"It's O.K. We've Got the Light with Us"
Traffic signals are electrically timed to aid the orderly flow of traffic. They are timed in fairness to all who use the streets—drivers and pedestrians—and it would seem a simple matter to obey them. A review of the accident records, however, would indicate that drivers need to be reinforced as to their meaning.
RED means "stop," not "slow down, make sure no officer is in sight, and then sneak through."
AMBER means "wait," not "step on it and get through before she turns red."
GREEN means "proceed with caution, and with due respect for the rights of others," not "go like blazes."
Nine out of ten accidents that involve drivers' mistakes, according to Travelers Insurance Company records, are caused by undue haste.
Slow down, and live longer.
