

The Elkin "Buckin Elks" defeated last Thursday at Harmony by the Harmony football team to the tune of 44-0, play no game this week but are busy getting in shape for a return game with Wilkesboro, which is scheduled to be played here Friday, November 11. Although defeated 12-0 by Wilkesboro in the first game the local gridgers are of the opinion that they can take their opponents for a ride on the home field.

In the game with Harmony, which marked the second defeat by that aggregation, Harmony ran up 19 points in the first quarter, heavier weight and more experience smothering the local squad under touchdowns which came in rapid succession.

BOARD APPROVES SCHOOL BUDGET

Means 9-Month School Term For Elkin City School

The State Board of Equalization has approved the Supplemental Funds Budget, or extended term budget, of Elkin special charter system, according to LeRoy Martin, executive secretary to the Board. Although many special charter budgets have been reduced from original requests, the budget for Elkin was prepared on such an economic scale that the Board of Equalization did not see fit to reduce it further.

Secretary Martin's letter to superintendent Walter R. Schaff shows that the Board of Equalization has definitely approved the budget in its entirety, passed favorably on the local Board's plan for a nine month school term, and considers the local Board's employment of an extra teacher as a necessary measure.

Those youngsters of the Elkin school who weigh not more than 100 pounds yet feel big enough to tussle a pig skin will stage a football game at Chatham Park Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, it was learned Wednesday. And according to one who ought to know, the midgets make up in scrap and pep what they lack in size. Admission will be free.
