Important Caban Expedition Stopped in New York Harbor.

SAD BLOW TO THE PATRIOTS.

The Leaders Held and a British Steamer Seized ... General Calinto Garcia and Four Others Held-Forty Tons of Arms and Ammunition, Two Tugs and a Lighter Captured.

NEW York. Pobruary 26 .- The biggest raid yet made since sympathising Cubans in this country first began assisting to the revolution on the Island of Cuba by sending expeditions to maist Comes and his men was made by United States Marshal McCarthy and his men between midnight and 4 o'clock Meterday morning. In this raid the Federal officers seized the steamship Bermuda and three tues, and got over 150 prisoners.

That the Cubans were betrayed by a traitor in their councils there is no doubt, for or in their couleds there is no donot, for they were led into a trap set by the Soan-lards and captured with the assistance of the author-ties at Washington.

The saddest blow to the Cubans was the hapiure of Ganeral Calino Garcia, who was to have led the expedition. General Garcia was also the lender of the fill-fated Hawkins expedition.

expedition.

Had it not been for the interference of Marshal McCartby and his men General Garcia would have started with the finest expedition that has as yet been fitted out to aid the patriots in their fight for liberty.

Benides the prisoners and the boats captured the Marshal and his men also got all of the ammunition and firearms that were about to be transferred from a tugoost to the Bermuda. Altogether the work of the United States officers was as complete as possible.

Sixy-nine of the prisoners captured were brought to the Federal building and placed in a room under guard. They are a fine looking lot of men, most of them ranging between the ages of twenty and thirty wears. They were all well dressed, and a Cuban who had called to see one of the number stated that most of those arrested were representatives of the best families in Cuba. All of the prisoners were gray slouch hats. Besides the sixty-nine men in the Federal building the Marshal and his men also hat sixty others in custody and thirty-two men who composed the crew of the Bermuda. The tug boats W. J. Motaldin and McCaldin Brothers, with the steam lighter J. S. T. Stranshan, which were captured a ongified the steamer by the marshals, and which, with the Arrow and cutters, were subsequently used in transferring the men to the shore, are also in the custody of the cuthorities. At 10.3) o'clock the tugs Edmund M. Timmiles and George L. Garliek brought separate batches of prisoners from the Bermuda to the Barge Office. They were immediately busiled, under guard of mambals, to the Postoffice, where the arraignment was arranged for noon.

Bordenfeldt pieces.

The second batch reached the Postoffice shortly after 11 c'clock, and Assistant United States District Attorney Hinman, who has charge of the prosecution, together with Chief Hogan, of the Sucret Service, and Americ Rose of the New York banch, but Agent Bogg, of the New York branch, had a sonference. The result was that all the men, with four exceptions, were released by Dep-uty E. W. Bostwick, who said: "You chaps may go."

The four men held were General Garcia, Dr. Ruiz, Captain Samuel Hughes and E. Hernandez. These were taken from the room where the men had been confined, and, under guide of half a dozen marshals, with the confined and a big crowd in their wake, were escorted to the pen, which is on the north aids of the building.

When the Assistant United States District Attorney was asked why the leaders were held and the others allowed to go, he re-plied that he was samply following tele-graphic instructions from Washington.

Senator Frye accurately described the condition of the tariff bill, passed early in the session by the House of Representatives, when he said during the proceedings in the Senate: "It is as deal as Julius Cessar." Senator Mortill, of Vermont, the Chairman of the Finance Committee, had demonstrated a few months before to the Senate and the constraints that the bill conduct not senate. and the country that the bill could not even be considered because five Republican Senators had deserted their party, and he had followed this statement with the public announcement that he would not take the time of the Senate

The first vote disclosed the fact that the silver Republicans had gained one vote—that of Senator Cannon, of Utah. The five Republicans was voted against consideration were Senators Cannon, Carter, Dubols, Manile and Teller.

Edgar Wilson Nye, the humorous writer, died at his home, "Buck Shoals," eight miles from Asheville, N. C. He was stricken by paralysis ten days before. . He lay since then in a helpless condition, neither speak-ing to nor recognizing any one. His wife and children were at his beyalde when the end peaceably came.

EDGAR W. NYE. Edvar W. "Bill" Nye was born on August 28, 1850, in Shirley, Pleataquis County, Me. He was brought up, however, on a farm on the banks of the St. Croix River, Wis., his parents going West when he was two years old. He received an neademical education at River Falls, Wis., and in 1876 was admitted to the bar in Wyoming Territory. He says he himself finally heeded the warning of the authorities not to practice law after his law practice was nearing zero. His first effort at writing was in the Cheyome Sun at $1 a column. He worked for a time on the Denver Tribune and then became the editor of the Laramie Boomering. He christened the paper after an obstinate mule he owned, which he called Boomerang, because, he said, "you could never tell where it won d strike." The mule was in a livery stable, over which was Bill Nye's editorial sanctum. Callers were instructed "to twist the tail of the gray walls and take the toria sanctum.
