

Hitler Agrees to Conference; Will Gather at Munich

ever, the strongly worded message of Mr. Roosevelt, plus the influence of Mussolini, resulted in a postponement for 24 hours the march of German troops while the heads of the four powers desperately seek a solution to the problem which threatens to send the entire world into chaos.

Late reports received by The Tribune by radio from Europe Wednesday stated that President Benes, of Czechoslovakia, is planning to resign. The report had not been confirmed.

EARLIER REPORTS

Washington, Sept. 27 — President Roosevelt tonight addressed a new peace appeal to Chancellor Hitler.

The President said the "fate of the world today and tomorrow" now is at stake.

His telegram went to Berlin at 10 p.m., eastern standard time, following conferences with state department officials. It was directed only to Hitler.

Appealing to the German chancellor to continue at all costs present negotiations, the chief executive said:

"In my considered judgment and in the light of the experience of this century continued negotiations remain the only way by which the immediate problem can be disposed of upon any lasting basis.

"Should you agree to a solution in this peaceful manner," the message continued, "I am convinced that hundreds of millions throughout the world would recognize your action as an outstanding historic service to all humanity."

"Allow me to state my unqualified conviction that history and the souls of every man, woman and child whose lives will be lost in the threatened war will hold us and all of us accountable should we omit any appeal for its prevention."

The message was in answer to Hitler's reply to Mr. Roosevelt's first peace appeal, in which the chancellor had pointed to what he called the historical mistakes of the Versailles treaty.

London, Sept. 27—The entire British navy was ordered mobilized tonight and a "state of emergency" was decreed for the nation on a call by Prime Minister Chamberlain for the empire to prepare for war—if fight it must.

The admiralty suddenly announced at midnight the mobilization of the world's most powerful navy in the face of an imminent threat of war.

Under the same threat, King George and the privy council decreed the state of emergency.

Earlier Chamberlain told the empire and the world in a six-minute radio broadcast that he would try for peace "until the last moment."

LETTER TELLS OF HORROR IN CHINA

Mrs. Eph Whisenhunt of this city, received on Sunday four letters dating from July 2 to August 20th, from her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Lawton of Kuling, China. Excerpts from the letters, showing the horrors of war, follow:

"The enemy is seven miles distant, encircling the mountains. Rice and flour cannot be obtained anywhere and eggs are 25c apiece; planes flying overhead daily, often in formation of 12; the morning of the 20th an explosion next door, pieces of shrapnel were found, one woman wounded.

"Ten cases of cholera were discovered and the health authorities forbade all raw fruits and vegetables as the cholera germ lives in raw foodstuffs. One thousand refugees arrived after they had been living on bark and roots for a week. The city fed them two days and sent them on; it will take them a week to walk to the next town and many will fall by the wayside.

"Men killing men is bad enough, but slow starvation of innocent women and children and ravages made upon them are some of the grosser horrors of war."

Mrs. Whisenhunt has often been unable to hear from her parents, who are missionaries to China, for months, since the outbreak of the war between China and Japan.
