

Avery Hemric Is Dead Result Of Injury To Head

filling station operated by Johnson about 100 yards south of the new Yadkin river bridge. First reports had it that Hemric got into an argument with Boles when the latter allegedly threw beer on him, and while they were arguing outside the station, Johnson walked up and stated that if there was to be any fighting, he would do it. Whereupon he was said to have struck Hemric over the head with the wrench.

Hemric was carried to Hugh Chatham Memorial hospital where he died of a fractured skull about 3 a. m. Monday, and Johnson, who had previously been arrested on a charge of assault with intent to kill, was charged with murder.

Latest reports which officers are said to be tracking down, have it that following the alleged affray last Thursday night, in which Hemric was said to have whipped Johnson, Johnson sent for the latter to come to his station Saturday night. It is believed, reports have it, that Johnson had arranged with Boles, who was said to have been drinking, to pick an affray with Hemric when he appeared there about 2 a. m.

Sunday. The two were said to have gone outside the station near a fence on the edge of the highway fill, and were standing there when Johnson, the heavy wrench held behind him, appeared on the scene.

Johnson, in jail at Yadkinville, stated that Hemric walked into his place Sunday morning about 2 o'clock in a drunken condition and started to cause trouble. He said he attempted to put the young man out and then struck him over the head with a wrench.

Hemric, who was 25 years of age, is the son of the late Wesley Hemric. Funeral services were held at the home of his mother, Mrs. W. R. Hemric, on old Rural Hall road near Swaim's Baptist church in Ogburn Station in Forsyth county, at 12 o'clock noon Monday. Rev. E. C. Norman and Rev. T. O. Adams were in charge.
