CLASSIFICATION CROPS ANNOUNCED

Announcement Concerns Soil Conservation Program in North Carolina

MANY CROPS LISTED

Classifications of soil-conserving and soil-depleting crops for the 1937 soil-conservation program in North Carolina have been announced by J. F. Criswell, of State College.

Crops to be counted as depleting are:

Corn, cotton, tobacco, peanuts harvested for nuts, broom corn, sorghum when harvested, and truck and vegetable crops, including melons, strawberries, and Irish and sweet potatoes.

Wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, and grain mixtures when cut for grain or hay. Sudan, millet, and Italian rye grass harvested for hay or seed.

Bulbs and flowers.

The following crops which help build up or improve the soil are to be counted as soil-conserving:

Sweet, red, alsike, white, and mammoth clovers. Alfalfa, kudzu, and sericea. Soybeans, velvet beans, field peas, and cowpeas. Vetch, Austrian winter peas, bur and crimson clover, crotalaria, and annual varieties of lespedeza.

Peanuts when pastured. Sudan millet and Italian rye grass not harvested for hay or seed. Bluegrass, Dallis, redtop, timothy, orchard grass, Bermuda, carpet grass, and mixtures of these.

Rye, oats, barley, wheat, buckwheat, and grain mixtures not cut for grain or hay, provided a good growth is left on the land.

Forest trees planted on crop land since January 1, 1934, and sweet sorghum that is not harvested.

New Provisions

When land is used to grow both depleting and conserving crops, the entire acreage will be counted once as soil-depleting, and a part or all of the same acreage will also be counted as soil-conserving.

When summer legumes are grown in combination with depleting row crops, the entire acreage will be counted once as soil-depleting, and half the same acreage will also be counted as soil-conserving, provided the legumes occupy at least one-half the land and a good growth has been attained.

This means, Criswell explained, that in figuring the general soil-depleting base for a farm, the entire acreage of these mixed crops will be counted in. And in determining the soil-conserving acreage, one-half of the same "mixed acres" will be counted.

The entire acreage on which mixtures of legumes and depleting crops (winter legumes and small grains, or summer legumes and annual grasses) are harvested together shall be classified as soil-depleting. One-half of the same land will be counted in the soil-conserving acreage if at least 50 per cent of the total growth harvested consists of legumes.

When a depleting crop is harvested and immediately followed by conserving legumes or perennial grasses the same year, the full acreage will be soil-depleting. One-half the same acreage will also be counted as soil-conserving. If the legume is an annual winter variety, the entire acreage will be counted conserving as well as depleting.

When specified crops are plowed under as green manure after at least two months' normal growth on land from which a commercial vegetable is harvested the same year, the entire acreage will be counted as soil-depleting and as soil-conserving.

Land not used for producing either depleting or conserving crops, and devoted to the following purposes, is classified as neutral.

Vineyards, tree fruits, small fruits, bush fruits, nut trees, and nursery stock not interplanted.

Any portion of such areas as are interplanted will be counted as the actual acreage of such interplanted crop.

Idle crop land, cultivated land lying fallow, waste land, roads, lanes, lots, yards, and other similar non-crop land, and woodland not planted to forest trees since January 1, 1934.
