LATE NEWS from the State and Nation

Faces Problems

Washington, Oct. 24.—The farm administration having settled one perplexing tobacco problem, is now wrestling with two others.

One is to work out a plan whereby farmers in the Carolinas and Georgia who sold their crop prior to the effective date of the flue-cured tobacco marketing agreement, may be paid benefits to compensate them for higher prices being paid under the agreement.

The other is to co-ordinate the several codes of fair trade practices submitted by warehousemen in the various tobacco belts into one master agreement covering the entire industry.

To Aid Wets

Washington, Oct. 24.—Postmaster-General Farley at his press conference today told of his plans to go to the Carolinas and aid in the fight to secure ratification by the two states of the prohibition repeal amendment to the constitution.

"General, in your speeches at Raleigh and Columbia are you going to bear down on the prohibition issue?" Farley was asked.

"That's what I am going down there for," he answered.

Bankers Adopt Code

The North Carolina Bankers' association, in a called session in the King Cotton hotel here yesterday afternoon, unanimously adopted the bankers' code of fair competition, compiled by the American Bankers' association and approved by both President Roosevelt and the national recovery administration.

Wrong Man

New York, Oct. 24.—Lieut. James Finn, former bodyguard to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, is convinced that John Gorch, held by Boston police, is in no way connected with the kidnaping and slaying of the Lindbergh baby, a high official of the New York police department said tonight.

Plans Trip

Capt. Bennett Griffin, one of the leading aviators of the country and companion of Jimmy Matern in an attempted flight around the world a little over a year ago, is now planning to outdo all existing flight records with a non-stop trip around the world in approximately three and one-half days.

To Loose Big Guns

Sheriff Has Surry County Tax Books

The 1933 tax books for Surry county were turned over to Sheriff John D. Thompson the latter part of last week and statements have been mailed out to the individual taxpayers. It is hoped that this will speed up payment on taxes as the county is badly in need of funds.

It has also been announced from the sheriff's office that Sheriff Thompson will begin advertising taxes for 1932 on Tuesday, November 7. This announcement should serve as a warning to delinquent taxpayers who will have an opportunity to pay up in the next two weeks and avoid costs of advertising.

SATURDAY IS DAY FOR REGISTERING IN WET-DRY FIGHT

Drys Hopeful For 6 To 1 Majority In Elkin Precinct

ELECTION NOV. 7TH

Saturday will mark the only day set aside for registration of voters who wish to cast their ballot in the repeal election of November 7.

Those voters whose names are already upon the registration books will not have to again register, it was pointed out, but the books will be at McNeer's warehouse for the convenience of those who have come of age since the last election, or who are newcomers in Elkin precinct.

To be eligible to register the voter must have lived in North Carolina at least 12 months and in the precinct four months. Those who wish to vote, who have not been in the precinct four months must get a certificate from the registrar of their last voting place and present it to the registrar of the precinct in which they now live.

C. A. McNeill has been appointed registrar for the November 7 election and will be at McNeer's warehouse with the books all day Saturday. The polls will also be located there November 7.

According to local dry leaders the drys expect to carry Elkin precinct by a good majority. "If," it was stated, "the people vote as they have pledged themselves the drys should win by six to one."

BOONVILLE FAIR TO BEGIN FRIDAY

Indications Point To Biggest And Best Event Of Kind

The Boonville Fair will be held on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 27 and 28. The exhibits will be on display from Friday afternoon to Saturday night. From all indications it looks like the display of farm and home products will be the largest in the history of the Boonville Fair. It is hoped that the exhibitors will enter most of their exhibits Thursday afternoon so that the judges can get started judging the exhibits by 10:00 A. M. Friday.

Those in charge of the Fair expect a record attendance, and coming at a later date in the season will enable many farmers to arrange their work on the farms so as to attend and enter their exhibits, see those of others, and enjoy two days which will be helpful to them.

The management has arranged a schedule of entertainment that will eclipse all previous efforts. There will be some kind of entertainment from the beginning of the fair to the close.

You can guess the nature of a public gathering. The more naughtily it is, the greater demand for front seats.

Local Rats Eat Their Fill and Flourish On "Poison" Said To Kill

Indications point to an unusually well fed and contented crop of rats following the rather disastrous end of the rat killing campaign staged here by the board of town commissioners and a rat poison salesman.

According to the salesman, who appeared before the commissioners at their last meeting and talked at length upon the virtues of his wares, the poison was guaranteed to wreak havoc and destruction among the various and sundry members of Elkin's rodent family. As your reporter understands it, the salesman also made dire predictions as to the fate of any bugs and other crawling things which might happen to sample his concoction.

As a result, many dollars were invested in the poison, which was placed at points of vantage here and yon, and all hands sat back to glory in the slaughter of the rats. It was to be a grand and glorious occasion.

Probably A Cow From The Klondike Would Bear Weather Better

Bound for Little America to help furnish fresh dairy products for the members of the Byrd South Pole expedition, Klondike Gay Carteret, Guernsey cow from Klondike Farm, has already gained the reputation of being a dyed-in-the-wool habitant of the colder spaces.

According to Ruohs Pyron, who, together with Thurmond Chatham, owner of Klondike Farm, was on hand to see the cow go aboard ship at Norfolk, Klondike Gay Carteret was making herself quite at home strolling about the deck when a lady who was also aboard ship giving everything the once over, noticed the word "Klondike" written upon the blanket which was draped over the cow.

"Oh, isn't it wonderful with what pains they select their equipment for the trip," she exclaimed to a companion. "They've even selected a cow from the Klondike so that she may better stand the cold."

MONDAY WINS OVER WILDCAT PATTON

Dude Franklin Knocks Out James Brooks In 2nd Round

Cool as a cucumber and probably seeking revenge for a defeat in the last American Legion show here, Paul "Hardrock" Monday Tuesday night won the decision over Fred "Wildcat" Patton in the eight-round final bout of the American Legion boxing show staged at McNeer's warehouse.

The battle Tuesday didn't see Monday handicapped with a broken rib taking severe punishment from a really wild Pilot Mountain wildcat as featured his previous fight here with Patton, but saw an aggressive Monday, in the best of condition, win the majority of the eight rounds with a wildcat who wasn't wild and who went to the mat for a count of nine in the fifth round.

With the exception of the first bout, which featured Hasting Eldridge and Flake Brown, both Elkin boys, in an unusual and unique double knockout, the remainder of the bouts proved satisfactory to the large crowd of fistic customers on hand. Neither Eldridge nor Brown appeared to be in good condition and after the third round both ap-

ELKIN HITS STRIDE IN SATURDAY GAME

Defeat Fighting West Jefferson Team By Score of 33-19

The Elkin high football squad playing inspired football whipped a strong, hard fighting West Jefferson team last Saturday at North Wilkesboro 33 to 19. The local boys outclassed the West Jefferson aggregation in every phase of the game, particularly in blocking and tackling.

The exciting features of the game were Captain Chatham's two long runs when he returned punts 90 and 70 yards respectively, passes caught by Cothren and Transon, and the hard plunging of fullback Burcham as he drove through the line in the last few minutes of the game for Elkin's fifth touchdown.

The Elkin boys really hit their stride in the West Jefferson game. They kept their heads under punishment, played clean, demonstrated almost perfect blocking and tackling, and showed more drive than they have in previous games. Special attention is called to the excellent line work of Co-Captain Hall, McNeill, Harris, Wade, Crater and the Sales brothers.

Elkin meets Cooleemee Thursday at Chatham Park.

Many Expected To Attend Jonesville M. E. Church For Event

The Jonesville, Methodist Church will observe Home Coming Day next Sunday, October 29th, at the eleven o'clock service. The history of the church will be read. B. Benham, A. N. Tomlin, Richard R. Gwyn, F. A. Harris, W. L. VanEaton and W. B. Woodruff, trustees, in 1854. Older members of the church are expected to be present and relate their memories of the church in other years. The Church Roll is to be called. Greetings from former pastors will be read. It had been anticipated that some of them could be present and preach but due to the nearness of the meeting of the Annual Conference none of them could be away from his own work. The sermon will be preached by Mr. R. J. Matheny of Duke University. The friends and former members of the church are invited to meet with the members in this service.

Teachers Attend Meet

In order that members of the faculty of the Elkin school could attend the northwest district meeting of the State Teachers' association at High Point Friday, classes were not held on that day. The entire faculty attended.

ROOSEVELT PLEDGES NATION A MANAGED DOLLAR IN ADDRESS

States That "We Are On Way And In Right Direction"

SCORES GAMBLERS

A managed currency was pledged by President Roosevelt in a talk to the nation Sunday night, and he revealed also plans to establish a government market for gold for dollar stabilization.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech, his third major address to the nation since March 4, reviewed all aspects of his recovery program. In it he took cognizance of agricultural unrest, pointing out that every effort would be made to further the rise of commodity prices.

"If we cannot do this one way we will do it another. Do it we will," he said significantly.

The President outlined an orderly procedure for the realization of his gigantic economic and financial program. He summed it up as follows:

1. Restoration of the price level, first of all.
2. Establishment and maintenance of a dollar of unchanging purchasing power—in short, a managed currency.
3. Control of the gold value of the domestic dollar.
4. Establishment of a government market for gold to establish and maintain continuous control.

Mr. Roosevelt's utterances on the monetary question came as a distinct surprise to official Washington, which had felt that he would confine the address to an

Good Programs Staged During Afternoon And Night Sessions

An unusually large attendance marked the meeting here last Wednesday afternoon and night of the seventh district Jr. O. U. A. M. The meeting was said to have been the most successful held within the past 25 years.

During the afternoon session, which got under way at 3:30 o'clock, District Deputy J. R. Windsor presided in the absence of C. E. Burchett, district councilor. Following a routine business session, State Councilor B. C. Siske delivered an interesting address upon the principles of the Junior Order.

The night session, which began at 7:30 o'clock featured an address of welcome by S. O. Maguire, Monroe Adams, of Statesville responded. Short talks were then made by D. A. Robertson, of Mount Airy; Paul Swanson, of North Wilkesboro, and W. S. Reich, of Elkin.

Degree work was put on by a degree team from North Wilkesboro under the direction of J. C. Wallace, captain.

A final address by Mr. Siske and the decision to hold next year's district meeting with the Ronda and Clingman councils marked the conclusion of the meeting.

Local Church Observes Childhood, Youth Week

Childhood and Youth Week was celebrated by a special program at the Methodist church in this city Wednesday evening, at the regular weekly prayer service. An inspiring talk on "What Makes A Christian Home" by Prof. Z. H. Dixon was followed by a talk on "How to Become Better Parents" by Mrs. Harry L. Johnson. A solo, "When There's Love at Home", by Mrs. E. G. Click concluded the program.

At the close of the program the congregation was invited into the Sunday school rooms where they were served tempting refreshments. The honor guests of the meeting were parents of the children of the Sunday school from the Beginners through the Young People's Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neaves and Lineberry, of Statesville, who is Mrs. Neaves' mother, Mrs. C. F. their guest, attended the funeral of Miss Opal Kennedy in Winston-Salem Tuesday. Miss Kennedy will be remembered here, having visited Mrs. Neaves early in the spring.
