

BURKE ASKS THAT WILKES PRIMARY BE INVESTIGATED

Claims 1,500 Republicans Voted the Democratic Ticket

CHARGE IS DENIED

Trailing his North Wilkesboro opponent, J. A. Rousseau, of Wilkes county, by 460 votes in Saturday's second primary to determine the nomination in the 17th judicial district, J. Hayden Burke, of Alexander county, has appealed to the state board of elections for an investigation of charges that 1,500 Republicans voted the Democratic ticket in Wilkes county.

In a statement issued Tuesday night, Mr. Burke states the Wilkes county board of elections refused to make a canvass of the primary in Wilkes county after it was requested by Burke supporters. Appealing from this refusal the state board has been asked to investigate the vote.

Chairman R. M. Brame, of the Wilkes county board of elections, stated that evidence offered was not sufficient to warrant an investigation and that he has affidavits from registrars that no Republicans voted in the primary who did not take the pledge to support the Democratic nominee this fall. He stated further that extra precautions were taken to insure a fair and square primary.

Rousseau supporters deny that any great number of Republicans cast ballots Saturday in Wilkes county and allege that as many of those who did vote, voted for Burke as did for Rousseau.

No one was injured other than scratches sustained by Wagoner and Hurley Reece, also of Jonesville, who was in the Wagoner car.

According to witnesses the Wagoner car had started to pass the Graham car when it turned left to enter the driveway, the force of the impact throwing the Graham machine against a telephone pole and smashing in its right side.

The car driven by Wagoner was the property of Evan Martin, of Jonesville. Bahnson Greenwood and Horace Vestal, of Jonesville, and Waymouth Vestal, of Bassett, Va., were also passengers in the Wagoner auto.

LATE NEWS from the State and Nation

HITLER SEES VON HINDENBURG

Berlin, July 3.—A new crisis in the Nazi government tonight sent Chancellor Hitler by airplane to the side of President Paul von Hindenburg, the one man who is credited with being able to do what he pleases in Germany by making use of the regular army. The chancellor dashed dramatically from a cabinet meeting to the airport after a carefully-planned scheme to remove the president's old friend and protege, Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, from office fell through.

OPPOSED TO STOCK GAMBLING

Washington, July 3.—The unknown quantity in the new securities and exchange commission—Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman—today explosively disclosed himself as a violent opponent of stock market gambling.

Forceful in gesture, pithy in expression, freckled in complexion, Kennedy made it plain to reporters in an interview that he intended to go the full distance in eradicating manipulation and deception from the markets.

HINDENBURG COULD FIRE HITLER

Berlin, June 3.—(Wednesday)—Under provisions of the Weimar constitution the president of the German reich has authority to appoint and dismiss the chancellor.

German ministers are responsible to the national assembly and their tenure in office depends on their retaining the confidence of the assembly. Under the Nazi regime, however, the reichstag, for all practical purposes has been shelved.

EHRINGHAUS PROTESTS GAS DISCRIMINATION

Raleigh, July 3.—Unusual discriminations against North Carolina seemed to have been uncovered today when Gov. J. C. B. Ehringhaus summoned gasoline dealers to Raleigh and asked them why North Carolina pays so much more for its motor fuel than Virginia does.

His excellency with a large number of wholesalers in his office asked them to end the discriminations against North Carolina.

Charity covers, our grand juries uncover, a multitude of sins.

Surry Deputy Finds Note In His Machine Signed J. Dillinger

Although it is thought highly improbable that John Dillinger has really been navigating around in Surry county, Deputy Sheriff Harvey Boyd, of Surry, is wondering.

It happened in Mount Airy the other day. The deputy, with an eye toward the upholding of the majesty of the law, hid himself hither in pursuit of a motor car which was violating one of Mount Airy's pet laws. The car bore an Ohio license tag. After a chase, he succeeded in stopping the machine with the result that two men jumped out and departed in a hasty manner while the driver was arrested.

Leaving his machine parked, Deputy Boyd performed all the necessary functions required in making an arrest. Then he returned to his car.

And on the front seat was a note.

The note read: "Why don't you practice what you preach? J. Dillinger."

It has not been learned at this writing just what Deputy Boyd preaches or why Mr. Dillinger should want him to practice it.

ANTHRAX SCARE IN YADKIN SUBSIDING

However, Work of Inoculating Cows Continues

The scare that was thrown into the people of Yadkinville and community a week ago has about subsided as no new cases of anthrax have been reported in the past week.

The scare was caused by the positive diagnosis of one case in a small boy and the microscopic showing of the anthrax germs in a smear taken from one of the cows that had died mysteriously. The boy, Clarence Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howell, of Yadkinville, was treated in the Elkin hospital after medicine had been sent from Baltimore by airplane, and is now about well, having been released from the hospital Friday.

Seven cows died within a few days in one section of Yadkinville and all were housed by the owners around a slaughter yard conducted by Mart Hauser, colored. Nearly all the cow deaths were a mystery to the owners, but all had been buried before state doctors, local doctors and veterinarians were called into conference, except the hide of one cow. A specimen of blood was taken from the hide and at that time the veterinarians and physicians at the Elkin hospital pronounced the germ as anthrax.

Denial Made In a statement published in a Winston-Salem paper Saturday, County Agent Brumfield of Yadkin county, denied that any of the cows had died from the dreaded disease and that no anthrax germ had been found in the dead cattle.

Veterinary surgeons are vaccinating.

GAS BOOTLEGGERS CURBED IN MT. AIRY

Two Are Arrested and Charged With Violating Gas Statutes

Activity of gasoline bootleggers in Mount Airy has been terminated following a campaign by the state highway patrol it was learned Wednesday morning from Corporal W. B. Lentz, who stated he had arrested two men on charges of violating the N. C. gasoline statutes and had collected the tax on slightly over 1,000 gallons of gas run in from Virginia.

Gasoline has been selling in Virginia for five cents a gallon under the North Carolina price, Corporal Lentz stated, and as a result, some Mount Airy people have been going to the sister state and bringing back containers of the fuel. In some instances trucksters have run in truck loads of the fuel and sold it to N. C. filling stations.

In one instance, a truckster was caught in the act of emptying a 50-gallon drum of Virginia gas into a supply tank of an N. C. filling station. Three other drums of the same capacity were on the man's truck at the time. As a result, D. L. Phillips, driver of the truck, and Fletcher Fry, one of the operators of the filling station, were arrested and tried in Mount Airy recorder's court. However, judgment was continued until July 23.

Citing one instance of discrimination by gasoline distributors against N. C. motorists, Corporal Lentz stated that one Mount Airy distributor delivered gasoline to Mount Airy filling stations at 19.7c per gallon, and the same trucks delivered the same brand of gas to Virginia gas dealers at 12.7c per gallon, a difference of seven cents.

EXPECT NO BOOST IN SURRY TAX RATE

County Budget Tentatively Set At $179,000; Cancel Court Term

The Surry county budget for the ensuing fiscal year has been tentatively set at $179,000, it was learned following a meeting of the county commissioners at Dobson Monday and it is believed the county tax rate will remain at 85 cents, the present rate.

In addition to working out a tentative budget the commissioners again deferred the county tax sale for 30 days.

The two weeks' term of civil court, scheduled to get under way at Dobson July 9, was cancelled by the commissioners due to the fact that it is now the busy season for Surry farmers. However, a special two weeks' term has been called for November.

292 TEACHERS ARE ALLOTTED COUNTY

Elkin District Is Allowed Total of 27 Instructors

A total of 292 school teachers have been allotted Elkin and Surry county for the 1934-35 term, the state school commission at Raleigh has announced.

This allotment shows a cut of seven elementary teachers from the number employed last year, a reduction that was brought about by decrease in attendance during the measles epidemic last winter. However, it was stated that the teachers cut off might be reallocated if attendance during the first two weeks this fall warrant such a step.

The county high schools lost one high school teacher at Bryan and gained one in the Elkin school.

The county allotment by districts was as follows: District 1 (Dobson)—6 high school, 26 elementary and 2 colored; District 2 (Elkin)—6 high school, 20 elementary and 1 colored; District 3 (Bryan)—3 high school, 7 elementary and 1 colored; District 4 (Lowgap)—4 high school and 9 elementary (no colored); District 5 (Eula)—3 high school and 10 elementary (no colored); District 6 (Franklin)—4 high school, 18 elementary and 2 colored; District 7 elementary and 1 colored; District 8 (Flat Rock)—4 high school, 15 elementary and 1 colored; District 9 (Westfield)—4 high school, 10 elementary and 5 colored; District 10 (Pilot Mtn.)—6 high school, 14 elementary and 1 colored; and District 12 (Copeland)—5 high school, 24 elementary and 1 colored.

CAR BADLY SMASHED IN WRECK SATURDAY

As Result, Yadkinville Man Is Charged With Reckless Driving

A wet pavement and slick tires Saturday resulted in a smashup on highway 26 in Arlington when a sedan driven by Shore Hutchens, of Yadkinville, failed to take a curve and crashed into a large truck operated by Tom Rose, of Arlington.

As a result of the accident, Hutchens received minor cuts and bruises and the car he was driving was badly wrecked. The truck was only slightly damaged.

A warrant charging reckless driving was sworn out for Hutchens by Highway Patrol Corporal W. B. Lentz, and a hearing is scheduled for Saturday before Magistrate J. S. Hinson, of Arlington.

POOL ROOMS HERE ARE OUTLAWED BY ACTION OF BOARD

Commissioners Refuse To Rescind Ordinance Passed June 4th

TAX SALE PUT OFF

Perhaps with the idea of making Elkin a model for other towns in the state, the Elkin board of commissioners Monday night refused to rescind an ordinance passed at their meeting of June 4 outlawing all pool and billiard tables within the city limits, and as a result, the lone pool room here operated by Andrew Greenwood was closed Tuesday morning.

The ordinance against such places was provided at the June meeting when steps to abolish local slot machines were taken. However, the pool room ordinance was withheld from publication until Monday's meeting so that Mr. Greenwood might be given a hearing before the commissioners.

Following Mr. Greenwood's plea to the commissioners Monday, a motion was made that the ordinance be rescinded and the poolroom allowed to operate. However, no seconds were made to the motion and it was killed then and there.

In addition to passing upon the ordinance abolishing the pool room the commissioners postponed the advertisement of town taxes until August 2.

INSCORE WINS OVER REAVIS IN YADKIN

Given Majority of 323 to Secure Nomination For Sheriff

Arthur L. Inscore, 44, received the nomination for Sheriff of Yadkin county over C. G. Reavis, present sheriff, at the hands of the Republican party in the run-off primary held last Saturday, June 30. Inscore's majority over Reavis was 323 out of a total of 3795 votes cast in the county. This is about the full strength of the party in the county.

During the closing days of the campaign the contest became warm, both candidates working hard every day. Such a large vote could not have been cast without a strong interest by the people. In the run-off primary in 1930 between Sheriff Reavis and C. E. Moxley a total of 3222 votes were cast.

One of the largest crowds ever to come to town to get the primary returns were on hand Saturday night. The crowd was a happy one and all enjoyed a good time.

Two bass ponds have been added at the hatchery this year with CWA funds.

Signs have been erected at Doughton and other points up the mountain welcoming visitors to the hatchery.
