Russia Emancipated From Tyranny of Her Autocratic Tsar; The Great Witte Is Hailed as the Liberator of His People

EMPEROR NICHOLAS SIGNS MANIFESTO

St. Petersburg, Moscow, Warsaw, and Odessa Receive Tidings With Delirium of Joy, and It Is Believed Rioting and Shedding of Blood Will Now Cease.

No more important news has within the century come to the ears of an anxiously-waiting world than that which today says that Russia is no longer the personal property of the Romanoffs and the people of Russia their goods and chattels. The great sleeping Russian Empire has been unseemly stirring, and now it awakens to the full strength and possibilities of a constitutional government.

Emperor Nicholas has surrendered and Count Witte comes into power as Minister-President with an imperial mandate which will enable him to convert the farcical national assembly into a real legislative body, elected by greatly extended suffrage, and to confer upon the people fundamental civil liberties, including free speech.

IMPERIAL MANIFESTO:

"We, Nicholas the Second, by the grace of God, Emperor and Autocrat of all the Russias, Grand Duke of Finland, etc., declare to all our faithful subjects that the troubles and agitation in our capitals and in numerous other places fill our hearts with excessive pain and sorrow.

These welcome tidings were reported at St. Petersburg shortly after 6 o'clock this afternoon. Count Witte had spent the day with the Emperor at Peterhof, going over the final draft of the manifesto, to which he insisted that certain minor modifications be made, and before taking the train for St. Petersburg he telephoned to a friend that the Emperor had affixed his signature and that the imperial mandate, comprising the conditions upon which he had agreed to accept office, was in his pocket. These included freedom of the press, the right of assembly and the immunity of the person, including the right of habeas corpus.

Count Witte insisted on a cabinet on the British model, with a selected Premier responsible to the Imperial Douma, or Parliament, while the Emperor clung to the appointment of members of the cabinet on the American plan, by the Emperor as Chief of State.

Protection to Americans. The State Department has instructed Charge d'Affaires Eddy, in case of emergency, to give American citizens asylum at the embassy, and if necessary to charter a steamer, and if necessary to charter a steamer.

Russia Has a Constitution. J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., and George W. Perkins were with Finance Minister Kokovsov when the latter received the news. It was a dramatic moment. "The Minister was called to the telephone and when he returned he was greatly agitated, and said: 'Gentlemen, the old order of things has changed. Russia has a constitution.'"

Revolutionists Hurl Bomb. In fact, an hour after the news became known the revolutionists took occasion to throw the first bomb in St. Petersburg since the strike began. The incident occurred near the Polytechnic School, but there was no fatality.

By the irony of fate, while strikers are clamoring for a constitution, it has been impossible to persuade the striking printers to resume work, and, therefore, not a single newspaper, except the Official Messenger, will print the momentous document for distribution tomorrow. Arrangements, however, have

SHOW-GIRL'S LOVER MAY SHORTLY BE RELEASED

Authorities Do Not Believe Nathan Is the Author of Suit-Case Murder Although, the Fiance of Miss Geary May Know Guilty Party.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 30.—It is the firm conviction of every one who is in touch with the case that, while a charge of murder has been lodged against Morris Nathan, secretary to manager of the Shepherd King Company, in connection with the Winthrop suit-case mystery, he is not the principal in the affair, and is held because it is believed he can throw more light on the crime than any one else.

That he was not aware of the girl's condition. He declares they were to have been married. He said he overheard a conversation between Miss Geary and two girls, who were appearing at the Park Theatre in Hartford, in which one of the girls advised Miss Geary to go to the Tremont Street House for treatment. Nathan said he was not responsible for her condition.

That the police have a complete story from Nathan, telling all he knows and suspects, is not denied, but, aside from a few statements that have leaked out concerning the examination, the authorities refuse to disclose the information secured until after the arrival of the Boston officers, which is expected at about 3 o'clock in the morning. It is known that Nathan admitted that he was intimate with Miss Geary, and that in his statement he implicated a woman, who, he says, conducted a maternity home in Tremont street, Boston.

The train was derailed one mile east of Sheffield, Mo., six miles from the business center of Kansas City.

The wreck occurred in a cut while the train was running at the rate of 50 miles an hour and was caused by spreading rails.
