WASHINGTON, May 22. — Selective service Director Lewis B. Hershey today announced draft changes under which most men 30 and over will be deferred indefinitely while many of those in the 18-29 bracket will be called up even if they hold essential jobs. He told a news conference that induction of men over 29 will be halted immediately if local draft boards find they are engaged in work contributing to national welfare. Fathers over 29 will be given sympathetic consideration and in most cases be deferred simply by virtue of their parenthood. He revealed that selective service plans to fill 45 per cent of the 90,000 July draft call with 18-year olds, 33 per cent from the 19-25 group and the remainder from men 26-29 and those over 29 whom "we can't avoid taking."

Turned down in a committee considering trusteeships for dependent and strategic areas of the world, was an Egyptian amendment which would have placed mandates from the last world war under supervision of a new league. That would have covered such islands as the Marshalls, Marianas, and Carolines, mandated to Japan after the last conflict and snatched from her this one at the cost of American lives and blood.

SHORE MOTION BEFORE HAYES

Yadkin Man, Indicted By OPA, Attempting To Have Charges Killed

AT WILKESBORO COURT

A motion by Harvey Shore, Yadkin county man, to have OPA's case against him thrown out of court on grounds of illegal seizure of evidence, was being argued in Federal court at Wilkesboro Wednesday afternoon before Judge Johnson J. Hayes as The Tribune went to press.

Charged with dealing in counterfeit gasoline and sugar coupons, Shore filed in District court at Wilkesboro a motion to suppress government evidence and squash the case.

After eluding Federal officers since the latter part of March, Shore surrendered to U. S. Marshal R. A. Stafford last Saturday and was brought before Commissioner M. W. Mackie in Yadkinville, where he made bond of $5,000 for his appearance at the current term of Federal court in Wilkesboro.

OPA officials charge Shore with the possession and sale of counterfeit gasoline and sugar coupons, and the operation of a regular black market business. Mr. Shore was tried in Federal court in Winston-Salem May 9 on four counts in the same case. Judge Hayes sentenced her to two years in a federal penitentiary plus a $5,000 fine.

Investigator E. J. George of the Office of Price Administration is the principal witness for the Government in this case, having been to the Shore home twice for the purpose of buying the illegal coupons. He was tipped off to the Shores' alleged black market activities by Dwight W. Holder, a young Winston-Salem sailor, who heard about the setup while he was home on leave.

MANY ENTRIES ARE EXPECTED

Believe 100 Or More Baby Bees Will Be Entered In Fall Beef Show

MEETING IS HELD HERE

It is expected that 100 or more entries this fall will be attracted to the Elkin Fat Stock and Wool Show and Sale, Garland Johnson, mayor of Elkin and a member of the Elkin Agricultural Committee, said Tuesday during a meeting here with boys and girls and their parents who are planning to enter baby bees.

The meeting was held at Neaves Park, with County Agent Neill Smith as host. Approximately 50 were present.

L. I. Case, extension specialist of State College, addressed the youngsters on the fine points of feeding cattle for shows. He advised them to make their show cattle a practical proposition rather than a "gamble for the grand champion place."

The tentative date for the 1945 Elkin Fat Stock and Wool Show and Sale was set as October 9 and 10.

Thirty-eight of the approximately 100 boys and girls who are expected to have entries this Fall were present yesterday afternoon. The group first gathered at Neaves Park for Mr. Case's address. Later they assembled at W. A. Neaves' cattle barn for a cattle judging contest. Afterwards they went to the park again for a picnic supper.

Incident to the meeting, Mayor Johnson announced that a host of 4-H Club and F. F. A. boys and girls would be entertained at the annual show and sale this Fall. The girls will be entertained at private homes in Elkin, while the boys will be asked to bring their own bedding and sleep in the Elkin high school gymnasium.

An annual parade will be held in connection with the show and sale, as has been the custom for the past two years.

Mayor Johnson said plans were under way to build a shed in which to hold the show, but that it was questionable whether necessary priorities could be obtained to complete the shed this Fall. The building is to be erected near the high school gymnasium.
