

RIGID SANITATION TO CHECK DISEASE

Farmers Should Not Carry Prepared Tobacco Into Seed Beds

GERMS EASILY SPREAD

Rigid sanitation will aid farmers in checking the spread of tobacco mosaic, a disease that costs North Carolina farmers millions of dollars every year.

The organisms that cause mosaic are often found in tobacco that has been prepared for smoking or chewing, and they can be transferred easily to young plants in the field or seed bed.

"Don't carry any tobacco in your pockets when you go into a field or seed bed," said Dr. Luther Shaw, extension plant pathologist at State College.

"If you are a tobacco user, brush out your pockets and wash your hands thoroughly with soap and water."

Dr. Shaw also urged growers not to transplant any plants that show symptoms of mosaic. For the first four to six weeks after transplanting, the field should be gone over before each cultivation and all diseased plants removed and destroyed, he says.

Cultivators, harness, men's shoes, and other equipment may spread mosaic over the field. Always cultivate or top healthy plants before working with those that have mosaic symptoms.

Dr. Shaw pointed out that black shank can also be spread by workstock, equipment, or men moving from one field to another, especially when the soil is wet. Black shank can also be spread by rain water washing from a diseased field on to another just below.

On farms where black shank has been found, don't use tobacco trash in fertilizer, and don't use manure from the stalls of animals that have ranged on infested ground.

MIDGETS CONTINUE WINNING STREAK

Elkin Midgets continued their victories this week by defeating the West Elkin nine Friday by a score of 16-12. Dorsett led the hitting for West Elkin. Couch, Powers, Harris and Shumate led the attack for the Midgets with two hits each. Except for a few wild pitches, Shores, on the mound for the Midgets, held the opponents under control.

The Midgets were again victorious over the Jonesville nine Tuesday at the local playground, when in the seventh inning their opponents quit the game, with a tied score of 4-4. This entitled the Midgets to a 4-0 score. Harris pitched a neat game for the Midgets. Swaim and Holcomb pitched for the Jonesville nine.

She: "I'll stand on my head or bust."

Gym Instructor: "Never mind, Miss Miller, just stand on your head."

One thing is fine about large family connections, there's bound to be a livewire somewhere.

THOUSANDS SEE KING CROWNED

London Celebrates as Pageant of King's Coronation
Is Opened

MANY VISITORS PRESENT

London, Wednesday, May 12.—A blare of bugles, rising above the din of singing thousands in the streets, officially opened the costly pageant of King George VI's coronation at 1 a. m. today and sent 30,000 troops to their posts along the six-mile "path of glory."

All London and 6,000,000 people from far corners of the world were wild with joy, swept up in a flashing kaleidoscope of shouting, singing, flirting, and flag-waving that took on more madness as dawn approached.

The horde of humans, come to cheer the 41-year-old king and his commoner queen on their coronation day, merged in London's wildest scenes since the armistice.

The blond-haired Edward, who might have been hailed today as he rode in the coach of gold, appeared forgotten by almost all.

When the bugles blared at 1 a. m. and the 30,000 sleepy-eyed troops flanked both sides of the six-mile route winding through the heart of ancient London — standing arm's length apart — all traffic was cleared from the coronation area, leaving streets free for the invasion of spectators.

Some fought for points of vantage throughout the night; others paid as high as $3,000 for apartments and windows overlooking the line of march.

In addition to the 30,000 troops 20,000 of Scotland Yard's finest metropolitan police and 2,500 military "minute men" waited in such strategic spots as Hyde Park, St. James' Palace courtyard, and Horse Guards Parade to be rushed to any scene of emergency.

THOMAS MARION WOOD PASSES AWAY MONDAY

Thomas Marion Wood, 80, died Monday night at his home near Thurmond, following a lingering illness resulting from the infirmities of his advanced age. He was a member of the Primitive Baptist church.

He is survived by the following sons and daughters: Mrs. J. H. Wall, Winston-Salem; Mrs. B. F. Sprinkle, Dobson; Ransome Wood, Mountain Park; W. L. Wood, Greensboro and Mrs. R. G. Wall and P. D. Wood, Thurmond. Thirty grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and one brother M. D. Wood of Dobson and one sister, Mrs. John Cheek of Traphill, also survive.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from State Road Primitive Baptist church by Elders George Hill of Greensboro and Jesse Dunbar of Mount Airy. Interment was in the church cemetery.

REBELS KILL 1,000 IN BATTLE WEDNESDAY

Henuaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, May 12 (Wednesday).—One thousand loyalists were killed and 2,500 wounded in a rebel offensive which drove Basque defenders from Monte Bizcargui less than eight miles from Bilbao, a rebel communique said today.

Simultaneously part of Madrid was reported aflame after an all-day bombardment by Rebel General Francisco Franco's siege guns in the western hills.

The 5,500-mile line between Canada and the United States is the longest undefended boundary line in the world.

THURMOND

Mrs. Etta Smith and son and daughter John and Roxie Smith of Salisbury visited relatives here this week-end.

We were glad to see the large number out for Sunday school which is progressing very nicely. But come every Sunday and bring your friends with you. Remember the time, 2:00 o'clock every Sunday afternoon. Mark the time and come.

Miss Pearl Norman has returned home from Danville, Va.

Mrs. W. W. Calloway has had for the past week as her guest her aunt, Mrs. Sinda Spencer.

Mr. Luther Norman spent the week-end in Fayetteville with friends.

These warm sunny days finds the farmers very busy with their crops which are mostly planted.

CLAIM 52 VOTES

AGAINST MEASURE

Washington, May 11.—The foes of the Roosevelt court reorganization proposal added Senator Shipstead (F-L), Minn., to their ranks tonight and claimed "at least 52 Senate votes" against that measure.

Shipstead, a veteran of the Senate and one of its two Farmer-Labor members, returned to the city today from a long vacation and lost no time in taking sides in Washington's great controversy.

"I am not in favor of expanding the court by six," he told reporters. "I see no reason for any increase in the court."

"Did you ever hear anything so perfectly wonderful?" exclaimed daughter as the radio ground out the last notes of the latest thing in jazz.

"No," replied dad, "I can't say I have, although I once heard a collision between a truck-load of empty milk cans and a freight car filled with live ducks."

Mary: "John, dear, I'm to be in amateur theatricals. What will people say when they see me in tights?"

John Jones: "They'll say I married you for your money."
