

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY CAPITAL

Dobson, March 22.—The Woman's Club of Dobson met in the club room Thursday evening, with the president, Mrs. W. E. Hancock, in the chair. Meeting opened with the club songs, followed by the collect, by the entire club.

After the roll call and minutes of the February meeting, the various committees and departments gave reports which were in turn passed upon and adopted. The club voted to donate a prize to the children who win to represent the Dobson high school in the music contest to be held soon at Greensboro.

Mrs. C. W. Fowler was the winner of the attendance prize. Subject for the month, by way of entertainment, "Literature for the Home." Miss Verdy Jackson, program leader, introduced four of her high school seniors, who appeared on the program as follows: "Southern Literature," Wilfred Moser; Review of "Gone With the Wind," Miss Mary Cooper; "Three Outstanding North Carolinians, John Charles McNeill, Wm. Sidney Porter and Paul Greene," by Annie Pearl Gentry.

Miss Dixie Stanley read several poems set to music, accompanied at the piano by Miss Edythe Reece. Miss Jackson, next, very cleverly introduced Mrs. Charles Hyatt, of Pilot Mountain, who, in her charming manner read several of her original poems. Among the number we specially note "Lilacs and Apple Blossoms," "To An Old Crepe Myrtle," "September," "Autumn," "Let There Be Light," "Blue Hills," and "Retrospection." Mrs. Hyatt is a very gifted poetess, and has won the loving cup given by the Federation to the writer of the best poem written by a club woman, three times. She was presented a pot of beautiful hyacinths in behalf of the Woman's Club, for her splendid contribution to the evening's program.
