Judge Crisp went to Atlanta six weeks ago suffering from a typical case of malarial fever, which had developed at his home in Americus. He spent June, July and a part of August in the mountains of North Carolina and Teanessee. His return to middle Georgia during the very hottest period of the summer developed the fever. After a weeks treatment by his physician the foverdisappeared. Sunday he was attacked with symptons of his old trouble, pneu-monia. On Wednesday and Thursday Judge

Crisp's condition improved, but he received no callers. His family was hopeful until 10 o'clock Thursday night, when he had a paroxysm of pain near the heart. At midnight there was another paroxyism and they continued at intervals all through the night and forero in. He suffered intense pain but was conscious up to the very last. At 1:30, his son, Charles F, Crisp, Jr., and his younger brother and sisters, went across the street to the hotel for lunch, Mrs. Crisp remaining with her husband. At 1:40 the pain reappeared. A messenger was sent for the children. They came rapidly and just in time to get some list glances of recognition.

Judge Crisp did not speak, dying within five minutes of the last attack. All of his children were with him, and although they had been warned by the physicians that dath night come at any moment, when it did come it was tragic in his suddenness.

Governor Atkinson was his last visitor, having called on Sunday, when he and the judge chatted for an hour on current topics. Judge Crisp was keenly interested in politics until the last. He opposed fusion with the Populists and charged Governor Atkinson to detent it if he possibly could in Georgia.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the German-American Democratic Association of the above named city. The hall was decorated with American flars, and when the speaker made his appearance the vast audience arose as one man, waved flags and cheered for several minutes.

Congressman Sulzer made a brief speech, which was followed by Governor Altgeld, who was received with a storm of cheers and a cry of "We love you for the enemies you have made."

The greater part of Governor Altgeld's speech, which was a very long one, was devoted to a justification of his attitude during the Chicago railroad strike two years ago. He quoted the telegraphic correspondence had with various sheriffs, railroad officials and the Federal authorities at the time, and saked his audience to judge whether he had not, under the circumstances, done his full duty as Governor. He denounced the gold standard, Federal Interference and government by injunction, under which, he said, the Constitution and the laws can be trampled upon and every principle of free government brushed away with a mere wave of the hand

FIRED ON FILIBUSTERS.

The Cruiser Raleigh Captures the Dauntless and Her Escort.

HOVE TO BY SOLID SHOT.

Brought the Fleeing Steamer Danntless to a Halt as She Steamed for Cuba--- A Prize Crew Was Put on Board and the Capture Taken in Charge--- A Tug With Arms and Coal Aboard Captured

Jacksonville, Fla. (Special).-The steamer Dauntless and the tug R. L. Mabey, employed by the Cuban Junta in transporting arms and ammunition to the insurgents on the island of Cuba, were captured early Wednesday morning off the east coast of Florida by the United States cruiser Raieigh after a chase, during which the marship used her guns.

The Dauntless left Palm Beach over two weeks ago with a filibustering expedition, and since then, it is claimed, she has made two more trips to the island, securing the arms from one of the Florida keys, where the Cuban agents have established a sort of warehouse. The State Department at Washington have been greatly worried by the success of the Dauntiess as a fillbuster, and the Raleigh was sent South under orders to seize the vessel at all hazards.

When the Raleigh arrived off St. Augustine, her commander was informed that the

When the Raleigh arrived off St. Augustine, her commander was informed that the Dauntless was below New Smyrna waiting for the R. L. Mabey to bring her a cargo of coal and arms. The Raleigh immediately steamed south, and about 6 o'clock a. m. sighted the Dauntless well out at sea. A signal from the Raleigh was disregarded by the Dauntless, and the latter vessel crowded on steam and tried to escape.

Then the Raleigh fired a blank cartridge which startled the New Smyrna people and sent them to the house lops, where they could scan the sea. They saw the Raleigh in her chase of the Dauntless, the latter apparently going so fast that the former sent a solid shot access the filibuster's bows, but still the Dauntless pursued her course. Another solid shot was fired by the cruiser which struck the water near the Dauntless and threw waves all over her. Then the which struck the water near the Dauntiess and threw waves all over her. Then the Dauntiess came to and the Baleigh sent a prize crew or board.

As the Baleigh and Dauntiess came up the cost, the tug R. L. Mabey was sighted. The Mabey headed for Mosquito Inlet and tried to escape, but was brought to by three solid shots in quick succession from the Raieigh. Two of the shots struck within ten feet of the Mabey and caused the little tug to reel as though she had been dealt a mortal blow. A prize crew from the Raieigh was also sent aboard the Mabey and they found her loaded deep with coal and arms for the Dauntiess. The Dauntiess, it is said, had no arms on board.

The Raleigh proceeded north with her prizes and arrived off St. John's Bar, where the fillbusters are now laying under the cruiser's guns. The Dauntless and Mabey will be sent up to Jacksonville in the morning and turned over to the United States officials.

PRINCETON'S SESQUICENTENNIAL

The President and Mrs. Cleveland Join in the Unique [Celebration.

Never was there such a college celebration as that which macks the sesquicentennial of Princeton University, at Princeton, N. J. The first day was all decorous and scholarly. On the second day the morning was devoted to learning, the afternoon to athletics and the evening to enthusiasm, display, fireworks. In her maddest celebration of athletic victor-les Princeton never saw such a demonstra-

STATE FAIR OPENS.

More Exhibits Than Were Ever Known Before.

The annual State fair opened at Raleigh Monday. The exhibits this year is better than previous ones. Below is a sumnary of the exhibits in the different departments, as taken from the Raleigh News and Observer of Tues-

'Floral Hall, proper, is as usual the gem of the Fair. Here are displayed the finest and costliest of the exhibits. Perhaps the most unique and elaborate of these, certainly the one that will attract the most attention is, as usual, that of Col. Julian S. Carr's famous Occonechee Farm.
"The educational exhibit is something new, but something that will attract the attention of every serious visitor to the Fair. In it is a poem and a prophecy combined. The ex-hibits, beautiful and ingenious in themselves, are artistically arranged and, formed by the hands of the stu-dents in North Carolina schools. They give an idea of what the rising generation are being taught to accomplish in the world for themselves and for humanity. There is no more interesting spot in all the Fair Grounds than among these exhibits. The University, State Normal and Industrial School, Peace Institute, St. Mary's, Guilford College, Durham and Raleigh Graded Schools.

"Among the industries of the State, Raleigh is represented by the Caraleigh Phosphate Mills, Caraleigh Cotton Mills, Raleigh Cotton Mills and Lobdell Car Wheel Works.

"Other general exhibitors are L. W. Holt, of Burlington; T. W. Wood & Co., of Richmond; Courtlandt Wagon Company, of Kentucky; Clark Manu-facturing Company, of New Jersey; miles above Natchez, Miss.

"The exhibit of poultry is complete and exceedingly fine. The principal exhibitors are: The Occoneechee Farm, Hillsboro; Riverside Poultry Farm, New Berne, F. E. Hege, Salem, and Oscar Fisher, Salem.

"There has never been so many fine horses and cattle on the grounds. And hogs-they were too, grunting and rolling in their fatness; and sheep, too, a plenty of them. In short, there is a most magnificent display of all kinds of farm products, not only of all kinds of farm products, not only stock, but everything else—grain, hay, root-crops and every other conceivable thing from a pumpkin to a peanut."

FIGURES ON NORTH CALOLINA.

Some Arithmetical Calculations From Republican Headquarters.

George Pell, in a communication from Washington, D. C., to the Charlotte Observer, makes a calculation on the voting strength of the Democrats and Republicans in the coming election, as well as the other parties. Here are the figures:

Number of negroes in North Carolina, according to de census of 1890, who are over the age of 21, 109,000. Number of whites, 233,000. Add 5,-000 for increase since. Number of negroe going to vote this year, 92,600. Number to vote for McKinley, 83,000; for Bryan, 9.355 (this includes all Democratic and Populist negroes, "and all whose votes will be tampered with"). Number to vote for Russell, 76,200; Guthrie and Dockery, 14,220; Watson,

Number of white Republicans, 73,-000. Number going to vote this year, 65,700. Number for McKinley, 61,101; for Bryan, 4,599; Russell, 61,600;

Guthrie, 3,100; Watson, 1,000. White Democrats in North Carolina, 140,000. Number to vote this year, 130,200. For Bryan, 127,590; Me-Kinley, 1,559; Palmer, 851. For Watson, 130,093; Guthrie, 107.

White Populists in North Carolina, 25,000. Colored Populists, 7,358 (included in Bryan's Negro vote). Total Populist vote, 32,358. Of the 25,000, 28,112 will vote. Of these Bryan will get 19,263 (the balance won't vote for the Presidential ticket). Guthrie will get 21,200; Watson, 1,302; Russell, Summing all this up, the Republican informant states the vote to be: Mo-Kinley, 145,660; Bryan, 160,807. Bryan's majority, 15,147.

For Governor: Russell, 138,400; Watson, 134,675; Guthrie, 3,627. Plurality for Russell, 3,725.
