

SURRY CCC CAMP IS LIKE A SMALL CITY

Camp Is Rapidly Being Completed; Has Conveniences

The CCC camp, which is located near the county-seat town of Dobson, presents a scene of humming activities any day of the week a passer-by may chance to glance at it from the adjoining highway.

No columns of militarized men are seen marching in dignified parade among the half-grown oaks of the camp ground, but a generous scattering of brown-shirted-boys in overalls, with turned-down hats and other regalia suggesting a combination of army and civilian life, are seen busy with hoes, mattocks, rakes, saws, hammers and other tools putting the final touches on the grounds of the campus.

A plot of 18 acres of land in a nicely thinned grove of small oaks on which is scattered, in orderly fashion a group of 18 buildings with graveled walk-ways and drive-ways, that are bordered with rock-lined ditches and rustic fences against a background of very green young grass, with a fish pond and fountain near the center of it all, greets the eye of a visitor to the CCC camp near Dobson.

Here resides a group of 186 CCC boys, sons of North Carolinians who have been called by our National Government in a great conservation project which is fostered by a great-hearted and far-seeing leader.

All activities of the camp which are carried on within the limits of the 18-acre piece of land are under the direct supervision of the U. S. Army, which has three officers stationed there to direct the affairs of the camp proper. All activities that are carried on outside of the camp are under the direction of the E. C. W. There are 11 technicians and officers connected with the E. C. W. phase of the CCC camp. All are housed and fed by the U. S. Army.

Taking a closer look at the buildings of the camp we find four barracks, with a capacity of 50 boys each; a camp office, which is the headquarters of the Camp Lieutenant; an infirmary, with a licensed physician in charge; a supply room, where stores of all sorts of clothing, bedding and such like things are kept; a mess hall, in which is housed also the food-supply room, kitchen, officers dining room and main mess hall; a recreation building, where the boys spend their evenings reading and enjoying games; an educational building, with a library and work shop; the E. C. W. building, with a large stone chimney and spacious living room, which is the residence of the E. C. W. corp; the camp officers quarters; a garage and car barn, with a capacity of 15 cars, and with a full-time mechanic in charge; a blacksmith shop and tool house, with a full-time blacksmith in charge who has the job of keeping the boys supplied with sharp hoes, picks and mattocks; an oil and grease house; the camp latrine; a bath house, with twelve showers and a steady supply of hot water; and the office of the E. C. W. men, where the soil conservation work is planned and mapped out.

Taking a general survey of the camp one finds a number of things of passing interest. There is a central water system having two tanks of 5,000 gallons capacity, and an electric pump which forces the water into them from a well 186 feet deep. There is also a sewage disposal plant large enough to care for the needs of a small town.

On the south side of the camp there is an athletic field with space for two tennis courts and ample ground for many other games.

The camp is fully equipped with electric lights, and also has direct telephone connections with Mount Airy.

There is a camp store, or canteen, where the boys may buy such things as cold drinks, smokes, stationery, etc., out of what they have left of their allowance after that $25.00 has been sent to their home folks. All of the boys are allowed at least $30.00 a month, while the leaders of the working crews get $45.00 each per month, and the assistant leaders get $36.00 each per month.

Taking a look inside of the buildings one will find them all neat and in order, with the small army cots in all of the barracks made up in military style, and the large mess hall, where 192 boys may eat at one time, scrubbed and in good order. There is a kitchen force of 14, with two orderlies to assist them, and three large hotel ranges are required to cook the food for the more than 200 people who are fed at each meal.

In every building on the grounds, except the latrine and the bath house, is found at least one cot where someone sleeps, for at least one person is required to sleep in each building as a safeguard against fire or burglary. There is also a night guard on duty throughout the night to watch for any fire or any other irregularity that may occur.

The camp force has at its disposal two army trucks, while the E. C. W. has seven trucks of popular makes, and a station wagon and coupe are expected soon. There are two gas tanks to supply this outfit. One for the army trucks and one for the E. C. W. trucks. Such is necessary because of the dual nature of the camp.

In the blacksmith shop and tool house your writer was shown two large wooden boxes about the size of large caskets and with handles on the sides like caskets. A glance inside revealed, not a corpse or bones, but tools. They were the forest fire fighting equipment, with hoes, mattocks, fire rakes, lanterns, water tanks with spray guns attached, and such other things as are necessary to equip 40 or 50 men for immediate action in combating forest fires. It was stated by one in charge that the two cases, with all of their tools, were kept intact and ready to throw onto trucks at any minute, in case a fire should break out.

In the E. C. W. office one will find a group of technicians and boys working over many little odd looking maps and charts. They are the maps of farms where soil conservation work is being carried on, showing locations of fields, gullies, forests and all the other things that go to make up a farm, as well as a chart of the various soils to be found in each field.

The CCC boys as a whole seem to be friendly, jolly and pretty well content with their environment and work. A string quartet is now being organized, and it is hoped that there will be other sorts of musicians discovered and developed in the camp for entertainment during the long winter evenings. Religious services are also held at the camp from time to time.

Thus one will see that the CCC boys are well situated, and that their place of residence is one of activity and interest.

Lieutenant Johnson stated that the camp would be glad to have visitors any time except during working hours. Your writer received a very cordial welcome, and was shown about over the grounds by the camp physician, Dr. Sykes.

BOONVILLE

The Boonville Book Club met in regular monthly meeting with Mrs. Catherine Jones Wednesday night. The meeting opened with the devotional period in charge of Mrs. Harvey Craver. Mrs. T. L. Hayes, Mrs. F. M. Woodhouse and Miss Merlia Speer gave an interesting program on Thanksgiving.

The hostess served chess cakes, hot chocolate and candy during the social hour. The December meeting will be held with Mrs. W. E. Brooks. Rev. and Mrs. I. L. Sharpe entertained nineteen members of the Boonville Epworth League at the Methodist parsonage in Yadkinville Friday night. The home was decorated with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, suggestive of the Thanksgiving season. Games and contests were enjoyed and later the guests were invited into the dining room, where they were served tempting refreshments.

Dr. and Mrs. Stimpson, of Raleigh, accompanied by Mrs. Ruby Warden and Miss Grace Brown, of this place, left Saturday for a two week's stay in Florida.

Misses Margaret Harkrader and Elizabeth Amburn spent Saturday in Greensboro, the guests of Miss Amburn's sister, Mrs. J. P. Hopkins.

James Reece, of Boone, spent the week-end here with his parents.

Miss Carmen Frye, of Cherryville, spent the week-end here with her family.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Woodhouse spent the week-end in Virginia, with Mrs. Woodhouse's mother.

Grady Burgess, of Elkin, preached at the Baptist church here Sunday night. Rev. J. P. Davis is assisting at a meeting at Union Grove.

WILKES MEN CONVICTED

North Wilkesboro, Nov. 16.—Tom and Ornaville Love, father and son, were convicted here late last night of murder in the second degree in the death of Phin Atwood who was slain as the culmination of a mountain feud in Jobs Cabin township on August 15.

Children who dislike school seldom know what a good time they are having.

HANES!

"GOOSE-PIMPLES? ... I used to have them as big as lemons! My skin felt as rough as sandpaper from Fall till the first of Spring. But that was before I got hep to HANES. I'll never forget my first suit. I pulled it on and buttoned up, and it felt as soft and warm as could be. I'm telling you those HANES people know their knitting. They're not a bunch of knit-wits. They make that cloth so elastic, and so true to your trunk and chest-size, that it stretches and gives with every move you make! I've never even had it cut in the crotch when I bend over to lace my shoes. I know I'm hot for HANES... HANES makes it hot for me!"

A nearby dealer has HANES Union-Suits, $1. and up... Shirts and Drawers begin at 75c... Boys' Union-Suits, 75c... Mericoid Waist-Suits, 75c... also New Winter-Weight Shirts and Knit Shorts (illustrated at right), 50c and 55c each.

THE ANTI-FREEZE UNDERWEAR FOR MEN AND BOYS

IT WORKED FOR ME

Women should take only liquid laxatives

MORE people could feel fine, be fit and regular, if they would only follow the rule of doctors and hospitals in relieving constipation.

Never take any laxative that is harsh in action. Or one, the dose of which can't be exactly measured. Doctors know the danger if this rule is violated. They use a liquid laxative, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why it should be a liquid like Syrup Pepsin.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if it doesn't give you absolute relief, if it isn't a joy and comfort in the way it overcomes any sluggishness or biliousness, your money back.

Lovers of Draught Flavor Welcome

Schlitz

LAGER

IN THE CAN THAT OPENS LIKE A BEER BOTTLE

Now, wherever the talk is about beer you hear it said: "There's something extra good about SCHLITZ LAGER!"

Many ask us: "... How do you keep this beer so clear and brilliant?" "... So fragrant and full-bodied?"

Here are the answers: SCHLITZ LAGER is highest quality beer, specially lagered... just as good a beer as we know how to make... quality untampered for the sake of price or profit.

Next... the Cap-Sealed Can... lined like a Schlitz barrel... protects this grand brew... keeps it clear, brilliant... holds in every bit of draught flavor and bouquet from the brewery to your glass.

No wonder they're saying "Something extra good." You'll say so, too.

ADVANTAGES OF NEW CAP-SEALED CAN

No deposits; no returns; cools quickly; saves space; holds 12 ounces, same as brown bottle; clean because outside of can is not punched into beer; safe because no sharp tools needed to open; pours perfectly.
