When you have drawn your plans—or had them drawn—call us in and let's figure on all those extra outlets and drops you want, as well as the regular wiring that must be done. Outlets cost very little when the wiring is done before the house is completed; in fact, you'll be very agreeably surprised to find how convenient you can make your home at a cost that will be negligible. We've had years of experience in this work and will be glad to consult with you.
