Story of The Election.

In Minnesota a Democrat has been elected Governor, but Bryan has lost the State.
In Ohio a Democrat has been elected Governor, but Bryan lost the State.
In Indiana a Democrat has been elected Governor, but Bryan has lost the State.
In North Dakota a Democrat has been elected Governor, but Bryan lost the state.
In Montana a Democrat probably has been elected Governor, but Bryan lost the State.
In New York the Democratic candidate for Governor ran 150,000 ahead of Bryan.
In Illinois the Democratic candidate for Governor ran far ahead of Bryan.
In Nebraska the Democratic candidate for Governor ran far ahead of Bryan.
Throughout the South Mr. Bryan received a smaller vote than in his two previous campaigns.
There is the story. Discerning Democrats hoped and prayed last spring that Mr. Bryan would stand aside and give some other Democrat a chance—a Democrat who would have some prospect of winning. They were denounced as enemies of the party. Their better insight was described as hatred of the Nebraskan. After Mr. Bryan's nomination factional differences were laid aside, and he had a free field to show what he could do. The result shows that he was beaten from the moment he was nominated at Denver.

Now, let the Democracy grasp the thrice-emphasized fact that the American people do not want Mr. Bryan in the White House.—Washington Post.
"I tell you," went on the old woman at a hotel, getting quite angry, "I won't have this room. I ain't going to pay my money for a pigsty, and, as for sleeping in one of them folding beds I simply won't do it!"
"Get on in Mum," with a weary expression on his face. "This ain't your room it's the elevator.

and as a result am now relieved of all my pains, and am doing all my housework." No matter what symptoms your female trouble may cause, the most reliable, scientific remedy for them, is Cardui. Try it. At all Druggists E31

How is your Digestion?
Mrs. Mary Dowling of No. 228 8th Ave., San Francisco, recommends remedy for stomach trouble. She says: "Gratitude for the wonderful effect of Electric Bitters in a case of acute indigestion, prompts this testimonial. I am fully convinced that for stomach and liver troubles Electric Bitters is the best remedy on the market today." This great tonic and alterative medicine invigorates the system, purifies the blood and is especially helpful in all forms of female weakness. 50c at Elkin Drug Co.'s drug store.

Billy Martin, aged four, came to his mother and in great ecstasy exclaimed.
"Oh mother! Louise and Carberry found such a nice dead cat, and they are going to have a funeral, and can I go?" Permission was given, and when Billy returned he was questioned as to the outcome of the funeral.
"They did not have it at all."
"And why not?"
"Mother," was the answer, "the cat was too dead."

Watched Fifteen Years.
"For fifteen years I have watched the working of Bucklen's Arnica Salve; and it has cured me of every sore, boil, ulcer or burn to which it was applied. It has saved us many a doctor bill," says A. F. Hardy, of East Wilton, Maine. 25c. at Elkin Drug Co.'s drug store.

GHOSTS OF OLD FRIENDS DRIVE TWO MEN INSANE

Imagining that the ghosts of dead friends were haunting them, two men became insane and were taken to City Hospital Friday.

One is a locomotive fireman who thought he saw the mangled forms of his two friends as he passed over the spot where they were killed. The other is a night watchman who imagined that the spirit of his old employer came to him in the factory and walked around with him.

The mental strain of having to ride an engine at full speed every day or two over a stretch of track where two of his friends had been mangled and killed in a train wreck so oppressed the mind of Roy M. Scott, the locomotive fireman, that he became a raving maniac.

Scott is 27 years old and lived at 4400 Gibson avenue, St. Louis. He was employed by the Frisco Railroad.

Early last month a passenger train on the Frisco going at full speed left the rails near Carthage, Mo., and the engine and some of the cars rolled down a high embankment.

Harry Johnson, the fireman, of Pacific, Mo., and Engineer Blood went down with their engine, which crushed them to death.

They were both personal friends of Scott and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers sent him to Carthage to bring the bodies back.

Scott saw the mangled bodies of his friends and went to the spot where the engine had rolled down the embankment.

It made a deep impression upon his mind and when he next went over that spot on his engine he was greatly agitated.

Thereafter, whenever he was approaching this spot with his engine, he would become nervous and excited. It grew worse with every trip, until at last he would crouch in a corner of the cab until the spot was passed. He declared that the place was haunted and that he could see the ghosts of his two friends beckoning to him.

At last his friends took the form of acute insanity and he was placed in the observation ward of the City Hospital. The Board of Health, declared Thursday that he was insane.

Twenty-eight years as a night watchman, alone each night in a great factory and going with his lantern from floor to floor, peering into dark corners and listening to strange noises of the night, at last broke down the mind of Jeremiah Sheehan, and Friday morning his brother, John Sheehan, a policeman, took him to the City Hospital for observation.

Jeremiah Sheehan was night watchman in the factory of the L. M. Rumsey Manufacturing Co., 806 to 820 North Second street. Not long ago L. M. Rumsey, president of the company, died.

Friday morning Jeremiah Sheehan returned to his home 2515 Howard street, with his lighted lantern in his hand and began telling his wife, Margaret, and his son, John, that during the night Mr. Rumsey had met him in the factory and had a long talk with him.

"Why, Jerry, he's dead," said his wife.

"He is dead, I know, but just the same he was with me an hour last night, he and Moses Rumsey, who is dead too, and we walked all over the factory together and talked about the business."

Then Mrs. Sheehan sent for her husband's brother, John, and after listening to his brother talk he took him to the hospital.

The old watchman took his lantern still lighted, to the hospital with him and refused to give it up. He is 55 years old.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

EARLY LOCALS.

F. G. Tharpe and his son Elias have been in town several days. They have been doing some brick work for S. A. Foster on his new house on Gwyn Avenue.

S. A. Foster who went to Greensboro about two weeks ago to take treatment under Dr. Mosely has returned feeling much benefited by the treatment.

Mr. F. M. Trivette of Salem passed through Elkin on his way to North Irdele last week. He returned Tuesday of this week. He stopped going and returning with his son, Mr. T. M. Trivette.

J. C. Greenwood returned last week from Florida where he went about a month ago with his family. He has bought property, and his family is living at Fairbanks, Florida. Mr. Greenwood, himself, will spend most of his time here looking after his business.

A Model Card of Thanks.

The following card of thanks recently appeared in a Kansas town:

"I wish to thank the city authorities for quarantining me and my family for two weeks recently because one of the children had the smallpox. During the time my wife caught up her sewing, and being undisturbed by callers at meal time we had three square meals a day, as no one came and she was not permitted to go out. We enjoyed two weeks of good nights' sleep, and best of all, a cousin with four children, who arrived to visit us, saw the smallpox sign on the door and left town so scared she will never come back again."

Easy Enough.

There are two sides to everything if one will only take the trouble to find them. A little boy, whose ingenuity is cited by a writer in the Chicago News, had the faculty of discovering the unexpected aspect of affairs. It was a warm day, and certain signs made him sure that he would find company in the swimming-hole.

"Papa," he said, "may I go swimming?"

"Why, Williard," said his parent, "only an hour ago you complained of a pain in your stomach."

"That's all right, papa. I can swim on my back."

Conductor's Gallant Act.

"I witnessed a little incident on a Seaboard train the other night that impressed me very much," observed a traveling man yesterday. "It was close on to midnight and the train was nearing its destination—Wilmington. There was only one woman on the train. She had a tiny baby in her arms, a little girl who might have been 3 years old and she was burdened with suit cases and bundles innumerable. Her destination was a flag station where there isn't a habitation in sight from the depot, nor was any living creature about when the train rolled up. Baby bundles and all the woman alighted. It was as dark as pitch and for some reason the friends she was intended to visit had not come to meet her. The conductor didn't lose much time buzzing over the situation. He bundled the worried passenger and her belongings back into the train, pulled the engineer ahead until the train reached a point one mile further on, directly opposite the home of the passenger was to visit, then helped the woman and her trappings off again and escorted her to the front door of the house. Of course she was profuse in her thanks and when the conductor boarded the train and signalled the engineer to go ahead there was a look on his face that betrayed the consciousness of a gallant deed, well done.

"Would you have believed that there was a railroad in the country on which such an act of courtesy could have been witnessed? I have not asked his permission, but I'm going to give that conductor away—it was Captain Williams"—Charlotte Observer.

CHICAGO TELEPHONES SATISFY

"Men worry more than women."
"Yes; they not only have everything to worry about that women have, but they also have the women to worry about, too."

After making a thorough test of the best telephones on the market we have adopted the CHICAGO made at Elkhart, Ind., and will sell it instead of the SUMTER in the future, although we will keep a few SUMTER phones on hand for those who want them. The reason we have changed is because the new Sumter phones—especially the transmitters—are so hard to keep in repair. Every Chicago instrument guaranteed. See us or our agents: H. W.
