Ho, Hum

The feet of the hill women in the Ozarks, after years of hopping rocks without shoes, naturally become calloused. Charlie Edison recalls that venerable one of a gnarled old woman, barefoot, standing next to the fireplace, the old man nodding near-by. Finally he said: "May, you-all is standin' on a live coal."
"Without even turning her head, the old lady inquired: "Which foot, paw?"

A Tampa man has smoked 237,000 cigars, which is enough rope to reach from a politician to most any seat in Congress.

The FAMILY DOCTOR

(By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.)

ABOUT THIS BABY OF YOURS
Now let's not talk about vitamins and calories and modified milks and adenoids and all that; leave it to the specialists to theorize on the fine-spun; let's talk about the baby—YOUR baby.

First: Baby is supremely selfish. He's too busy attending to his own affairs to bother about the comfort of any one else—and, he's exactly right; if more people attended to their own business we'd soon have a better race of people.

Second: A baby is just a digestive tract, an air compartment, and a minute, nervous bundle with a water-cooled motor. So long as he is comfortable he will not kick up a row. No respectable baby will tolerate a safety-pin boring into his umbilical region nor will he fail to resent rough seams that grind his arm-pits or groins; remember, if he is comfortable he will be peaceful. No baby enjoys howling any more than you do. Treat him with sense.

Third: Baby will cease feeding when he has enough, and he'll do it every time; but don't urge him to take more; whenever he lets go is the instant for closing the seance. Of course he's just like you, and would over-stuff himself just as you do; then trouble comes. The keenest of judgment is in knowing when to stop.

Lastly: Maybe you have one of those cute, idiotic Pomeranians; if so, turn it over to the maid, and take care of baby yourself. It's a religious duty of yours to care for your own flesh and blood. A worth-while parent will entrust the baby to no alien hands.

MOUNTAIN PARK
