

HASTEN ELDRIDGE CONFESSES ROBBERY

Arrested, Admits He Broke Into Reece Barber Shop

Hasten Eldridge, 23, of this city, has confessed to local police that he, together with three other boys whose names he didn't give, robbed the Reece Barber Shop here Tuesday night of cash amounting to slightly over $100.

Eldridge was arrested in Winston-Salem Thursday by Winston police who were accompanied by E. T. Reece, proprietor of the barber shop, and Chief of Police W. G. Church. He was found in the home of a negro.

Lodged in the Winston-Salem jail, he denied his guilt, but when brought from that city Friday by Mr. Reece and Policeman Luke Darnell, he confessed to the robbery and waived a preliminary hearing. Placed in jail at Dobson Friday, Eldridge declared that he did not want bond. He stated he intended to plead guilty when tried at the next term of superior court.

Winston police became suspicious of the young man when he was seen gambling heavily in that city Thursday, and notified local police. He had no money on him when arrested. The shop was robbed Tuesday night, the men entering through a rear window. They took the money from a cash register.

EXPLAINS RELIEF WORK

Editor of The Elkin Tribune: May I offer a word of explanation to the readers of your paper of what we are trying to do for the people in running a relief office of today.

We are here to relieve suffering as best we can with the allotment of funds at our command. We investigate conditions of those applying for aid through the service of case workers, committees and by personal interviews and know very well as a rule just where and how to place the limited allotment of funds where it will give most relief, while others who judge hastily from outward appearance think we make mistakes while giving aid where most needed.

My official staff are well informed, congenial and careful people who obey orders, the only one of which I ever give them with a threat is the following: "If I should find that one of you should give or refuse to give aid to anyone on account of politics I will fire such worker regardless of consequences." The CWA is in part linked with our office, so that we furnish 50 per cent of the CWA jobs from our relief roll.

Last year we were told that the giving of relief was our object in assigning jobs, that the project was a secondary matter, but today we are told that the work project is also an important matter, so much so that when we have taken relief families from our files for half the jobs, that we shall requisition the re-employment office for men who have registered as unemployed for the other 50 per cent of the men for the project. These men are selected to fit the job, men who are fitted to do the work needed. Ex-world war veterans have the preference.

These men work together on the same project, so that the public who have not informed themselves as for the rules under which we are working, but are of the opinion that every dollar is given for relief without any consideration for the success of the project are continually criticising.

We have all the patience in the world with our critics, for I don't know just how I would feel if I was on the outside and misunderstood the very strict orders under which the office is operating.

Every penny disbursed by our office must check three ways and stand the test when checked up by our auditors and inspectors.

Of course it is impossible to give a job to 2000 men when there are less than 500 jobs available, but I am ready to hear all complaints and to correct any possible mistakes made by the F. E. R. A. or the C. W. A. in my county, and invite any uninformed or dissatisfied citizens to confer with me on any matter which concerns the Emergency Relief Administration of the Civil Works Administration of Yadkin County.

Respectfully submitted, W. S. CHURCH, Administrator. Yadkinville, N. C., January 31, 1934.
