SHAKE HER UP, BOYS.

Nominations for mayor continue to be made, as this issue of the JOURNAL-OBSERVER testifies. They are all good men, but all cannot be elected. Tuesday night the choice will be made by the Democrats of their nominee, and this paper will support him, whoever he may be. We hope he will be a live, progressive man, who will not be governed in his conduct by antiquated traditions,and attempt to "run" the city on village ideas. Charlotte is a wealthy, active, progressive little city, with a brilliant future before her. Let her municipal government reflect the true spirit of her people, and let its motto be "Excelsior." Let, it keep abreast ef the spirit of the age in all respects, and inspire every citizen with a just pride in its achievements. Let old fogyism and narrow-minded selfishness take a back seat, and the genius of this 19.h century preside over the city's destinies. Lift the car of her progress out of the old ruts, set it on the broad gauge road that leads to enlightened prosperity, and propel it with all the force of a generous public spirit. Make the place attractive and beautiful and distinguished for the energy, enterprise and go-aheadativeness of its people. Shake up her up, boys, and she will soon be wearing the diadem to which she is rightfully entitled, and will be acknowledged as "Charlotte, the queen city of the State."

Shake her up, boys.

In concluding an editorial on Socialism in this country, the Philadelphia Times says, that if the English Government had been wise enough to use the money spent in detecting, convicting and imprisoning Herr Most in buying im a small house and lot in the suburi of London he would have settled down and long ere this he would have become one of the mildest and most harmless of men. "Socialism," it adds, "only needs to be given work and a license to talk, and it will effect its own cure." This may be all true, but what a lively time any government would have prowiding a house and lot for every fellow who would preach socialism. For three nights in succession Mrs Kimlin, of Paterson, N J, saw in a dream the body of her son stretched out on a table, dead, with his face teribly disfigured. Then she went before a magistrate and made a complaint against the young man, charging him with disorderly conduct, of which he had not been guilty. She was so impressed by her dreams that she feared he would be killed, and she wanted him locked up out of harm's way. The police could not find him. The next day he was brought home to die, with his skull crushed in, as she had seen it in her dream.

WIRE WORK. Telegraph Consolidation on a Grand Scale.

NEW YORK, April 21.- The stock holders of the Western Union Tele graph Company met to day to ratify the lease of the Mutual Union Tele graph Company's lines in accordance with the ruling of the court. There was only one dissenting voice and that came from Josiah C. Reiff, a holder of 100 shares of Western Union stock. Through his lawyer he submitted written protest against any vote being taken, on various grounds, the principal one being because it was a competing and not a connecting line; that its consolidation was contrary to law and in opposition to the constitutions of sundry States. He protested also against the reception of votes representing any of the $15,000,000 increase in the stock and claimed that the stock was now so blended that it was impossible to select the genuine from the illegal. With the exception of this protest Reiff took no active part in the meeting, even declinvote. The votes in favor of ratifying the lease amounted to 612,586 out of a total vote of 800,000. The same votes were also cast in favor of the contract dated May 7th, 1881, for the

This charming little December 24th, 1794, and Robert Knox, the father of the bride, affixed his name to the bond as surety. This was clever in the old gentleman. Not many prospective fathers-in-law would do this sort of a thing now-a days. This giving of a marriage bond was a queer old law, and its object, one of the old citizens who gave one himself, tells us, was to insure that the man was able to support himself and to prevent the possibility of their being thrown on the public bounty.
