Sure, Plumes Again

NEW YORK . . . King Edward, VIII, at a London trade show, said he liked plumes on women's hats. That was enough for designers . . . and here they are on an Easter hat, three little purple plumes, with a cluster of pink flower's, on a navy blue finely woven straw.

— The — FAMILY DOCTOR

(By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.)

THOSE OLD-TIME REMEDIES

Old friends are, by virtue of their lasting qualities, usually the best;
and so it is with medicines—there are few better or safer than the time-tried. Some of our most valuable agents for healing the sick may be said to be hoary with age—
yet we know their action much more thoroughly than many of the new remedies, thus we find them
more trustworthy

I have before me a patriarch in medical literature—a book 115 years old; it is interesting to note the medicines in use today that were utilized then, and the list is not short Camphor is one; opium the good servant and the bad master; alcohol (spelled "alkohol") of which the same may be truly said; mer-cury, then called "quick-silver," and two of its derivatives, calomel and "mass of quick-silver." These and many others remain in use today, and doubtless will contine to live.

The poultice and the liniment so popular then, and the much-used 'salve" are fast becoming unheard of, and, perhaps, wisely so. The old-fashioned smear, grime and stain, as well as the nauseating bolus have been relegated to the rear, and we rejoice thereat. The alkaloid of science has about replaced the crude drug. Medicine has held pace with world-advancement very creditably.

May I suggest here that when you clean house this spring you neglect not your household remedies; brighten and fill the castor-oil bottle, the camphor flask, the iodine container, the stearate-of - zinc shaker, the carbolated vaseline jug. Be ready for most emergencies with good, old and time-tried remedies that you know the most about. It will make the doctor's task lighter should you be compelled to summon him. A roll of adhesive tape comes handy when needed. Don't keep active poisons on hand, such as strychola tablets, aconite, calo-mel, belladonoa, and such like, unless with full knowledge and advice of your physician.
