

MRS. KATE DUNCAN BURIED AT SPARTA

State Highway Patrolmen Form Escort of Honor

Funeral rites for Mrs. Kate Cooper Duncan, 27, wife of Sergeant Guy R. Duncan, of the state highway patrol, were held Monday from the Sparta Methodist church and Glade Valley Presbyterian church. Mrs. Duncan, who was a resident of Sparta, died in a Statesville hospital following an operation.

The deceased was a native of Mebane and was a graduate of Guilford College. Prior to her marriage she was a successful teacher. She was a member of the Methodist Protestant church. An honorary escort of the state highway patrol accompanied the funeral procession from the home to the cemetery.

Mrs. Duncan is survived by her husband, Guy R. Duncan; two small sons, Billy and Guy, Jr.; her father, W. B. Cooper of Mebane; four sisters: Mrs. A. E. Pleasants, Mrs. W. L. Duncan, Mrs. P. C. Kivett and Mrs. V. M. O'Connor, and four brothers, Rev. Fred R. Cooper, Asheville; L. C. Cooper, Mebane; D. L. Cooper, Siler City and C. A. Cooper, Monroe.

TIMELY FARM SUGGESTIONS

By J. W. CRAWFORD
County Farm Agent

Dairy Meetings

On Friday, January 19, we are having the following dairy meetings in the county: Friday A. M. at 10:00 o'clock, at the Klondike Farm, at Elkin; Friday P. M., at 2:00 o'clock at P. N. Taylor's farm, White Plains. Mr. J. A. Arey and Mr. F. R. Farnham, dairy specialists from State College will conduct these meetings, and will discuss trench silos, silage and pastures. We would be glad to have any one interested in these things to attend these meetings.

Tobacco Campaign

We expect to close the Tobacco Sign-up Campaign Saturday, January 20. So any one who has not signed up, please come to my office by that time, as that will be the last chance to sign the contract. At the present time the sign-up in this county is around 99 per cent.

Escaped Convict Slain By Somers

ing. Atwood ran from the building almost into the arms of Deputy Kilby, who commanded him to halt. Deputy Kilby fired into the air without attempting to hit the fleeing man but Atwood did not stop. Atwood ran across a branch bridge and turned quickly with his shotgun to fire at Sheriff Somers, who had followed his flight by the aid of a powerful flashlight. Only quick action on the part of the Sheriff saved his life, the load from his gun taking effect in Atwood's chest. He died almost instantly.

At the coroner's inquest, testimony revealed that Atwood had vowed he would die rather than be taken alive. At the time he was killed he was carrying his shotgun, a razor and two long knives. He was said to have carried a pistol most of the time.

PASSENGERS UNHURT

Passengers escaped with only minor injuries when nine cars of the Dixie Flier, crack N. C. & St. L. Railway train, derailed near Chattanooga, Tenn., late Friday. The locomotive and three cars passed safely over a broken rail which threw the next nine cars, including the dining car, baggage car and seven passenger cars, off the track.

Jones Is Of Hope Mystery Will Be Cleared Up Soon

week which has proven favorable to Smoot's plea of innocence was the jail break at Wilkesboro Sunday morning. Although four men made their getaway, Smoot refused to take advantage of this opportunity. Four other prisoners also passed up the opportunity to escape.

With Solicitor Jones here Wednesday was the Wilkes county fingerprint expert and several other men whose identities were not learned.

Earl C. James, attorney for Andrew Smoot, held as a suspect in the Childress murder case, issued the following statement today:

"Out of all the countless rumors and conjectures as to the method by which Leoda Childress came to her death, the clash of conflicting theories, as to suicide or murder, and the tangled mass of circumstances which might involve any one of eight or ten suspects, stands the conduct of Smoot. From the moment he was taken in custody in Danville, Virginia, to the present moment Smoot has done everything possible to cooperate with the authorities. His entire willingness to waive extradition from Virginia, his readiness to be interviewed by the Solicitor for the State and furnish him a copy of the so-called "murder note," his eagerness to answer every question propounded have all attested Andrew Smoot's attitude of helpfulness. This was further borne out by Smoot's scorning the opportunity of joining in the escape of the four prisoners from the Wilkes jail Sunday night. When Sheriff Somers asked Smoot Monday morning why he did not join his four cellmates in the escape Smoot told the Sheriff that he was going to remain in jail until his innocence was clearly established.

"To the Solicitor's inquiry if he was willing to submit to an injection of "Truth Serum" Smoot told the State's attorney he would gladly take anything that did not contain strychnine."

IN MEMORIAM

As the twilight hour silently drew near on Wednesday, November 29, 1933, the spirit of little Mary Virginia Cockerham gently took its flight to join the Angelic host around the eternal throne of God.

Drs. Salmons and Johnson determined heart leakage as being the contributing cause of the little one's passing. Medical science, willing hands and anxious hearts must give way to Him "who doeth all things well"; and be submissive to the voice that tenderly whispers: "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

Mary Virginia, the idolized daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Folger Cockerham, was born December 27, 1931. Although her stay on earth was short, not quite two years, this precious little one had by her sweet smiles and winsome personality, endeared herself to the hearts of all who knew her. Perhaps no other child was ever more dearly loved and admired, not alone in the large family circle, but throughout the entire community in which her little life was spent.

How sadly will darling little Mary Virginia be missed in her home. No more shall her bright smiles and childish prattle gladden the hearts of loved ones in that home.

It is hard to give her up and say "Thy will be done." But God knew best. He called our darling home where the blighting hand of sorrow can never touch her fair brow.

"There is no death, The stars go down To rise upon some fairer shore And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown They shine forever more."

May our Heavenly Father bless and comfort the grief stricken parents and each sorrowing relative and friend.

Beside her parents, Mary Virginia leaves a twin brother, Bobby Lee, and an older brother, Wallace. Funeral rites were conducted from the Mountain Park Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. Scales Draughn.

The little body was tenderly laid to rest in the church cemetery, amid a profusion of flowers and tears.

GET LESS THAN WATER BOYS

School teachers employed by the CWA are being paid less than water boys and common laborers on construction projects under the administration, H. P. Harding, city school superintendent of Charlotte, said Friday. While ordinary workers get 45 cents an hour for a 30 hour week, Harding pointed out, teachers are paid only 40 cents an hour.
