LIPE ON THE MISSISSIPPL"

Daily Journal-Observer.

FROM RICHMOND, Notes and Observations of a Visitor in the City on the James, RICHMOND, VA, May 9th, 1883.-I am under many obligations to the editors of the Richmond State and the Daily Dispatch for attention and courtesies received at their hands as your representative. These are both live papers, and are highly appreciated by the good people of Virginia, and wherever they are read. It has been many years since I visited this grand old city, so proverbial in days gone by for genuine old Virginia hos-pitality. Time has made no difference in that respect, while it has made wonderful changes in every kind of im provements. It would take too much space to even give you an outline of the vast improvements in Richmond since "our late little unpleasantness." No city in the South has made more substantial advancement. Magnificent private resiadvancement. Magnificent private residences now spot the city on the very ground I used to play on just forty forty years ago, and which was nearly one mile outside of the corporate limits. A former resident, talking with me, said that he regarded the Richmond & Alleghany Railroad one of the greatest improvements of the city, instead of the old James River and Kanawha Canal. It has certainly changed the appearance of that portion of Richmond known as "The Basin," and with its fine structure extending down to tide water. structure extending down to tide water. The capitol square at this season of the year is lovely, and the Washington monument, with its grand and magnifi cent equestrian statue of the father of his country, and the group of eight of Virginia's most distinguished men surrounding its base, are well worth a visit | the World's Industrial and Cotton Cento this beautiful "City of Seven Hills,"

The good people of Virginia have been groaning under the "Boss Billy Mahone" rule, but the day is not far distant when this traitor to his native State will be buried in oblivion never to be resurrected again-"so mote it be, amen." Well, to sum up the descrip-tion of this magnificent city, I will only say that for elegance of private residences, both exterior and interior, it cannot be surpassed in the South. The new reservoir is the grand "Boulevard" of the city, and it is a lovely spot, and every lady who has a horse or mule drives out there every evening. As an evidence of the great prosperity of this place, real estate has steadily advanced for the last eighteen years. RAILROAD DEPOTS.

Richmond is indeed sadly in want of suitable passenger depots, if we may judge from the one at the R. & P. depot. This has been so for these many years, but the good people here seem satisfied with it. Richmond deserves a better one, and if these few lines may in any way be the means of getting up an improvement in this respect, we will be more than glad. The writer does not intend this in any unkind spirit, but only to do as was so often suggested by my acquaintances, "touch them up" little, with a hope that these railroad companies would take the hint.

THE HOTELS. The Erchange and Rallard H the S'. James and Ford's Hotel, and the American are the principal ones. Ford's and the St. James, fronting the capitol square, are beautiful locations for a hotel, while the Exchange and American are down in the business part of the city. I will not attempt a criticism of these; suffice it to say they are all number one hotels, and well patronized by the traveling public.

THE BIG TOBACCO SHIPMENT. Richmond presented an unusual sight on Monday and Tuesday of last week in the tobacco line. Over two million pounds were shipped within the time mentioned, a full report of which appeared in the papers here, giving the different shippers, and the same appeared in your paper. It is safe to predict that in the next ten years Richmond will nearly double its population. With her railroads stretching out in every direction, to catch the trade from the South and West, must necessarily make it one of the growing cities of the

The Good Templars at their meeting on Monday night passed a resolution unanimously inviting Rev T C Hidan, D D, of Charlottesville, Va. formerly pastor of the Baptist church here, to deliver a lecture for their benefit, on his return from the Southern Baptist Convention. On Monday night about nine o'clock the steam mill and grist mill on O'Neal street on the west side of the river was street on the west side of the river was discovered to be on fire. The flames spread rapidly and the building was entirely consumed. It belonged to TA Honour, formerly of Charleston. He is an enterprising, hard working young man and his enterprise bid fair to be not only a useful one to the citizens, but a profitable one to the proprietor. The loss of building and contents is in the neighborhood of six thousand dollars, on which there was an insurance of $3,500. The fire probably resulted from the engine furnace, as the mill had been closed some little time before the fire was discovered. Mr Honour has pluck and energy and it is hoped will be able to soon rebuild.

After a Rainy Ride a Country Physician Tells What He Thinks of

"I wish to gracious some people would learn when they need a doctor and when they don't," exclaimed Dector E-, as he entered his house in a cosy little village in the 1: terior of the State of New York, after a tedious night ride of many miles. "I have been down among the mountains to see a man, who, the messenger said, was very sick and not likely to live 'til morning, unless he had immediate help; and found him suffering from a rather sharp attack of colic, which his fami y might have relieved in ten minutes, if they had a grain of sense and two or three simple remedies in the house. But no; they must remain ignorant as pigs, and when the least ache or pain takes them, send for a doctor, whether they ever pay

"Why, Doctor, what kind of simple remedies, as you call them, do you expect people to keep in the house?" asked the wife, as she poured him a cup of hot tea. "In this case," answered the Doctor, "if they had only put a BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER on the man's stomach, he would have
