Annual Christmas Party is Enjoyed by L. H. C. Club

The annual Christmas party for the Lucy Hanes Chatham Clubs was held Thursday evening at the club house, with approximately 100 guests attending. The guest list included the club members, mill superintendents and foremen of the local plant of Chatham Manufacturing company, Mr. and Mrs. Thurmond Chatham and Dicky Chatham and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. L. Benson and Barbara Ann Benson of Winston-Salem.

The club house was decorated with Christmas garlands and holly. A huge Christmas tree was also used. This was brilliantly lighted and laden with gifts.

Mrs. Thurmond Chatham, for whom the club is named, presented each member with a piece of costume jewelry.

A devotional period preceded the program, this was in charge of Mesdames Hugh Brannon, Grady Day and Bessie Gilliam. Miss Barbara Ann Benson played two violin solos "Holy Night" and "Come All Ye Faithful", accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. J. W. L. Benson. A duet "Away in the Manger" by Betty Jean Darnell and Bobby Martin was also enjoyed. Christmas carols, sung in unison by the guests, completed the program.

A social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Graham Newman, Miss Beatrice Burcham and Miss Etta Mathis directed a number of games and contests. Attractive prizes were awarded the winners in each.

Tempting refreshments were served late in the evening by Mrs. Noah Darnell, Mrs. Hope Brown, Mrs. Burrus Gray and Miss Dessie Reeves.

Yadkin Lime Rock Will Receive Test

at an early date.

It has long been known that lime deposits could be found in Yadkin county, the most likely place being the one known as the Lime Rock on the banks of the Yadkin river north of Smithtown. A few years ago this property was taken over by the state with a view to operating it but nothing much has been done.

Mr. Kerley who is a lime expert, is a native of Jonesville, Yadkin county.

WEDDING IS HALTED BY NOSEY OFFICERS

Paul Smith and his girl friend from Winston-Salem came to Yadkinville Christmas day to get married. However they made a fatal mistake the first move they made. Stopping in front of the court house they asked a deputy sheriff where the register of deeds was.

The deputy, noting the driver's condition, told him he didn't need a register of deeds at the moment and he was escorted to the Yadkin cooler, along with another man in the party, Paul Welborn. The two women were not molested but the planned wedding was off, temporarily at least, until Sunday. The girl came back for him Sunday and said she would marry him the minute he was released, but they did not marry in Yadkin.

Smith gave bond for his appearance at February term of court on a drunk driving charge, while Welborn paid the costs, for his jubilee.

Naughty officers who will spoil a Christmas wedding like that—and it was such a pretty girl.

THREE BOYS IN SHORT ROUTE TO BIG TROUBLE

Yadkinville, N. C. December 28.—Three Booneville boys remain in jail here on a charge of stealing a car belonging to Wade Williams, also of Booneville, during the holidays.

The three are Winnie Nichols, 27, Valk Finney, 21, and Raymond Cummings, 21. According to officers they took the car and headed east on 67 toward Winston-Salem, at a rapid rate of speed. Highway Patrolman Mitchell spotted them near East Bend and took them in charge. Magistrate T. A. Chipman bound them to higher court, setting bond at $1,000 each, which they have not given.

Nichols is no stranger to the law, having been in the courts here many times. Finney is of a prominent Booneville family. Cummings is not known here.

IN WASHINGTON

WHAT IS TAKING PLACE BY

Robert R. Reynolds
UNITED STATES SENATOR

As we close the eventful year of 1937 and look to 1938, it seems proper to cite that political events as recorded in 1837—a hundred years ago—bear a certain similarity to those of the year now ending. This is true despite the fact that the tempo of living is now faster and everyday happenings are under more complex conditions.

Then we head, as now, in the White House a President of the people, adored and followed. Then we had, as now, a Chief Executive whose every effort was to improve the status of the average man. Then we had, as now, a head of our government whose every ambition and every move was questioned by the groups representing so-called "big business." Then we had, as now, a President whose dreams of peace were termed by a few as dreams of war. Then we had, as now, in the White House a man whose efforts to lift the standards of the mass of citizens were branded as designed to change our very form of government.

What has happened in the United States during the last hundred years, is living proof that the critics of Andrew Jackson were wrong, as are those who question the motives and sincerity of

R. Frank Jester, who was 89 years old Dec. 14, lives at Jonesville, but is now a patient at the Elkin hospital. He was a member of Co. K, 37th Regiment, North Carolina Soldiers. He spent four years in the service and was never wounded. He has a son, Carl Jester, who was a soldier of the World War and was wounded. He is the father of nine children, five of them living. His wife is dead. —(Courtesy Winston-Salem Journal).

William F. Bryant, was 96 years old on June 6, 1937, and is now the oldest man in Yadkin county. He served three years in General Lee's army and was wounded only one time, a slacked ball going through his right hand in the battle at Fredericksburg, Va. He has three living children, Mrs. Jim Wagoner, with whom he now lives near Jonesville; another daughter, Mrs. Carolina Hudspeth and a son, Jake Bryant of the state of Washington. His wife died nine years ago. He has been a member of the Baptist church so long he doesn't remember when he joined. He says Baptists live longer. Mr. Bryant can read well with glasses and gets around good for his age. He'd like to go rabbit hunting, he said, if he had some good dogs. He was a member of Co. H, 54th Regiment. —(Courtesy Winston-Salem Journal).

NOTICE OF THE SERVICE OF SUMMONS BY PUBLICATION

North Carolina, Surry County, In the Superior Court Grank M. Adams, vs. Helen Farley Adams;

The defendant, Helen Farley Adams, will take notice that an action entitled as above has been commenced in the Superior Court of Surry County for the purpose of obtaining an absolute divorce on the grounds of adultery on the part of the defendant; the defendant will further take notice that she is required to appear before the undersigned Clerk of the Superior Court of Surry County, N. C. on or before the fifth day of February, 1938, and answer or demur to the complaint which has been filed in this cause or the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

This the 14th day of December, 1937.
F. T. LLEWELLYN,
Clerk Superior Court.

President Roosevelt today. The latter has no more desire to destroy or weaken American institutions than did Jackson.

The parallel in the careers of the two men are most significant, so much so that it has often been mentioned in Congress. This holiday season is a timely occasion to mention it again.

On the floor of the Senate, a noted Senator of a hundred years ago said of Jackson: "—where is there a chief magistrate of whom so much evil has been predicted, and from whom so much good has come? Never has any man entered upon the chief magistracy of a country under such appalling predictions of ruin and woe! Never has any one been so pursued with direful prognostications! Never has any one been so beset and impeded by powerful combination of political and moneyed confederates!"

Keeping in mind that the above words were uttered about President Jackson a century ago, it can be said that they could well be used today in speaking of President Roosevelt. Jackson was charged with endangering the public peace with foreign nations; with destroying domestic property at home, with ruining industry, commerce and manufacturers; destroying the currency and what not. A hundred years later we find the same charges being made against President Roosevelt.

Why? Because he dared to champion the cause of the average man and has continued to champion that cause. And this will prove his critics wrong as time has proven that the critics of Jackson were wrong.

What has transpired since the collapse of our country was predicted a hundreds ago is evidence enough of what we may expect ahead. Many things will be changed in the future as they have been changed in the past. But through it all our great system of government will be maintained.

New platforms, new programs, new policies and perhaps even new parties will come as they have come in the past. Yet, they will not change the basic principles of government. Those principles will stand as they now stand. Under them our country will move ahead and prosper. Upholding these principles is Franklin D. Roosevelt.

This column is a New Year greeting to our Chief Executive as it is a greeting to North Carolinians.
