out precedent even in the case of Jackson, and is so inconsistent with the dignity of his high office and the proprieties always to be observed, that I feel it a duty toward the President himself to enter for him on my own motion, a disclaimer of all responsibility for such a publication.

"The time has not yet come, and nobody knows that better than the President himself, when 'deadlines' can be drawn in debate for anybody to observe; nor has the time come when any real man would respect them if they were drawn.

"So far as I am personally concerned, I shall always speak with malice toward none, but according to my convictions whenever and wherever I may have occasion to speak at all."

Mr. Foraker characterized as a sort of companion piece, a published statement that the President to his friends has named as members of the combination to do him up for his attitude toward Wall street, E. H. Harriman, J. B. Foraker and John D. Rockefeller.

"I never saw John D. Rockefeller but once in my life, and that was twenty years ago or more, while I was governor of Ohio. With that single exception I never saw him, never spoke to him and never communicated with him in any way, directly or indirectly.

"Except only for a brief conversation with Mr. Harriman in the presence of the company at a dinner, I never communicated with him directly or indirectly on any subject whatever.

"I call attention to all this with particularity so that at the outset such wild, reckless, crazy stories may be put into the class of campaign literature where they properly belong.

"But these stories are but samples of many others, all of which taken together seem to have for their object the dissemination of the idea that I am at war with the policies of President Roosevelt.

"No man ever occupied the White House who has been identified with so many legislative measures as President Roosevelt. He is a tireless worker. He is constantly doing, or causing to be done, something of great importance.

MINNESOTA HOUSE CONDEMNED HARRIMAN

St. Paul, Minn., April 10.—The Minnesota House of Representatives adopted another concurrent resolution today condemning the "violent attacks made by E. H. Harriman and his crowd" upon President Roosevelt and commending the President in his heroic efforts to regulate railroad traffic and "suppress the lawlessness with which it abounds."

fore the Senate of the United States for consideration with which he was in any way identified, excepting only three.

"I differed from him as to joint statehood for New Mexico and Arizona. I was unable also to agree with the President as to conferring the ratemaking power upon the interstate commerce commission, as provided in the Hepburn law, passed at the first session of the Fifty-ninth Congress, and I have taken a different view from him with regard to the discharge without honor of the members of Companies B, C and D, of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, on account of the shooting affray at Brownsville, Texas. This was an incident, not a policy. But it was an incident of such character that I felt it my duty as a representative of the people of Ohio to do with respect to it what I have done.

"While conceding the right of everybody else to differ from me, I deny the right of anybody except my constituents, to call me to account. I have never held any office except by election. I have always been proud of the confidence in me so frequently manifested by the intelligent people of this great commonwealth. I am always ready to abide their judgment. I would not avoid or evade it if I could. Therefore, it is that I propose to carry my cause directly to them whenever issues may arise in which I am interested. If they agree with me, I shall be rejoiced; if not, I shall be satisfied.

"But while I will thus submit my case to the people and abide their judgment, I will not submit to the dictation or threats or menaces of any kind of any boss, big or little, inside the state or outside of it. Neither will I acquiesce without protest in what I do not approve, no matter by whom it may be proposed."

SALISBURY DEMOCRATS HOLD FINAL MEETING

CHALLENGE PLANS AND APPOINTMENTS DISCUSSED BY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Special to Daily Industrial News. Salisbury, N. C., April 10.—The city Democratic executive committee meets tonight, this being the last before the election next Tuesday, April 16.

The meeting tonight possesses no unusual interest, the main features being the discussion of the plan of challenges and appointment of all election officers.

There will undoubtedly be warm times from now until the day of closing the election boxes. Lively betting on the result began today, but this is not a very large figure in the contest.

Two master politicians are against each other and there is not a move that has not been anticipated and nothing happens without the knowledge of the partisans of either. The third candidate, Mr. Hellig, has conducted a very quiet, smart campaign, and his strength will not be known until he has his votes counted.

There was work in the third rank and the visitors took part in it. Grand Chancellor W. W. Wilson, of Raleigh, and Vice-Grand Chancellor Critt, attended. There were nine lodges represented.

BONAPARTE SETTLES THE QUESTION OF WHAT GOES TO MAKE PURE WHISKY

Long Looked for Decision Is Made Public in Washington.

AWAITED BY DISTILERS

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The long expected opinion of Attorney-General Bonaparte concerning the proper labeling of whisky under the pure food law approved June 30, 1906, was made public at the White House today.

"My Dear Mr. Secretary: In accordance with your suggestion, I have submitted the matter concerning the proper labeling of whisky under the pure food law to the department of justice. I enclose the attorney-general's opinion. I agree with this opinion and direct that action be taken in accordance with it.

"Straight whisky will be labeled as such. A mixture of two or more straight whiskeys will be labeled blended whisky or whiskeys. A mixture of straight whisky and ethyl alcohol, provided that there is a sufficient amount of straight whisky to make it genuinely a mixture, will be labeled as compound, or compounded with, pure grain distillate.

"Imitation whisky will be labeled as such. Sincerely yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

The attorney-general's opinion as to the proper construction to be placed on the law has been awaited with great interest by distillers and refiners all over the country. Before the question was sent to the department of justice, it was very thoroughly investigated by the department of agriculture. The questions at issue arose in connection with the labeling or branding of the different kinds of spirits, claimed by their manufacturers or proprietors to be entitled to the name of "whisky," with or without qualifying words.

The mixture of a spirit properly designated as "whisky" with another spirit which, standing alone, would not be properly designated as "whisky," such as ethyl alcohol, must be labeled or branded as a "compound" or as "compounded."

The attorney-general declares that according to the true intent of the pure food law, a mixture of whisky with a neutral spirit must be deemed a "compound" and not a "blend," although the spirit may be a distillate from the same substance used to furnish the whisky, and that such a mixture stands on the same footing as a mixture of whisky and brandy, or of whisky and rum.

The definition of "whisky" as a neutral spirit, he says, "involves as its corollary that there can be such a thing as imitation whisky. If the same process were followed of which we spoke in connection with artificial wine, namely, if ethyl alcohol, either pure or mixed with distilled water, were given, by the addition of harmless coloring and flavoring substances, the appearance and flavor of whisky, so as to be indistinguishable from the pure product, in conformity with the pure food law, than 'imitation whisky.'"

The attorney-general says the most difficult question was "whether a mixture of a liquid such as has been described, or indeed, a mixture of ethyl alcohol itself with whisky ought to be labeled 'whisky' at all."

"I conclude that a combination of whisky with ethyl alcohol, supposing of course that there is enough whisky in it to make it a real compound and not the mere semblance of one, may be fairly called 'whisky,' provided the name is accompanied by the word 'compounded,' or 'compounded,' and provided a statement of the presence of another spirit is included in substance in the title.

The following seems to me appropriate specimen brands or labels for (1) straight whisky, (2) a mixture of two or more 'straight' whiskeys, (3) a mixture of 'straight' whisky and ethyl alcohol, and (4) ethyl alcohol flavored and colored so as to taste, smell and look like whisky.

(1) Semper idem whisky: a pure straight whisky mellowed by age. (2) E pluribus unum whisky: a blend of pure, straight whiskeys with all the merits of each. (3) Modern improved whisky: a compound of pure grain distillates, mellow and free from harmful impurities. (4) Something better than whisky: an imitation under the pure food law free from fuel oil and other impurities.

W. J. KNIGHTON NAMED YARDMASTER AT WINSTON

Winston-Salem, N. C., April 10.—W. J. Knighton, for a number of years conductor of a freight train on the Norfolk and Western road between Winston-Salem and Roanoke succeeds Capt. Pride Jones as yardmaster for the Southern at this place.

The superintendents of the Winston-Salem and Moorefields divisions have received official notice from the general manager of the Southern railway, requesting them to see that the law passed by the last legislature, to the effect that railroad crews must not work over sixteen consecutive hours, except where it is absolutely necessary, in case of a wreck, or breakdown, is carried out. Superintendent Newell, of the Moorefield division, says the new law will not affect his division as his men upon an average are not on duty over twelve hours.

ONE KILLED, MANY HURT, WHEN TRAIN IS DERAILED

Hardwick, Vt., April 10.—One person was killed and about fifteen injured, one of them very seriously, in a wreck on the St. Johnsbury and Lake Champlain railroad about two miles east of this town today. The entire train, a westbound passenger train, with the exception of the locomotive, left the rails and plunged down a forty-foot embankment.

might result in the injury of the man suffering it, could not be accepted as an excuse. Altogether the charge, while consisting principally of a complete explanation of the law, was considered by those who have followed the trial, as adverse to the defendant. The attorneys for the defendant took exceptions because the judge had failed to include any of their prayers.

Thaw was much depressed by the judge's words and could not suppress his feelings. He left the courtroom dejected. Plain Homicide, Says Jerome. The district-attorney's summing up was a comprehensive and forceful review of all the evidence adduced. He declared at the outset that romance and sentiment did not enter into the issue; it was not a question of Stanford White's character, or Evelyn Thaw's sufferings, it was a plain matter-of-fact homicide.

"A common, cowardly Tenderloin murder," as he termed it. The novel plea of "dementia Americana," made by Mr. Delmas at the very close of his argument, was attacked by the district-attorney, and he repeatedly referred to it in tones of sarcasm.

Mr. Jerome dealt mercilessly with Evelyn Thaw, to whom he referred as the "angel child," and to Thaw, whom he termed alternately "St. George" and "Sir Galahad."

The atmosphere about Thaw and the members of his family was heavy with gloom during the judge's charge. The defendant sat in a dejected mood, his head bowed, his face pallid and his entire appearance denoting a nervous, apprehensive state of mind. It seemed as though every vestige of hope had been taken away from him. All the confidence and cheerfulness which were so strongly in evidence yesterday had disappeared.

AMERICAN SERVING WITH HONDURAS CUT TO PIECES

ter that there was no hope for the Bonilla government, and he was doomed to death if he did not get out of the country.

News was brought here by passengers on the steamer that President Manuel Bonilla was not at Amapala, but was hiding in Salvador. This report is said to be authentic.

Gallardo was accompanied by his secretary, Roman Gonzalez, and they effected their escape from Trujillo two days before the place was captured by the Nicaraguans. They succeeded in carrying away $14,000 of the government's money, which was placed in safe keeping in Belize.

LOOK FOR SETTLEMENT OF CENTRAL AMERICAN WAR

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The state department today received a dispatch from Philip Brown, secretary to the United States legation in Guatemala and Honduras, saying that negotiations are pending for the settlement of the dispute between Nicaragua and Honduras.

Mr. Brown is still at La Union and it appears that he is acting in the interest of Salvador in treating with Nicaragua. This is entirely on his own initiative and does not involve the United States in any manner, according to a state department official. It is said that the greatest difficulty attending a settlement is the keen desire of the Nicaraguans to capture President Bonilla, who is at the head of the Honduran army in the west of that republic.

To effect this capture would necessitate renewed fighting and the other countries in Central America are trying to avoid this, and it is the desire also of the United States and Mexico that hostilities be brought to a close at once.

COMMITTS SUICIDE IN THEATER BOX

Pittsburg, April 10.—Robert M. Crowe, of this city, shot himself in the abdomen in an attempt to commit suicide while in a box watching a vaudeville performance at the Grand opera-house today.

Ethel Levy, one of the singers, was on the stage when Crowe arose and pointed the revolver at her, shouting, "It's all over." Miss Levy fled from the stage and Crowe shot himself. He will die.

FIND OUT The Kind of Food That Will Keep You Well.

The true way is to find out what is best to eat and drink, and then cultivate a taste for those things instead of poisoning ourselves with improper, indigestible food, etc. A conservative Massachusetts woman writes: "I have used Grape-Nuts five years for the young and for the aged; in sickness and in health; at first following directions carefully, later in a variety of ways as my taste and judgment suggested. "But its most special, personal benefit has been a substitute for meat, and served dry with cream when rheumatic troubles made it important for me to give up the 'coffee habit.' "Served in this way with the addition of a cup of hot water and a little fruit it has been used at my morning meal for six months, during which time my health has much improved, nerves have grown sturdier, and a gradual decrease in my excessive weight adds greatly to my comfort." WOMEN DISCUSS PLANS FOR EDUCATIONAL WORK AT PINEHURST MEETING

Mrs. Lindsay Patterson, of Winston-Salem, Presides Over Conference.

SPEECH BY DR. ALDERMAN

Pinehurst, N. C., April 10.—The chief interest in the conference for education which was given over to the women, Mrs. Lindsay Patterson, of Winston-Salem, N. C., presided and a plan for the promotion of the work carried on by the Woman's Association for the Improvement of Public Schools in the Southern States was discussed.

These organizations are interested in the building of better rural school-houses, and establishment of kindergartens and school gardens. Reports were submitted and plans discussed for the coming year. All the state delegations held meetings today.

At tonight's conference, President Alderman, of the University of Virginia, presided. Chancellor Kirkland, of Vanderbilt University, in an address declared the southern institutions have not in the past recognized the obligation of enforcing right educational standards, and that states should aid by refusing charters to unworthy institutions.

The conference tonight adopted resolutions commending the work of such organizations as the School Improvement League and urging that they be extended to embrace the whole citizenship of the several states in their membership and include "in the scope of their purposes all the factors of the educational problem."

The conference recorded its grateful recognition of the service of Robert C. Ogden, of New York, and extended its congratulations to state superintendents and others charged with public education throughout the south for the improved standard of efficiency.

The conference also recorded appreciation of the important contribution to popular education made by the colleges of the south, by the state institutions and by the private denominational colleges. Officers of the conference will be elected tomorrow. A message was read from President Ogden, in response to the greetings sent by the conference yesterday.

The morning session was given over to the superintendents of education from the southern states, S. A. Myrdens, of Knoxville, Tenn., presiding. Reports on the work of the past year were submitted and plans outlined for the improvement of education. The suggestion of agricultural instruction in the high schools is meeting with favor among the educators, and visitors attending the conference.

PRESIDENT NAMES OHIO NEGRO FOR A DEPARTMENT JOB

When the President first let it be known that he intended to give Tyler a good job, a great hue and cry was raised and it was thought that the President had been led to change his mind. However, it seems that he was merely waiting to find a good opening for Tyler.

President Roosevelt's action in this affair today is also accepted as an earnest of his intentions to take a hand in the political game in Ohio.

S.S.S. PURIFIES THE BLOOD

There is no other part of our physical system upon which so much depends as upon the blood. The muscles, nerves, bones, sinews, skin, and other portions of the body are sustained, developed and enabled to perform their different duties, because they are supplied with nourishment and healthful properties through the circulation. In various ways the blood becomes contaminated and polluted. A sluggish, inactive condition of the system, and torpid state of the avenues of bodily waste, will leave the refuse and waste matter of the body to sour and form uric and other acids, which are absorbed into the blood and Rheumatism, or some itching, disfiguring skin disease is the result. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, spots, pimples, etc., all show that some humor has taken root in the circulation and rendered it sour and unfit for nourishing the body. There is scarcely any disease which cannot be traced to the blood. Often the disease-tainted blood of parents is handed down to children and their lives are a continual battle against disease in some form, usually of a scrofulous nature. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., are all deep-seated blood troubles, and until this vital fluid is purified they cannot be cured. For all blood diseases S. S. S. is the best remedy ever put upon the market. This great medicine is made of roots, herbs and barks of recognized blood-purifying and building-up properties. It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, impurities and humors, supplies the blood with the healthful properties it needs and completely cures blood diseases of every kind. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., because it purifies the blood. Book on the blood and medical advice free.
