LEAF QUALITY IS HIGH

Nearly 6,000,000 pounds of tobacco was sold at an average of $48 to $50 per 100 pounds on opening day of the Old Belt market, federal and state agriculture agencies reported. Most growers appeared satisfied with prices received except for some of the lower grade leaf.

Absence of OPA ceiling prices allowed a much greater range in the opening day sales than was observed last year. Poorest thin nondescript brought only $5 per hundred while some top-notch piles of good lemon cutter went for as much as $67 per hundred.

Leading the marked increases were low to good cutters and good choice lugs, up from $1 to $22 per hundred. Low and common leaf and nondescript fell from $1 to $22 per 100 pounds.

Murder Cases Not Yet Up For Disposal

Although four murder cases, including the abortion-murder of Mrs. Annie Mae Anderson which occurred here last month, were scheduled to be tried early this week, the first three days of Surry County Superior Court were mostly devoted to divorces, reckless drivers, and prohibition violators.

The more sensational cases, Dobson observers predict, will be called later in the two week session. Nevertheless, the court room has been from the beginning jammed with spectators anticipating the murder trials.

Actually only three murder cases remain on the docket, since

According to an as yet unconfirmed report, Solicitor Ralph Scott has indicated that he anticipates a defense motion to have the Elkin abortion-murder case transferred from Surry County to the Alleghany County Superior Court. Dr. B. O. Choate, one of the defendants, is a native of Alleghany, and the abortion which resulted in the death of Mrs. Annie Mae Anderson was allegedly committed in Sparta. Other defendant in the case is Clarence W. Seagle of Charlotte, Mrs. Anderson's companion at the time of her death.

Alex Hudspeth and Bill Lee Daye, both arrested here last summer and charged with violating the prohibition law appeared before Judge Warlick Monday afternoon.
