

2 CARS DAMAGED IN FREAK WRECK HERE

Truck Gets Loose On Court Street And Hits Parked Car

A runaway truck, heading south down Court street, narrowly missed two automobiles at the intersection of Court and East Main, and crashed into a parked coupe about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The truck, said to be the property of Carl Wright, of Alleghany county, was parked on the street near the top of the steep grade across from the F-W Chevrolet company, when in some way it got into motion and started on its short, swift ride. Reaching the intersection, it whisked between two moving cars and knocked the coupe, which fortunately was unoccupied, up onto the side walk and into the wall of McNeer's warehouse, smashing in one of the car doors, damaging the running board and fender, and tearing down a front wheel. The coupe was the property of Banner Parks. No one was injured in the freak accident.

fame, would each have received approximately $2,000,000 of the fortune, their mothers another million, and the remainder would have gone to the establishment of a charitable foundation.

The court held, in effect, that the rights of an infant child could not be voided by an agreement such as that made by Smith Reynolds and his wife in August 1931, a short time before she obtained her divorce at Reno.

In its opinion, the court indicated that the two children of the late tobacco heir, who was found fatally wounded at his Winston-Salem home in July 1932, should share equally in his estate.

McDaniel's Staging Sensational Event

"Ten-Cent Days," termed by McDaniel's Department store as the biggest and most-sensational merchandising event ever staged here, will get under way at McDaniel's Friday for three days, Friday, Saturday and Monday.

During the course of the three days, the store will offer fine merchandise at periodic intervals for about a fourth of their actual cost in an effort to build new friendships and new customers.

Everyone who wants a really sensational bargain is advised to read full details in McDaniel's advertisement in this issue of The Tribune and then to visit the store on the three big days.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bray of Mt. Airy, were the guests Tuesday of the former's sister, Mrs. S. O. McGuire, at her home on Gwyn Avenue.

Timely Farm Questions Answered At N. C. State

Question: What is the best breed of chickens for a beginner?

Answer: The best breed for any beginner in the poultry business is determined by what that person wants with the birds. If egg production is to be the major business then the Leghorn or some other of the Mediterranean breeds should be chosen. If the birds are to be sold as broilers in addition to producing eggs, the Rocks or Reds would be considered. Each breed has its purpose and fits into the poultry producing industry so any beginner should set up definite objectives and stick to them.

Questions: Are growers who have signed reduction contracts required to keep records on their crops?

Answer: No, but a simplified record book has been prepared for the convenience of all growers who have signed the adjustment contracts. This will aid the grower in keeping a record of his acreage, his production and sales and will help him in filling out the special forms and reports necessary in making out his contract according to the requirements of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. It always pays a farmer to keep records of his business.

Question: How much feed should be planned for a dairy cow for one year?

Answer: This depends upon the individual animal but as a general rule each cow will require two tons of legume hay, two acres of pasture, 16 bushels of corn, 16 bushels of oats, and 600 pounds of cottonseed meal. Where wheat bran is available this may be substituted for a part of the oats, pound for pound. Good producing animals are necessary for profit and the herd should average 250 and 300 pounds of butterfat to the cow. If this average is not maintained then the animal is not paying for her feed and should be taken from the herd.

Midseason Dishes

Midseason appetites are capricious things at best as every home-manager knows. Families just can't manage to get up any enthusiasm, even for their favorite dishes. Roast beef loses its appeal and the appearance of prune soufflé seems to be just more than anyone can bear. Appetizers are almost a sure cure.

Appetizers, according to Miss Addie Malone, Home Economist with the Southern Public Utilities Company, local Kelvinator dealers, were invented by a clever cook who could not bear to see her succulent dishes leave the table practically untouched. Appetizers are just what their name implies, appetite tempters and consist of a small serving of almost any piquant, highly seasoned dish. Soups used to have the monopoly, but now an appetizer may mean sea food or fruit cocktail, grapefruit halves, salads, or canapes.

The following appetizer recipes were tested and adapted in the Kelvin Kitchen and brought to you through the courtesy of Southern Public Utilities Company.

Mint Ice Cocktail
2 cups sugar
4 cups water
3 drops oil of spearmint
3-4 cup lemon juice
6 grapefruit
A few drops green vegetable coloring.

Make a syrup of the sugar and water by boiling 1 minute. Cool, add lemon juice which has been strained, spearmint, and coloring, pour into Kelvinator tray and freeze. When the consistency of mush remove to a chilled bowl and beat briskly. Return to tray and finish freezing. Cut grapefruit in half, remove membrane. Fill center with ice, place on a doily or a grape leaf and serve immediately. Lends zest to the most lagging appetite.

Cranberry Salad
2 small oranges
2 cups cranberries
1 cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
1½ tablespoons gelatine
4 tablespoons cold water
1 cup finely diced celery
½ cup blanched almonds
Put orange through food chopper, add cranberries, sugar and boiling water and cook 20 minutes. Add gelatine soaked in cold water, stir until dissolved and rub through a sieve. When mixture cools, fold in celery and almonds. Pour into small individual molds and chill in Kelvinator until firm. Unmold on beds of curly endive and serve with mayonnaise. Serves ten.

Snow Cocktail
2 grapefruit
1 cup powdered sugar
1 cup skinned grapes
Peel grapefruit, separate into segments and remove membrane. Peel white or tokay grapes and cut in halves. Add sugar and mix well. Chill thoroughly in Kelvinator tray and serve in crystal cocktail glasses. Serves six.

The home city should be in the minds of every citizen and the business of the home city should rank first. If it does not, then the people who forget it are not worthy to live in the city and be supported by it.

Child Sustains Hurts In Two-Story Tumble

The two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Osborne sustained a badly fractured arm and several severe bruises when she fell from a two-story window of the residence of Mrs. Annie Paul on Church street Tuesday afternoon. The child was playing in a room alone and pushed out the screen and became overbalanced and fell from the window.

"And you don't know anything about religion?" queried the missionary.

"Well, we got a little taste of it when the last missionary was here," replied the cannibal chieftain.

The South has approximately 1800 textile plants in addition to 400 cottonseed oil mills and more than 1500 cotton gins. It has 62 per cent of the country's cotton spindles and 76 per cent of the country's spindle-hour operation was in the South in 1933.

People who have pride in the home city and want to see it progress, who want to see their city kept out of the rut, who want to help instead of hinder, have the proper spirit. They buy at home!
