

WILL BE ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Frank Smith, of Noted Smithtown, Charged With Killing Rea, at Stuart, Va.

The way of the transgressor is hard, at least this will probably be the view which Frank Smith will take of the matter today when his time at the county jail expires.

Frank Smith, a member of the far-famed Smith family, of Smithtown, Stokes county, was brought here by United States marshals last winter from South Dakota, whither he had fled for refuge.

Yesterday Chief Neeley received a telegram from Commonwealth's Attorney R. E. Woolwine, of Stuart, Va., saying that Smith is wanted there on the charge of having murdered John D. Rea, of that place, in the year 1905.

Acting on these instructions, Frank Smith will be arrested by the chief of police, and after a hearing before the mayor, will doubtless be held to await the arrival of the Virginia officers.

PRESIDENT WILL CONGRATULATE THE AMERICAN MEN

John C. Carpenter, of Cornell University, who was disqualified after finishing first in the 400-meter race, returned to New York today on the steamer Majestic. In relating his version of the much-discussed incident of the race, Carpenter said:

"I have no recollection of having touched Lieutenant Halswelle at all. I feel keenly the injustice of having been disqualified for alleged unfair tactics. I did nothing to warrant my disqualification."

Carpenter asserted that he had witnessed of the race who would substantiate everything he had said about the matter.

Among others of the athletes on board the Majestic were Forrest Smithson, who won the 110-meter hurdle race, breaking the world's record; J. A. Reator, who finished second in the 100-meter race; Harry Hillman, who finished second in the 100-meter hurdle; E. T. Cook, who tied with Gilbert in the pole vault; W. W. Burroughs, of Chicago, and M. A. Griffin, of Indiana.

At a meeting tonight the committee having in charge the details of the reception to the athletes, decided to invite Mrs. Roosevelt and the Roosevelt children to view the ceremonies on August 29 from a stand to be erected at the city hall. Acting Mayor McGowan will send the invitation in behalf of the city to Sagamore Hill tomorrow.

At tonight's meeting it was suggested that Governor Hughes bestow the gold medals upon the eighty-odd Olympic athletes, and to make a speech of presentation. Arrangements have been concluded by the music committee to have 1,500 singers at the city hall. "My Country, 'Tis of Thee" will be sung to the accompaniment of ten massed bands.

PARSON WHO ELOPED IS OUT OF JAIL AFTER THREE YEARS

sively and even gladly made way for the other. With Pastor Cordova things did not work out so smoothly. His wife, the mother of several little children, could not comprehend the fine points of the new idea. In her eyes it was unfaithfulness, calling for the action of the law, when her own tearful pleadings failed to convince the pastor of the error of his ways.

The girl in the Cordova case was Miss Julia Browne, who belonged to a respectable family in South River, N. J. She was a choir singer in the church of which Cordova was pastor. In the course of time the fondness of the pastor for the pretty young choir singer became so apparent as to cause comment. Some of the leaders of the church dropped quiet hints to the pastor reminding him of his indiscretion. But the hints remained unheeded, and Cordova was removed from his pulpit and Miss Browne no longer sang in the choir.

One day he and Miss Browne disappeared from the village, the pastor leaving his wife and children destitute. He was found by a few friends who still stood by him and persuaded him to return to his forgiving wife. But it was not long until the pair again eloped, and this time all trace of them was lost for weeks. Neighbors cared for the deserted family, while the police sought the missing pair. Finally they were found in an obscure hotel in New York city. The girl was in a delicate condition.

Cordova had the alternative of leaving the girl forever and returning to his family or to face imprisonment for his misdeeds. He chose the latter course. After a short but sensational trial, he was found guilty and sentenced to five years in prison. This term, less the period taken off for good conduct, ended this morning.

According to reports, Cordova expects to make Newark his future home. Miss Browne it is said, is waiting for him in retirement with her child at Ocean Grove. Cordova says he expects now to be "happy."

BOARDING HOUSE WILL BE OPENED

Y. W. C. A. Will Provide Home for Women—Wednesday of Fair Week "Tag Day."

The directors of the Young Women's Christian Association are negotiating for a boarding house for young women. The property has been selected and the deal practically consummated, but the exact location has not yet been made public.

One of the officers of the association said yesterday afternoon that the home will be located near enough to the business section of the city for the women who work in stores and offices to take their lunch at the home, besides being a convenient location for a boarding house.

It is the purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association to provide a home for young women who come to the city as strangers—a home where young women may be sheltered from the temptations that often lead them down to their ruin, and a place where Christian influences may be felt.

At a meeting of the directors held yesterday afternoon at the Carnegie library it was decided that Wednesday of fair week shall be designated as "tag day."

A resolution was transmitted from the board of managers of the Centennial deeming it not advisable to have a "tag day" during the Centennial. The women are not disposed to be routed out entirely, but they postpone the "tag day" until the Centennial is over and will not bother the wisecracks who cannot tolerate a pastime that will prove profitable to the women.

This is the novel method the women have adopted to raise funds to aid in the prosecution of their work. Hundreds of young women will be provided with tags representing different amounts of money. The men will be tagged for such amount as the women think they should give to help along their cause. It will be a dishonor to be untagged and the tag will represent the amount which has been contributed.

some later date and that he will have evidence to prove the truth of the allegations. J. L. King moved that a hearing of the matter be postponed to the next regular meeting to look into the situation. The motion was carried.

After this the question of making an appropriation for the chamber of commerce came up and consumed some time in its consideration. M. W. Thompson spoke in favor of the appropriation, saying that the organization is carrying a heavy debt and that it cannot successfully carry on its work without help. Speeches along this line were also made by R. C. Hood, E. J. Justice, E. P. Wharton and W. E. Harrison.

Alderman McLean made a motion that the city give the $500 and make a note for the amount, to be paid January 1. Alderman King said that he had no objection to the appropriation, in fact, he would like to see a larger one made if the city could afford it, but he did not think it proper for the city to assume any further debts at present. He said that since the new board had come in, it had tried to get rid of the load of debt left by the last board and has succeeded in taking up the floating debt by means of a bond issue and that it has been a hard struggle to get the city on its feet. Mr. King said that it will be necessary to borrow money to pay the running expenses of the city as it will be some time before this year's taxes are available. He is opposed to making any unnecessary debts.

Alderman Glascock said that there seemed to be a popular demand that the board do something for the chamber of commerce and that some money had to be spent for advertising. He thought this a good way to spend it. Mr. King said that all the surplus money the city had to lay new sidewalks. It is true that property owners will pay back this money, but it will take some time to get it. Alderman Bain took about the same position on the appropriation that Mr. King did. When the proposition was put to a vote, Alderman Glascock and McLean voted aye, and Alderman Bain and King no. Mayor Brandt casting the deciding vote, aye.

J. W. Fry and J. A. Odell, members of the board of cemetery trustees, submitted proposition looking to the purchase of a strip of land in the vicinity of Greene Hill cemetery. There was much consideration and discussion of the matter, but final action on it was postponed until next Thursday evening, when a called meeting of the board will be held at 8.30. J. A. Odell, whose term as cemetery trustee expired May 31, was re-elected for a period of three years.

J. A. Odell brought to the attention of the board the matter of excessive blowing of whistles by locomotives. The question was referred to the mayor and chief of police.

M. W. Thompson, C. M. Vanstory and T. A. Hunter appeared before the board as representatives of the board of managers of the Centennial and asked that improvements to East Sycamore street be made, so as render the approach to the auditorium more attractive. The question was referred to the street committee.

A report of the treasurer of the city library for quarter just passed was read, received and filed.

A monthly report of the chief of police, which showed that collections for fines in the month of July amounted to $224, was read and referred to the police commission.

The new sidewalk ordinance was adopted by a unanimous roll-call.

Misses Sadie Stern and Mozella Olive are spending some time at the Mt. Airy White Sulphur Springs.

BASEBALL LINGERS IN THE MEMORY OF FANS

Local Fans Say Greenville Shows Weakness in Expressing Temerity of Meeting Patriots in All Games Scheduled.

"Go, But This Is a Lonesome Town," is the chorus of the street since the ending of the Carolina League baseball season. There was many a lonely expression on the faces of those who have for several weeks been regular attendants at the ball park or faithful spectators in front of the bulletin boards when games were being played in other towns.

"How is business?" and "what is the political news?" is not taking like the proverbial "hot cakes." There is a lingering desire for baseball gossip and it will be several days before the politicians will be able to have things coming their way. There is little interest in the Republican primaries to be held Monday, but by the time these events are pulled off and candidates nominated for the various county offices, baseball will be marching toward the back seat.

James McKeivitt, who has so successfully managed the team of "Patriots" this year, will probably manage the team for the next season. With the exception of Walsh and Walters the players are already signed and it is understood that Walsh has signified his willingness to again be the star player, not only of the Greensboro team, but of the entire league.

There is some comment on the story that Greenville is protesting the game she won because she did not want to play a double-header. The action is strongly condemned by some as being unprofessional, while others look upon the matter as a joke. If Greenville had lost the game they protested against playing, there would be some semblance of excuse for kicking, say a number of fans. The men who are in charge of Greenville for loading up on the best players of the disbanded South Carolina league with the hope of winning the pennant. A man interested in the Rock Hill team, which owns James, who played for Greenville in all four of the games of the last series, offered to sell him to Greenville, saying that Rock Hill would sell him to enable the club to make ends meet financially. It is pointed out that this is in violation of the rules of the national association and subjects all the games of the last series to be forfeited to Greensboro.

Greensboro fans say they want just what they won and no more, but if Greenville wants to kick, she may proceed to her satisfaction. Local fans are proud of the fact that they won the championship, notwithstanding the Greenville team, the second best team of the league, was supplanted by the best players of the South Carolina league. The claim that it is a compliment to the Patriots that Greenville, notwithstanding her reinforcements, feared to meet the Patriots in the full number of games due to be played.

WAS PROBABLY SAVED FROM HORRIBLE DEATH

WOMAN CAUGHT BETWEEN TWO CARS OF MOVING TRAIN RESCUED BY C. R. NORMAN.

A woman, whose name was not learned, was probably saved from a horrible death yesterday afternoon by Charles R. Norman.

Train No. 36 was pulling out from the passenger station when a middle aged lady attempted to get aboard the train. She missed the step and caught between the cars. Mr. Norman had just stepped from the train when he saw the danger the woman was in. He seized her in his arms and placed her safely on the moving train.

THE PENNANT WINNERS GOOD STEADY OLD HEADS

(Spartanburg Herald.) "The tumult and the shouting dies The captains and the kings depart." And Greensboro's got the coin and gone on. This last sentence isn't so Kiplingesque, but just as expressive. That bunch of Pop McKeivitt's quit notchers by a dangerously narrow margin, Wednesday—just two points. Taking two of the four games with Greenville clinched the flag.

It is interesting to note how near Charlotte came to losing it. By defeating Winston three straight in the final series the Hornets lacked just one point of tying the Twins for fourth place. Charlotte strengthened her team the last few weeks of the league and they played game, scrappy ball in the wind up.

Now that the flag goes to "Pop" McKeivitt's old heads, all the fans and dopsters can figure out just how it happened and the why and wherefore of our losing out. But the pennant went to the team who fairly won it by good, steady ball playing.

The following extract relative to Greensboro, is from the Charlotte Observer:

"The Patriots have played a magnificent game for four weeks, winning about twenty-one out of twenty-six games. Up to that time they seemed with Winston for the position of third place. When they finally got a streak, it never broke and the wave has borne them on to their position today."

No one thing has brought the victory, but several things combined made Greensboro a hard team to beat. One of the best assets the team had during the entire season was its coolness and deliberation on the field. It suffered no discussions such as often mark the career of an aggregation of younger ball players, particularly those who have not been many years from college. Under the able generalship of McKeivitt, backed by the determination and steadiness of Hicks at short, Cook at third and Red Walsh behind the bat, there is, after all, no great amount of wonder over the outcome. Walsh deserves the credit largely for the numerous successes of the pitching staff of the team. He is head and shoulders above any catcher in the league and gave his pitchers inestimable backing.

Greenville stayed at the top the larger part of the season, but suffered a slump from the effects of which they never recovered. Their pitchers weakened as the season advanced, the team stopped winning games so successfully as at the beginning and despite the fact that they are the best hitters and best fielders in the league, they lost out in the final lap of the struggle. More hits have been secured of Greenville's pitchers than any others in the league and a large part of the story is told there.

COLON BACCILLI IS IN MINERAL WATER

Board of Health Stops Sale of Moore's Spring Water Because of Impurities.

All is not gold that glitters, and all is not water that comes out of a spring, according to an analysis received here by the board of health of some mineral water which has been sold on the Greensboro market.

Many people in Greensboro, and probably elsewhere, in summer drink mineral waters in preference to the water furnished them by the city government, thinking that they are getting a pure article.

Some days ago the board of health of this city sent a sample of Moore's Spring mineral water to Raleigh for analysis, and when the analysis was received here yesterday it showed that the water contained 10,000 colon bacilli to the cubic centimeter of water. The board of health immediately ordered the sale of the water, which was quite extensive here, so it is said, to be stopped.

The spring in question, so it is said by those who know, is in a low place, and when a heavy rain comes it is overflowed, and thus the impurities find their way into the water.

It is understood that the city board of health will have samples of various other mineral waters analyzed.

NEGRO SHOT BY POLICE OFFICER

Henry Rhodes Gives Wild Performance and Runs When Officers Approach.

Mayor Brandt held a special session of police court yesterday afternoon for the purpose of trying Henry Rhodes, a negro about twenty-three years old, on the charge of an assault with a deadly weapon.

The evidence showed, in fact the negro admitted on the witness stand, that he is a cocaine fiend.

Thursday afternoon Henry gave an open performance out in East Market street something similar to an Indian war dance, except he was minus a tomahawk and had only a scalping knife. There was no evidence that he attempted to carve anybody, but several of the witnesses said that he was acting in an insane way and made occasional leaps in the direction of some of those who were watching his antics. They usually moved about the same time and none of them got within the reach of his dagger.

Finally somebody thought to send for the police. Chief Neeley and one or two others went out to capture the warlike Henry, but he evidently had no mind to fall in the hands of the police, even if his brain was crazed with the deadly drug he had been taking. The negro led the officers a pretty lively chase, and was only captured after Special Officer Joe Andrews had fired four times at him with a pistol, one of the shots hitting him in the leg. The pistol ball stopped Henry, and he was then taken into custody and locked up.

After hearing the evidence the mayor had the charge in the warrant changed to disorderly conduct. He sentenced him to the workhouse for thirty days.

The negro was a pitiable looking object, with wild, staring eyes, bareheaded and clothed only in a shirt which was split open down to his waist and a pair of coarse pants and shoes. He was a living example of the ravages which the terrible drug, cocaine, is committing upon so many of his race.

examined the wreck. He was quickly surrounded by anxious friends to whom he explained that there had been no accident in the air, but that he had merely decided to try a new descent. He shut off the motor at a height of seventy-five feet, and endeavored to float downward. The real cause of the accident was the attempt to land exactly on the spot of his departure. In lifting the planes at the last moment in order to continue the gliding progress, he pulled the left plane too sharply.

The damage can be repaired easily, although because of the absence of the necessary material the work will require several days.
