BURCH

Of interest to friends here and elsewhere is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Ila Mae Patton, of near Boonville, to Warren Hudson, of Jonesville route 1. They were married at Independence, Va., Saturday afternoon, November 26, at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Funk, pastor of the Methodist church of Independence, Va., officiated, using the ring ceremony. Miss Patton wore a lovely suit of teal blue with matching accessories.

She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Patton, of near Boonville. Mr. Hudson is the youngest son of the late Mr. Bingham Hudson, of Montana, and Mrs. C. O. Reece, of Jonesville Route 1. They are making their home at the home of the bridegroom's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Coster and little daughter, of Salisbury, were here last week, the guests of Mrs. Coster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Whitaker.

Little Miss Joan Chandler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Chandler, who has been seriously ill at Hugh Chatham Memorial hospital at Elkin, was able to return home Sunday, her many friends will be glad to learn.

Those from here who attended Mr. Paul B. Collins' singing at Mountain View Baptist church last week were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sneed, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chappell and Mr. and Mrs. Win-

Same Old Christmas Tree—But How Different!

In the fifty years between 1888 and 1935, the Christmas Tree has grown up more rapidly than in all its previous centuries of existence. The old candles, flaming and askew, have given place to brilliant little electric solar systems, the decorations have become simpler and more streamlined.

Most modern and streamlined of all are the Christmas presents nestling at the foot of the ancient tree. Whole villages and plants, ready-cut and fitted, waiting to be erected; electric trains flashing through and over minute models of the most famous tunnels and bridges, a host of streamlined presents, ranging from the most subtle and delicate applications of electricity, to the fully automatic electric toaster, long-established as the center of the modern breakfast table.

The well known artist, Virginia Fowler, has shown above, two halves of the Christmas Tree, one bearing the decorations and presents of 1888; the other, those of 1935. And the young woman of the earlier picture, is the grandmother of the later!

del R. Wilmoth. Mr. Collins will begin a singing at Asbury Methodist church near Brooks Cross Roads Monday, January 2, at 6:30 o'clock. All singers are invited to come and take a part.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Burton, of Union Cross, are spending several days this week at Spray, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Burton, the former their son.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Sneed and J. M., Jr., of Winston-Salem, were here Sunday visiting friends and relatives.

Rev. A. B. Hayes, of Mountain View, will fill his regular appointment at Union Cross Baptist church Saturday evening and Sunday morning. The public is cordially invited to attend.

M. A. Gaither, of Winston-Salem, was a business visitor here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Coney Burton, of Union Cross, were here Sunday visiting friends and relatives.

There will be a singing convention at Friendship Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. All singers are invited to come and take a part.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hampton, of Arlington, spent the week-end here with Mr. Hampton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hampton.

NEW BOARD ELECTS D. A. REYNOLDS

Get Off to Good Start Monday as Two Democrats Are Sworn in

AMBURN IS APPOINTED

Yadkinville, Dec. 8.—(Special.)—Two Democratic county commissioners took their seat at the council table here Monday morning for the first time in over 50 years. They were D. A. Reynolds, Yadkinville business man, who was elected chairman of the board, and J. W. Shore, Boonville banker. Sitting with them was L. L. Smitherman, East Bend merchant, and Republican member of the board. All were sworn in early Monday morning and started on their new duties immediately.

Many of their friends of the democratic faith in various sections of Yadkin county were on hand to see them inducted into office. Only once in the past 50 years has a Democrat been elected county commissioner in Yadkin county, he being Paul P. Davis, who was elected by five votes in 1932.

Some Changes

It was to be expected that changes would be made in some of the positions held by Republicans and which places were filled by the County Commissioners.

J. H. P. Shore, who had been keeper of the county home for 20 years, and whose term expired next July 1, tendered his resignation effective Jan. 1. Jim Bray, of the Center section, Boonville, route 1, was appointed to fill his place. Bray is a former prison guard at the local camp.

James F. Amburn, of Boonville, was appointed to the position of county accountant and tax supervisor, succeeding Nelson B. Cass-tevens, whose term expired Monday. Mr. Amburn has already taken charge. He is a son of L. F. Amburn, Boonville, and recently has held a bookkeeping position in Elkin.

The county attorneyship was not taken up Monday at all. There is said to be several applicants for the place.

The county commissioners will meet again next Monday to make a settlement with the sheriff and transact other county business.

There was a very friendly attitude around the court house Monday among the Republicans, the incoming Democrats and their friends.

STATE ROAD

Despite the damp, foggy weather the Mt. Pleasant Sunday school attendance was as large last Sunday as usual.

Practice for the Christmas program was started December 4 at 6:30 o'clock at Mt. Pleasant church.

Mrs. Garland Carter, of Jonesville, was the guest of her mother here Saturday.

Messrs. Mackie and DeWitt Royall are starting a general store in State Road. They are planning to open this week with a large display of goods.

Miss Ruth Pettyjohn, of this community, is visiting friends in Littlestown, Pa.; and will not be home before the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Ivan William, a former resident of State Road, is in the Winston-Salem hospital, and, according to a telegram yesterday, at the verge of death.

Mrs. Eugene Chipman is seriously ill at her home, her friends will regret to learn.

Messrs. Luther Smith and J. J.

Defibaugh are starting a young men's club at State Road. Anyone interested in joining will please consult Mr. Harold Norman, secretary, for full particulars.

Guernsey Sale to Follow Banquet

A promotion sale of purebred Guernseys will be held at the farm of M. F. Shore, near Brooks Crossroads, on Friday, December 16, L. F. Brumfield, county agent, announced Monday.

The sale will follow a banquet for Guernsey breeders and their guests at the Yadkinville high school building the night previous when 100 or more people are expected to be present for the feed and speeches that will follow.

Banquet speakers will include H. C. Bates, of Atlanta, field representative of American Guernsey Cattle Club; W. W. Fitzpatrick, manager of Quail Roost Farm, Durham; and J. A. Arey, extension dairyman of State college, and perhaps local speakers.

Brumfield said the sale would afford Yadkin farmers splendid opportunities to secure foundation stock for their farm.

He also said the animals represent the best blood in the Guernsey breed.

They were selected, he said, by a committee of extension representatives from some of the leading herds in North Carolina.

Among the farms from which cattle will be held are M. F. Shore, Cycle; Klondike Farm, Elkin; Quail Roost Farm, Rougemont; Osborne Farm, Canton, and A. L. Brown Farm, Concord.

The sale will be held at noon at Shore's farm, one mile west of Brooks Cross Roads.

AUSTIN

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lyon and sons, Amos and Kermit, spent the week-end at Lexington, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lyon.
