NEWSPAPERS ARE AID TO FARMERS

Are Source of Valuable Agricultural News and Helpful Information

PLAY HELPFUL PART

North Carolina farmers find their newspapers a valuable source of agricultural news and helpful information, according to a statement by Dean I. O. Schaub, of State College.

Papers in both the weekly and the daily groups carry numerous stories keeping the farmer and his family posted on what is going on in the field of agriculture and home economics, he pointed out.

Other stories give helpful suggestions regarding better ways of doing things on the farm and in the country home, the dean continued.

A number of county farm and home agents over the state have reported that with few exceptions, the farm family getting ahead and making the most of its opportunities is a family that reads newspapers regularly.

There are nearly 200 county newspapers in the State published weekly, semi-weekly, or tri-weekly, and practically all of them have a regular policy of carrying timely farm news, Dean Schaub said.

He added that much of the agricultural progress of the State can be attributed to the constructive efforts of newspapers in keeping their rural readers well informed.

And the State College extension service, of which Dean Schaub is director, is firmly convinced that anything it can do to help the newspapers supply their readers with worthwhile agricultural news is a service to farm people of the State.

County farm and home agents and extension officials and specialists at State College are urged to keep constantly on the alert for any farm news or helpful suggestions they can give the papers.
