Tribune To Present New Kind Of Cooking School

hustling home to duplicate the culinary triumphs. Free recipe sheets each day will provide added incentive.

Experienced housekeepers will thrill to the adventures of the winsome bride, whose husband begins to boil when he finds that she can't even boil water.

But this bride is blessed with resourceful determination, even though the faithful servant in her girlhood home made every effort to spoil her.

What happens after the honeymoon is over? What happens when the bride becomes aware of the critical gaze of some of her husband's old sweethearts, who are not apt to forget heavy biscuits in a hurry?

To unravel the mystery in advance would be to rob this clever tale of its novel approach. However the audience is due to share a series of neighborly food consultations, in which expert home specialists reveal the secrets which govern the perfection of flaky pie-crust, fluffy cakes, molded ice-cream marvels, appetizing salads and correctly roasted meats.

Never has the wizardry of the camera brought a subject more closely and naturally to the watchers.

It will be a real cooking class, just as though the model kitchen were right on the stage, with the exception that the view actually will be more complete for each person in the audience. The guests of The Tribune in the back rows will share the same close-ups of the busy mixing bowl which are being seen in the front rows of the Lyric.

When the graduated measuring spoons drop their level portions into the bowl, when the wooden spoon is creaming the shortening, and the dry ingredients are being sifted, each step of that measuring, blending and mixing process will be pictured faithfully through a series of fascinating close-ups.

This will be no direct-from-the-oven sample of speed or trick photography, but a thorough, real-life camera study of scientific methods, designed to be helpful, even while the story entertains.

So realistic is the atmosphere of the modern kitchens, with their gleaming, convenient equipment and cheery informality, that the audience really feels part of the scene. Soon the deft worker seems to be talking directly to each person in the theater, rather than to the puzzled bride.

Every listener will find a harvest of practical ideas among the suggestions for more efficient homemaking, covering such daily problems as laundry, refrigeration, up-to-date entertaining, beauty secrets, news of modernized home equipment and tips on making these mechanical servants yield the highest degree of usefulness.

Not only will the picture be free, but there will be a host of daily gifts and surprises arranged by The Tribune and participating firms, who are joining forces to make the unusual entertainment available to the community.

Reserve the dates February 1, 2, 3, on your calendar now and plan to join your neighbors in the Lyric Theatre.

Former Pastor of Church Here Dies

nal organizations. Perhaps no man in this section was better known and more beloved by all classes of people than Mr. Robinson.

His wife, who was Miss Nellie Rogers of Glasgow, Ky., died in 1906. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. James McDermid of Charlotte, and Miss Ellen Robinson of North Wilkesboro and one son, Edmund P. Robinson of North Wilkesboro, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from the North Wilkesboro Presbyterian church. The body lay in state in the church from 12 o'clock noon until the hour of the service. The rites were in charge of Rev. Joe Carter of Anderson, S. C., assisted by Rev. Watt M. Cooper, who had served as associate pastor with Rev. Mr. Robinson at North Wilkesboro for the past year. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

The arena of real manhood is never crowded.

Alarm Is Felt As Third Victim Dies of Disease

Wade, Herbert, Tommie and Allen Johnson, of Booneville; Mrs. Eck Reece, of Elkin, Mrs. Hamey Barker, Mrs. Robert Transou and Mrs. George Williams, all of Booneville.

Alarm Is Felt
Citizens of Booneville have been alarmed this week over the situation, although no definite cases have been located outside the Johnson family.

State Epidemiologist J. C. Knox of Raleigh was due in Booneville yesterday afternoon to confer with school authorities over the matter.

Dr. Hege said he is of the opinion a number of children at Booneville have had "mild cases" of meningitis. Symptoms are severe headaches accompanied by violent nausea, he said. It is quite possible for a person to have a "mild" case that would pass off within a few days leaving practically no trace, he said.

"Cultures" from mucous membranes of a number of persons at Booneville have been sent to state laboratories. Several "suspects" have been found as a result of the cultures, but no positive cases have been found other than the three Johnsons who died of meningitis, he said.

Addition To Hugh Chatham Hospital Is Dedicated Here

as host to both local and out-of-town contributors to the hospital at a banquet held at Hotel Elkin Thursday evening.

W. B. Carter, president of the club, presided, first introducing Rev. L. B. Abernethy, who expressed his appreciation for the help and cooperation which had made the hospital possible.

Dr. Weaver also made a short talk in which he stated that it was a real pleasure to him that the hospital had been named in honor of the late Hugh G. Chatham. He commended Rev. Mr. Abernethy highly for the part he has played in fathering the hospital movement here and stated that in his opinion Mr. Abernethy should be voted Elkin's first citizen.

Bishop Kern was the principal speaker of the evening. He stated that it was his belief that if the Conference had searched the entire state over, they could not have found a more hospitable and kindly community for the hospital.

Business Heads Talk With F. R. On U. S. Problems

tween government and business, saying that there is a little better feeling on both sides. He also believes that business is somewhat better than it was a month ago.

This statement was concurred in by Mr. Weir who added, "we will be very glad to come down here at any time the President wants to see us," but said no further meetings were planned, the call being with the chief executive.

Their appearance at the White House followed a conference between the President and Gov. Frank Murphy, of Michigan, during which the latter discussed the situation in the automobile industry, giving to the former considerable background which the chief executive is said to have made use of in talking with Mr. Sloan.

JR. ORDER INSTALLS OFFICERS TUESDAY

A special meeting of the Junior order was held in the lodge hall Friday evening, with a large number of members present. After transacting other important matters of business the following officers were installed to serve during the ensuing year: Councilor, J. Bent Martin; vice-councilor, Worth Ray; financial secretary, H. D. Transou; recording secretary, R. L. Lovelace; assistant recording secretary, G. Cline Cooper; chaplain, A. A. Newman; warden, Glenn Rhyne; conductor, Loyd Martin; inside sentinel, T. G. Gambill; outside sentinel, T. M. Gambill; treasurer, J. C. Martin. Trustees are: S. O. Maguire, J. B. Martin and A. A. Newman. S. E. Newman is past councilor of the order.

Every member is urged to be present at the meeting this week when other matters of importance will be discussed.

Miss Hattie Hilton of Winston-Salem spent the week-end here the guest of Miss Margaret Holcomb.

The terms "a church" and "The church" are not necessarily synonymous in meaning or homogeneous in every day life.
