

TRADE UNION STRONGEST FORCE FOR GOOD IN THE COUNTRY, SAYS BRYAN

Have Made Some Mistakes But Have Accomplished More Good.

A BIG FIELD FOR WOMEN

Chicago, March 18.—William J. Bryan, at the closing conference yesterday in connection with the Industrial Exhibit, expressed the opinion that trade unions have done more good for this country than any force in the country.

"The unions have made some mistakes, but they have accomplished more good," was the keynote of his speech. He paid a tribute especially to the organizations of women in this connection.

"When we consider that through trade union wages have been increased, hours shortened and comfort afforded the workmen in a great measure," he said, "I think we have a right to say the benefits resulting from these unions cannot be overestimated. Perhaps no other force in the country ever has been so effective for improvement in the citizenship and general moral qualities of our people."

"The Australian ballot system for one thing, is largely due in this country to the agitation of the trade unions. I almost feel safe in saying that had it not been for the interest taken in this reform by the organizations, we might still be employing the old system of voting.

"If the labor unions had never done anything else than raise the age limit of employment for children in the mines and factories of the nation, I believe that accomplishment alone would justify its existence. No influence in the country has ever been so evil in its effects as the tendency to crowd our workshops with children of tender years. It is a most destructive tendency and one that the public conscience should protest against."

"Referring to women in industry, Mr. Bryan said he believed women might accomplish as much as men through organization and unions.

Savannah Carpenters Return.

SKIN DISEASE BACILLI KILLED BY WINTERGREEN

Liquid Penetrates to the Roots of Distressing Ailments and Gives Quick Cure.

Oil of wintergreen—that simple liquid so well known to every druggist in the land—is just coming to be properly appreciated. Its value long has been known to the medical profession, but only in recent years has it been found that a proper mixture, combined with other soothing agents, acts instantly in all cases of eczema and other skin diseases, stopping immediately that awful itching.

Since skin diseases have been classified by the medical profession with germ diseases, the skill of the doctor has been bent to getting to the roots of the disease. It has been found that oil of wintergreen, properly prepared with other necessary ingredients, while itself not affecting in the least the delicate texture of the healthy skin, gets to the base of it, attacks the germs lodged there and destroys them.

One of the doctors to whom great credit is due in developing this discovery is Dr. DeCarat D. Dennis, who, by combining oil of wintergreen in proper proportions with several other remedial agents, devised a LIQUID REMEDY that did away with greasy ointments and old-fashioned stomach remedies. The medical men were prevailed upon to give the general public the benefit of this lotion in the shape of "D. D. D. Prescription" now put up by a Chicago house, the company which makes the famous D. D. D. skin soap.

"For three years I have suffered indescribable torture from an aggravated case of eczema of the hands, known as 'tetter,'" writes E. Clifton Taylor, of Germantown, Philadelphia. "The itching and burning at times was almost unbearable and everything I used—salves, ointments and washes—only added to my discomfort.

"Then I immediately began the systematic use of D. D. D. Prescription—supplemented by D. D. D. soap, and now, after the use of six bottles, I am happy to announce myself CURED.

"I am also cured of the habit of using ordinary soap.

"I am recommending D. D. D. Soap and D. D. D. Prescription to everybody."

A few drops stop that awful itch, and continued use means a quick cure for eczema, psoriasis, salt rheum, ringworm, dandruff and all other distressing diseases of the skin. Get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription today, and stop that itch AT ONCE.

Says Thaw Beat Her Until She Was Unconscious

Nesbit during their trip through Europe in 1903, when, according to the testimony Thaw had prepared, making charges against Stanford White.

In this affidavit Miss Nesbit charges Thaw with having attacked her with a cowhide whip while they were stopping at an old castle in the Austrian Tyrol and lashing her bare skin until she became faint from the pain and swooned. He repeated the attack the next day, according to the affidavit, and afterward in Paris he beat her at half hour intervals throughout an entire day, leaving off only when she would faint away and could no longer understand what was happening.

Miss Nesbit is alleged to have sworn in the affidavit that she was in daily fear for her life, and that Thaw acted as a demented person during some of the assaults.

The affidavit was in some ways a direct contradiction of Hummel's recent testimony upon the stand. That the defense might not prevent him from telling the story of the making of the affidavit, he stated positively that he was not acting as Miss Nesbit's attorney when he drew up the document, that he was acting solely in the interest of Stanford White, and that no legal action was contemplated in behalf of the young woman who is now Harry Thaw's wife.

Wording Causes Surprise.

There was considerable surprise consequently when Mr. Jerome today read the opening words of the affidavit, which were:

"Supreme Court, County of New York: Evelyn Nesbit, plaintiff, against Harry Kendall Thaw, defendant." It is said the action contemplated when the affidavit was made was the recovery of certain property which it was alleged Thaw had wrongfully taken from the girl. In dictating the affidavit, Hummel referred to himself as Miss Nesbit's attorney, she being reported to have said: "I have received certain letter and cables from Thaw which I have turned over to my attorney, Mr. Abraham Hummel."

The affidavit is also indorsed "Howe and Hummel, attorneys for plaintiff."

When Mr. Delmas began the introduction of testimony in rebuttal he introduced first of all the record in the trial and conviction of Hummel on the charge of conspiracy. He started to read the entire record, but had not reached the remarks Mr. Jerome made at the sentencing of Hummel and which Mr. Delmas wanted to present to the jury when Mr. Jerome said he would admit the entire record without objection. Mr. Delmas then said he would save the district-attorney's references to Hummel for the defense's summing up.

Policemen Testify.

Next Mr. Delmas put upon the stand three policemen who saw Thaw the night of the tragedy or early in the morning after and they all declared that he either looked or acted irrationally. To two of them he complained of hearing young girl's voices. The witnesses admitted on cross-examination that there were seven women of the street in the station house that night, and that they were making considerable noise, but could not be heard from Thaw's cell.

After this testimony had been presented Mr. Delmas passed to the final stages of the trial by introducing the first of seven alienists employed by the defense, three of the experts being new to the case.

Dr. Graeme M. Hammond and Dr. Smith Ely Jelliffe, who have been in the case from the first, and Dr. W. A. White, superintendent of the government hospital for the insane at Washington, D. C., were today's witnesses and all were interrogated on the hypothetical question framed by the district attorney.

All three of the experts declared Thaw was a mentally unbalanced at the time he killed Stanford White that he did not know the nature or quality of his act and did not know that the act was wrong. None of the three could classify the form of insanity from which they said the defendant was suffering.

Tomorrow the experts will be Doctors Evans and Wagner, who have heretofore testified for the defense, and who will not be asked to give an opening of Mr. Jerome's long question, and Dr. C. W. Pilgrim, president of the New York state lunacy commission, and Dr. Minas Gregory, superintendent of the Psychopathic Pavilion at Bellevue hospital.

COSTELLO WILL SUE PAPERS BY FALL OF HOUSE 2 KILLED, 10 HURT

Special to Daily Industrial News.

Charlotte, N. C., March 18.—T. M. Costello, immigration agent for the State of North Carolina, absent during the trial of the celebrated cases against him and E. A. Smith and others of Charlotte, charged with conspiracy and violation of the alien immigration laws, has arrived in the city from New England, where he has been studying labor conditions in that section.

Mr. Costello has retained counsel in New York, and probably will bring suit in a short time against about fifty newspapers published in New England for items appearing in their columns relating to himself and his connection with the immigration question in the south.

Mr. Costello says that New England cotton mills are seriously in need of more help in their work, and that the manufacturers and labor organizations are making a great effort to keep immigration away from the south. He declared that a statement had been prepared by some of the labor organizations in New England, to be sent to English newspapers for publication in which it is set forth that there are conditions existing among the help in southern mills that are simply unbearable, and that employes work from fourteen to sixteen hours per day and get something like fifty cents per diem for their labor.

pleted load number one, and with Policeman Marsh at the helm at the time cap of Health Officer Simpson peeping over a barrel in the rear, "Black Maria" with sails set, they headed for police quarters.

The mourners, some fifty in number, streamed along behind, determined to have a farewell look at the departing boat. The load was a heavy one, and "Jake" made one or two stops on the long journey in order to recover his wind, but he eventually managed to complete the trip and the first consignment was unloaded. Chief Neelley remained on guard at the clubrooms.

The second and last load was placed in the lockers at the police station some time after dark, and when the last bottle of the juice was placed, the biggest blind tiger Greensboro has ever had was declared "out of business."

The building in which the clubrooms are located is on the southwest corner of East Market and Davie streets, and the entrance to the place is directly opposite to the office of the Daily Industrial News. The raid was witnessed by nearly every employe of the paper, from managing editor to the "devil," all of whom crowded into windows and doors in an effort to see the show. When the scent from Mr. Weatherly's clothes was wafted across the street, it proved too much for some of the spectators, and one or two of the business office force lost no time in crossing the street, thinking perhaps that a bottle had been opened for the crowd, and disappointment was theirs when they found that such was not the case.

Argo Red Salmon comes from the icy waters of Behring Sea, Alaska. Deep red in color, delicious in flavor.

Cincinnati, O., March 18.—Two persons were killed and ten injured by the collapse of a three-story brick building tonight at the corner of Plum and Front streets which has been surrounded by the Ohio river flood for several days. The building was occupied by several Italian families. A middle aged woman and her three-year-old child were instantly killed.

The Ohio continued to rise during the night but the rate of rise grew less as the hours passed, the water having a wider spread. Relief work was continued by the city and local charitable organizations so that those made destitute by the high waters were promptly cared for.

Oil Plant Floated Away.

Marietta, O., March 18.—The Sterling Oil Refinery is a complete loss, the tanks and building having floated off wharf, causing a loss of $50,000. The National Refinery suffered heavily. It may be several days before railroads are able to run trains regularly. One hundred houses and many barns have been swept from their foundations.

Wheeling, W. Va., March 18.—The river has returned to its channel and Wheeling is slowly recovering from the flood. The principal work today was relieving the suffering and destitution which is greater than ever before known in this city.

NORTH STATE PHONE PROVING POPULAR

Special to Daily Industrial News.

High Point, N. C., March 18.—The North State Telephone Company, the local phone system, is making great strides forward. In the past year the business has increased 40 per cent, and today there are 600 phones in use here alone, to say nothing of the long distance booths in use by the company at various towns.

The earnings of the company the past year were 30 per cent, above all expenses. The company is expending a large amount of money just now putting in cables and other necessary appliances for the quick and proper handling of the business.

A case of peddling without license came up before the mayor last night and was settled with the payment of the costs in the case. Dr. Gold, representing the Retail Merchants' Association appeared before the mayor and said that he understood that the parties were willing to pay the costs in the case and submit and that they did not willfully violate the city ordinance in that they were ignorant of the law.

The mayor thought the same way and the men were let off to the tune of $8, and went their way rejoicing, promising to not do so again.

The High Point Pipe and Foundry Company is making extensive improvements on its plant. With the rapid increase made by this concern the past two years it will be only a short while until it will be one of the largest plants of its kind in the country.

SALISBURY PRESENTS TO DR. RUMPLE'S CHURCH A TABLET IN HIS MEMORY

Ladies of the Presbyterian Church of That City Do Honor to Former Pastor.

OTHER SALISBURY NEWS

Salisbury, N. C., March 18.—The ladies of the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon presented their tablet in memory of the Rev. Dr. Jethro Rumble, forty-four years pastor of their church here. It was a congregational offering.

The service opened at four o'clock, and two anthems were rendered by the choir. The Rev. Dr. J. M. Wharey, who is now serving the congregation, announced the purpose of the gift and delivered a short address, quoting the famous words of Disraeli that some members of the British parliament would be members after death.

He declared that Dr. Rumble is still pastor of that church, and always would be, and that this feeling is an inspiration in the work now. He declared that all earthly things fade, and that it is essential that the memory of Dr. Rumble be kept green because the coming generations will need something to keep his example constantly before them. After his address he announced that Miss Jane Dickson Yardell, a granddaughter of Dr. Rumble, would unveil the tablet.

As she lifted the cover, the bronze tablet revealed the inscription which was a just tribute to a great man. Theodore F. Klutz accepted the tablet on behalf of the ladies. He spoke of the preacher's humble birth, his strife for education, his triumph over everything.

"On behalf of this congregation, I accept with pleasure this memorial to the majestic memory of this great and good man. May it be the prayer of all: 'Let me die the death of the righteous, and may my last end be like his.'"

Mrs. C. G. Yarbelle, a daughter of Dr. Rumble, came up from Red Springs to attend the exercises, and returned today to her home.

Prof. E. A. Smith, formerly director of music in the Gordon Institute, has come to Salisbury from Barboursville, Ga., and will be secretary and treasurer of the G. W. Klingender, whose sudden death several weeks ago is recalled. Mr. Smith, who has a musical reputation, will bring his family here.

Republicans in House and Senate Gave Good Account

Senator S. D. Brown, of Hamptonville, of the Twenty-ninth district, is an educated Baptist minister and teacher, a quiet, thoughtful man. He was frequently called upon to open the Senate with prayer.

Senator J. E. Burleson, of Mitchell, from the Thirty-sixth district, is the owner of the largest mica mine in the world. He is a man who, by his industry and work, raised himself from poverty to a position of wealth.

The fourth Republican senator, A. H. Dickey, of Cherokee, represented the numerous counties in the extreme southwestern end of the state. He is a successful business man and deals largely in live stock in this state, Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama.

A mere glance at the Republican members of the House is sufficient to prove that they were clean, able men, above the average one finds in the state legislative halls in point of ability. The first county on the roll is Alamance, and her representative was Dr. John A. Pickett, a popular, studious man, a highly respected physician of Burlington, whose judgment no one will hesitate to trust. Brunswick's representative, C. Ed. Taylor, of Southport, is a lawyer who will be heard from in this state. Twice in succession this young man has carried that county Republican. He won one of the most remarkable victories of this session when he secured the passage of the Wilmington compulsory pilotage bill in the face of the violent opposition of the Democratic representative from New Hanover. Although the pilots had opposed Mr. Taylor's election because they thought a Democrat might have more influence in securing this legislation, yet he was elected and carried their measure through the House, while the mayor being for the bill it passed the latter body.

Hon. Moses N. Harshaw, of Lenoir, represented Caldwell and was honored with the minority leadership. His long experience as solicitor, his knowledge of human nature and his mastery of law, made him one of the most valuable members of the judiciary committee and on the floor. He drew up the reciprocal demurrage bill, which while it was not passed, was regarded by many as one of the best measures of the kind considered during the session. His most brilliant stroke came the last Saturday night of the session when the two factions of the Democratic party were warring over amendments to the antitrust bill. Mr. Harshaw precipitated a regular panic in the Democratic ranks when he clearly pointed out that according to Speaker Justice's interpretation the action headed by Ex-Lieutenant-Governor Doughton was not Democratic and that the party was hopelessly divided.

Dr. R. T. Coleman, a quiet, popular physician, a man whom the people instinctively trust, redeemed Clay county for the Republican party. C. R. Pugh, a lawyer of Waukesha, the youngest man in the House, a recent graduate of Trinity College, represented Dare county as an Independent endorsed by the Republicans. Mr. Pugh is an able, clean young man. He returns to his constituents with a fine record, having secured for them the legislation they most desired. Representative A. T. Grant, Jr., again came from Davie county and he added to his reputation as a lawyer and a keenly pointed debater. Mr. Grant took a prominent part in the discussions and he made a fine speech when he locked horns with the speaker.

When the so-called antitrust bill was pending in the House Mr. Grant clearly showed that it was a partisan measure intended to hit some interests and protect others and he offered amendments to make it apply honestly and fairly to all. He drafted and introduced an amendment which would prevent the News and Observer, from enjoying a monopoly of the Associated Press dispatches, which no other morning paper can get here, and he put the Democrats, with four exceptions, squarely on record in favor of the trust of their party organ.

Graham county, which is usually represented by a Democrat, sent W. P. Ross to this legislature and he fully protected the interests of his people. M. C. Rector, a lawyer of ability, determination and deep convictions, again represented Henderson county with credit. Dr. J. N. Candler, of Dillsboro, a man who previously represented his district in the Senate, was representative from Jackson. Although from the mountains the fishermen of the east should know that it was on his motion that the objectionable fish tax bill was tabled.

Macon Fooled Them.

The news went forth last November that Macon county had as usual gone Democratic and a seat was picked out for the Democratic legislative nominee from that county. However, when the House convened John Burnett, of Etna, appeared to take the oath and his credentials showed that he had been successful by a majority of thirty-five in the county which for years was represented by Frank Ray, Democrat. Mr. Burnett's course in the House showed that the people of Macon were wise in trusting him.

The Republican county of Madison this year had as her representatives Lewis J. Bailey, Esq., a young attorney of Marshall. Mr. Bailey made a fine record, both in general legislation and local matters. In the face of strong opposition he secured the passage of a bill repealing the law which established a whiskey dispensary at Marshall and made his county dry. J. C. Bowman, a teacher and one of the most highly respected men in his section, again represented Mitchell county. He is interested in all school and temperance legislation. Pamlico county reversed herself last November and had on the floor of the House J. J. Brinson, a successful trucker of Raids Creek. He was an industrious, intelligent gentleman, representing the best interest of that section.

The fact that H. J. Britt, of Roxboro, carried Person county by a majority of 100 is sufficient evidence of his ability and popularity. He has twice been registered of deeds and knows every one in his county. He championed a bill to abolish the whiskey dispensary in Roxboro and it passed the House, but was killed in the Senate. Mr. Britt has a farm and other interests in his county. The little county of Polk was represented by H. C. Morgan, one of the most substantial men in that territory. He prevented the appointment of a tax collector for his county. Sampson's two Republicans were Thomas E. Owen, of Clinton, the owner of several saw mills, and James T. Kennedy, of Maltonville, merchant and farmer, both substantial, good men. Mr. Owen made a hard fight with his colleague to save the county from the Democratic outrage imposed upon it and delivered a strong denunciation of the course taken by the Democrats.

J. T. Halsback, a prosperous farmer, represented Stokes county, and he and his senator succeeded in defeating a Democratic bill which would have literally stolen the control of that county from the Republicans. John H. Albright, editor of Mt. Airy, represented Surry, and there was not a more genial, popular man in either branch of the general assembly. He was well equipped for his duties and was successful in preventing the attempt to appoint a Democratic board of audit and finance for his Republican county. Prof. Y. W. Gibbs, a young man of fine education and high character, represented Swain. While a successful business man at Whitler, he takes a special interest in schools and was keenly alive to legislation pertaining to educational matters. W. D. Farthing, a young lawyer of Maline, was fortunately sent to Raleigh by Watauga, and his efforts prevented the divisions of the county by accomplishing the defeat of the bill, favored by Senator Lovell, Democrat, to create Park county out of Watauga and Mitchell. Wilkes county sent two Republicans to the House in the person of Dr. Charles G. Bryant, a physician of Roaring River, and Charles H. Cowles, attorney, at Wilkesboro. Dr. Bryant couples energy and determination with irrefragable Christian character and unflinching courage. He showed breadth and grasp in handling public questions. Mr. Cowles has before represented Wilkes. These are no cleaner or more conscientious young men in thought and deed in public life in this state. He is well equipped and has laid the foundation for a career of brilliant service to his state.

Dr. Bryant and Mr. Cowles achieved a notable victory when, on the floor of the House, they defeated a bill to tax Wilkes for a bridge, although Congressman Hackett was striving hard to lobby the bill through. They thwarted every effort of the congressman to restrict the rights of the people in that county. Mr. Cowles won the favor of working men by championing the bill to place the union label on state printing, done by union labor. He also strongly favored extending the provisions of the grandfather clause, but the Democrats defeated his effort. Yadkin county, which can always be depended on, had for her representative Frank W. Haines, a well-educated and thoughtful lawyer of Yadkinville. He gave a good account of himself in the legislative halls.

NEGRO IS CHARGED WITH RETAILING WHISKY

Policeman Glenn Marsh and Oliver went out last night to the home of Eaton Powell, a negro living in Lindsay street, and arrested him on the charge of retailing whisky. A search of the house failed to show any whisky but a jug and one or two bottles were found. Powell was locked up and will be given a hearing before Mayor Murphy this afternoon.

Friendship School Closes.

At the closing exercises of Friendship school, which were held Saturday, the Oak Ridge council of the Jr. O. U. A. M. presented the school with a flag and a Bible. The presentation speech was made by Prof. S. E. Whitaker, of Oak Ridge Institute. An interesting address was delivered by Dr. J. R. Paddison, of Oak Ridge.

COMMISSIONERS RENDER DECISIONS

Opinions in Six Cases Handed Down By Body Sitting in Washington.

Washington, D. C., March 18.—Six decisions were announced today by the interstate commerce commission, all of the opinions being prepared by Commissioner Prouty.

The most important cases decided was that of the American Live Stock Association and the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association against the Texas and Pacific railway and others. The commission holds that the public interest requires the establishment of the through routes and joint rates formerly provided for in joint tariffs, but grants leave to any party to apply for a modification of the order which may be issued in this proceeding at any time and provides that such order shall be withheld for thirty days. The carriers are granted authority to establish such joint tariff upon ten days' notice to the public and to the commission.

In the case of the Birmingham Packing Company against the Texas and Pacific Railway Company and others, the commission ordered that a through route and joint rate thereover of not exceeding fifty cents per 100 pounds be established and maintained for the transportation of beef cattle in carloads from Fort Worth, Tex., to Birmingham, Ala.

In the case of the Blackwell Milling and Elevator Company against the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company it was shown that upon shipments of flour and other grain products the carrier had in force an arbitrary charge of five cents per 100 pounds to be applied in addition to its regular transportation charges upon shipments received from connecting lines, but it discontinued imposition of arbitrary charges effective February 11, 1907.

The commission holds that this five cent arbitrary was unjust and unreasonable and requires the carrier to refrain from applying the same during a period of two years hereafter. The complainant is awarded reparation in the sum of $113.

The case of Pones City Milling Company against the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company, was based upon the same facts as the foregoing case of the Blackwell Milling and Elevator Company and the commission's decision is to the same effect. The complainant is awarded reparation in the sum of $37.

In the case of J. B. Harrell against the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company, complaint was made of the unreasonable charge of a rate on coal from St. Louis, Mo., to Oklahoma City, Okla., as applied to shipments originating in West Virginia, covering a total distance of over 1,200 miles; but the complaint is held by the commission to present no question of practical importance in view of the proximity of the coal fields in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas, and also the much shorter distance from coal fields in Colorado and Missouri.
