WILLIAMS ASKS SPEAKER TO PERMIT A VOTE ON REVOKING PULP TARIFF

Presents Petition From Democrats For Suspension of Rules to Pass Stevens Bill.

URGES REPUBLICANS TO AID

Washington, D. C., April 29.—John Sharp Williams today gave the Republican majority in the House an opportunity either to permit or refuse to permit a vote on the Stevens bill to place wood pulp on the free list.

Mr. Williams said that the two Democratic members whose names were not appended to the petition were out of town, but efforts were being made to reach them by wire; when their signatures were added, only thirty Republicans names were needed to swell the strength of the petition to the proportions of a majority request.

After saying that only thirty Republicans were necessary to make up the required number to pass the bill, Mr. Williams declared that it should be easy to get them, because almost thirty Republicans had introduced free paper bills, and, he said, "I know that every one of you who introduced a bill meant what you said."

"While the lamp holds out to burn the vilest sinner may return," Mr. Williams proceeded: "If you have been in any manner blotted, why think for a second; think of what a short life we live here, and how necessary it is that we should be doing things while we are living, during this brief day of our time."

TELLS OF HIS ECCENTRICITIES

Washington, April 29.—"My story seems more like fiction than the true narrative of a bride of three months. Were I to tell you all there would be material enough for a novel."

Mrs. Cherry Ford Donaldson, who has filed a suit for maintenance against her husband, Dr. Henry A. Donaldson, whom she charges with deserting her after two months of marital life, not unmixed by her husband's eccentricities, today thus sobbingly prefaced the story of her disappointment.

Her husband, Dr. Henry A. Donaldson, a wealthy and well-known man of Washington, is in New York, where his wife claims he stays to avoid the service of papers in the suit. He is the son of the late Dr. R. B. Donaldson, who made an immense fortune in the dental supply business in this city.

City Thronged With Delegates To Convention

Greensboro the Mecca for Republicans From All Parts of the State—No Contests Worth Mentioning, and Taft and Adams Undoubtedly Are Party's Choice—Fifth District Convention.

GREENSBORO is full of delegates who have come to attend the Republican state convention today. They began to arrive early yesterday morning, and every train brought in more delegates.

The convention will meet in the Grand opera-house, and will be called to order by State Chairman Adams at twelve o'clock. According to the prearrangements A. H. Price, of Salisbury, ex-assistant district attorney, will be called to preside as temporary chairman.

It is noised around that there may be some fun when resolutions are offered opposing the proposed prohibition law. It is also said that a certain disaffected element will endeavor to prevent the election of a state chairman at this time.

At the Fifth district congressional convention held in the county courthouse yesterday afternoon, B. S. Robertson, of Haw River, and Guy Carter, of Dobson, were elected delegates to the national convention, with J. C. Angier, of Durham, and H. B. Worth, of Greensboro, as alternates.

FIFTH DISTRICT CONVENTION WAS HELD YESTERDAY

The Republicans of the Fifth congressional district held their convention yesterday in this city. The convention was called to order at 2:40 p. m. by Chairman John T. Benbow, of Winston-Salem, in the county courthouse.

The rollcall showed every county in the district to be represented. A credentials committee was appointed by the chairman consisting of M. T. Chilton, of Stokes; J. T. Cozart, of Granville; H. O. Sapp, of Forsyth; J. T. Donohoe, of Caswell, and Sheriff J. M. Davis, of Surry.

A lengthy communication signed by C. P. Frazier and B. S. Sharpe was read, purporting to show that the delegates elected by the regular convention in this county were not entitled to their seats in the convention, and that a list of so-called delegates chosen at a meeting held in the McAdoo hotel some time ago were entitled to the seats.

The committee was out for an hour or so, and during this time the convention was entertained with speeches by a number of those who were present. Senator Guy Carter, of Surry, was first called. He made a clean, clear-cut speech, touching mainly on politics and encouraging Republicans to put forth effort.

MANY DELEGATES FOR CONVENTION CAME LAST NIGHT

Today at twelve o'clock the Republican state convention will be called to order by Chairman Spencer B. Adams. The convention is called for the purpose of electing four delegates and four alternates to represent the state at large in the Republican national convention at Chicago, and to elect a chairman of the state executive committee.

The city was full of delegates last night, and every train brought additions to the number. They came from the far east and the extreme west, as well as from the central portion of the state. Thomas Settle is here from Buncombe, and he and his friends are occupying a suite of rooms at the Benbow. Charles J. Harris, the late candidate for governor, arrived yesterday afternoon.

Wake county's delegation, consisting of nearly a score of young men, arrived last night. They all wore ribbon badges containing the words "Wake County." A member of the delegation said that the password of Wake Republicans is "Wake Wide Awake."

All the hotels were filled last night, and a number of delegates went to boarding-houses. It was estimated that there was nearly a thousand visitors in the city last night.

Thomas Settle, of Asheville, will offer a resolution of a broader scope than merely opposing the proposed prohibition law. His resolution will not antagonize prohibition, so he states, but will oppose the proposed law and the methods by which it was submitted to a vote of the people. It is understood that Mr. Settle's resolution will also propose certain changes in the party management in the state along the lines he has outlined in a number of communications in daily newspapers.
