LET 'EM COME.

The English are investing very heavi ly in Southern lands. One company bought 311,000 acres in the Panhandle of Texas recently. Another company bought 1,300,000 acres of bottom land in the Yazoo district of Mississippi, which they intend to drain and fit for cultivation. Another company bought 2,000,000 acres from Disston out of his 4,000,000 acre purchase in Florida. Other companies have bought largely in Kansas and Colorado, but the South is the favorite region for English capitalists. They say that their own country offers no inducements to capitalists to invest. especially in land; that this country is the place, and that the cheap lands of the South appear to be the best part of this country to put money into. It is to be hoped that these investments will turn out well, because, if they do, there will be a very large importation of English capital into the South, which will make it blossom like the rose.

Judge J. B Forsker, was nominated for Governor of Ohio, last Wednesday, by the Republican convention in session in Cincinnati. He is a citizen of Cincinnati, 36 years old, and has never been in politics except when elected about three years ago a county judge of Hamilton county. He was a private soldier in the United States army at the age of 16, a commissioned officer at 17, and a judge at 23. He was a captain on the staff of Gen. Henry W. Slocum, now the Democratic congressman-at-large from New York. He graduated at Cornell University in 1868, after passing three years at the Ohio Wesleyan University. The Texas Pacific Rallroad land grant comprises 14,000 000 acres in Californ's, Arizon's and New Mexico, and would have been patented to the Texas Pacific had it built the road. This it failed to do. The Southern Pacific, as the assignee of the Texas Pacific, now claims the broad acres. The Secretary states that, owing to the peculiar condition of the law regarding so-called lapsed or forfeited 'and grants, he is obliged "to hang up" these 14,000,000 acres. No trespassing will be allowed. The intending settler must move on. The prospects for a powerful lobby in Washington next winter for the purpose of affecting the aims of the claimants are reckoned good.

When things grow dull in Canada they fall back on the annual Fenian scare. The last was that frolicsome gang of Fenians, with satchels, who went over from the States to blow up the Welland Canal, but who finding the aforesaid canal strung with sentinels concluded to postpone the performance and return, with their satchels, whence they came. The next thing we expect to hear from Canada is that the Fenians entertain hostile designs upon the St Lawrence river and will proceed at once to knock the bottom out of it.

Senator Lamar's mode of life is simple. He has generally a large suite of rooms, strewn with books and papers. He lives alone. He eats when he is hungry, and at the nearest hotel or restaurant wherever he may happen to be. He used to have his wife with him, but now, poor lady, she has become a hopeless invalid through much sorrow from domestic griefs. Lamar is as careless as a child in money matters. He never knows how much he has, and often pays the same bill twice to dishonest tradesmen.

Methodist presiding elders of the Northwest in convention at Minneapolis, the other day, by a vote of 25 to 12 adopted a resolution declaring against itineracy. There was an extremely warm debate before the vote and it is not unlikely that the action will start a formidable controversy.

Over 50 years ago a well defined plan to connect New York and Brookin by means of a suspension bridge was projected and largely discussed. The New York Gazette in 1829 printed the outlines of the proposed plan. The cost was estimated at $600,000. The present bridge cost about $16,000,000.

The Noriolk Navy Yard Investtigation. WASHINGTON, June 7.- Until the return of Secretary Chandler no further action will be taken relative to the charges prefered by ex-Representative Dezendorf of violations of law and of the regulations of the Norfolk navy yard. Although the board have reportd that no violations of law or regula-tions were found to have existed be-tween the dates specified by Mr Dezen-dorf. It is understood that the Secre-tary is not satisfied as to the thorough-ness of the investigation and that he will order another board to be composed of officers of the navy other than those of officers of the navy other than those attached to the Norfolk yard. Admiral Nichols, chief of the bureau of yards and decks, in a communication to Secretary Chandler suggests that "limitations of enquiry between dates of May 1st and 11th does not meet the requirements of the order of May 19 to make a thorough and exhaustive investigation." He also says "neither do I think sufficient notice was given Mr Dezen-dorf to present any charges." An officer of the navy department stated to-day that the seaworthiness of the Pinta was a matter upon which naval officers seemed to differ in opinion; that some had expressed doubts of seaworthiness while others, and among them Captain Meade, believed her perfectly seawor-thy and well adopted to the special service for which she has been fitted

Death of the Editor of the Baltimore

American. BALTIMORE, June 7.—Chas. C. Fulton editor and proprietor of the Baltimore American, died at 8:35 a m to-day at his residence, 478 Eutaw Place. Mr. Fulton had been in bad health for about five months and his death was not unexpected. He was 67 years of age, hav-ing been born in l'hiladelphia in 1815. When quite young he entered the National Gazette office in that city as an apprentice and after serving as a journeyman printer in Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, he removed to Georgetown, D. C., and bought the Advocate newspaper, which he sold five years afterwards. In 1840 he accepted position as compositor on the Baltimore Sun, but was soon transferred to the editorial room, where he served respectively as reporter, news and telegraph editor, and afterwards managing editor, being one of the pioneers in local reportorial and telegraph work.

He was also first agent of the Associated Press in Baltimere. In 1853 he purchased an interest in the American, and in 1862 became sole proprietor of prominent part in the politics of his State and of the United States and was widely known.

Mrs. Matthews vs the Carolina Central.

RALEIGH, N C, June 7.-In the United States Circuit Court to-day argument was finished in the case of Mrs Virginia B Matthews vs the Seaboard Bailroad Company to recover posses-sion of the Carolina Central Bailroad which is now under the management of the Seaboard Road. The argument continued two days. Hon D L Russell and Duncan K McRae speaking for the plaintiffs and Edward Patterson and E B Robinson for the defendants. The plaintiffs alleged that the control of the Carolina Central Bailroad had been now being virtually wreehed by the defendants. The defence alleged that the sutordination of the Carolina Central to the soabord system had not injured the former; that the transfer and control were legal and that there had been no violation of the trust. Judges Bond and Seymour took the papers in the case and reserved their dicision. The case will of course go by appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Sayings in the House of Commons.

LONDON, June 7 .- In the House of Commons this afternoon Sir Wm Harcourt, Home Secretary, read a letter from Lord Rosebery in which the latter stated that he had not resigned the office of Under Secretary for the Home Department because of the Home Secretary's statement in the House touching his duties. Sir Wm Harcourt explained that Lord Roseberry's acceptance of the office in the first place was only temporary. In reply to a question relative to the American labor reform leage Sir Wm Harcourt said the government were perfectly alive to the necessity of paying attention to such A Fatal Stroke of Lightning.

ASHLAND, Pa., June 7.-Lightning st night struck and demolished a tenement house eight miles from here, occupied by Hungarians. A man named Guoldinsky was partly paralyzed, and another named Molino had a leg and arm broken. A woman named Kissa-muth was knocked senseless, and was buried under the fallen timbers. Another inmate was frightened so badly that he became insane and wandere into the woods, where he was found this morning. The woman and Guold insky are seriously injured. The light-ning also struck a house near by, but the inmates escaped without injury.

An Objectionable Appointment.

LONDON, June 7.- In the House o Commons this afternoon Mr O'Donnell, member for Dungarvan, gave notice that he would move that the appointment of the Marquis Lansdowne as Governor General of Canada was cal culated to excite grave discontent both among the oppressed Irish in Ire-land, who look upon the appointment as in no sense a conciliatory movemen on the part of the government, and among the free Canadians.

The Best Improvement of All. Our city is making immense strides in the way of improvements, and the latest and best of all will be commenced at once on the vacant lot east of the Carolina Central depot, and opposite Liddell & Co.'s machine shops. Both buildings are to be of brick, with metal roofs. That vacant lot has long been an eve-sore to that section of the city, and that it is at last to be built up particularly in this manner, will be good news to our people. The lot is owned by the Richmond and Danville Railread Company, who leased it to the parties interested in the building im-provements mentioned.

THE FATHER IN JAIL.

Arrest and Imprisonment of Mr. A. C. Shields, on a Charge of Being "Accessory Before the Fact"-To be Tried To-Day on a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

The interest in the Shields Sitton tragedy which was slightly on the wane. was suddenly revived yesterday over the news that Mr. A. C. Shields, father of the slayer, had been arrested and lodged in jail on charge of being an accessory to the crime. Mr. Shields is an old man, fifty-five years of age, and was arrested yesterday morning in Paw Creek township by deputy sheriff W A Griffith, who was on his way to Mr. Shields' house to make the arrest when he met Mr. Shields in the road. The two came on to the city together, and after Mr. Shields had consulted for a short time with his lawyer, Judge Bynum, he accompanied the officer to the jail. The arrest was made on a warrant issued by Mr. S. B. Smith, coroner of the county, charging Mr. Shieids with being an "accessory before the fact," in the murder of Jos. G. Sitton. The coroner's jury last Wednesday, returned a separate verdict declaring that they found the elder Shields guilty of being accessory, but this verdict, for reasons best known to the coroner, was withheld from the reporter. The testimony of several witnesses was given to the effect that Mr. Shields had made remarks to indicate that he knew the shooting was contemplated, and that Sitton would have been shot last week had Thomas Shields been prepared for it. These are the grounds for Mr

Shields' arrest. Through his attorney, Mr Shields applied to Judge Shipp for a writ of habeas corpus, which was promptly granted, and the accused will be brought from jail this morning for a hearing before Judge Shipp. The trial is set for 9 o'clock at the court house, when the witnesses in the case will be examined and the merits of the case thoroughly examined into. The murder is still the general topic of street conversation and the interest in the details continues unabated. The elder Shields will probably be granted bail.

Not Murder but an Attempt at Murder. An account appeared in our columns last Tnesday of a colored man, who gave his name as James McMullen. coming up to Justice McNinch and turning State's evidence in what appeared to be a murder case, committed near Rock Hill, S. C. McMullen stated that a party of colored men, whose names he gave, had murdered Mr. Jerome McElwee and hid his body in the woods. The Rock Hill Herald, received yesterday, copies our local and throws some light on the subject. It says that "Mr. McElwee was living and was in town last Saturday, though it is no fault of Smith Reed, Levi Waters. Mose Hemphill and Joshua Hemphill, the negroes named in the above article, that he is a living man. On the night of the 1st of last September they, with others, led by Smith Reed and his wife, went to Mr. McElwee's house and attempted to enter, the avowed purpose being to kill the gentleman whom Mc-Mullen says they did kill. They failed in the attempt, and were afterwards arrested, tried, convicted and sent to the penitentiary. We do not know who James McMullen is, unless he be a negro of that name living near Lancaster village, a brother of whom had one of the above negroes in his employ at the time of the riot. We cannot imagine what his object can be. It is certain that Mr. McElwee was not killed on the occasion referred to by him, unless it be only his spirit that we have with us now. It may be that Jim's object was to get a couple of day's lodging at the expense of the city of Charlotte, and that hardly seems probable if he be the Lancaster McMullen, as he is a very good boy and is able to pay his way."

McMullen has been spending his time since his incarceration in jail here in writing letters to his brothers in South Carolina, telling them that he is in trouble, and asking them to pray for him. His letters have been intercepted by the police, but so far they have gained nothing by it.

The City Court.

A repentant, but somewhat dusky gang were before the mayor yesterday morning. Austin and Philander Hayes the two colored boys who ran a crowd a foot race through the streets night before last were the first ones attended to. They had shot at Gadsden Earlejust previous to the race, and the diffi. culty between themselves and Earle was brought about by a woman. The mayor put each of the boys under a $50 bond for their appearance for trial by the Inferior court, and as they could not give bond they were sent to jail Austin was put under an additional bond of $50 for carrying concealed weapons. Earle was put under a bond of $25, which he gave and was released. Two negro women, Gus Ludwig and Mag Clarke, and a colored man named Horace Jones, were arraigned for a fracas. The two mermaids and the merman were bathing in a creek near then the fun ended in a row. The merman was fined $7.50 and was put to breaking rocks for the city, while one mermaid was fined $5 and the other a penny and costs. Sallie Hicks, an old offender, for throwing rocks at a house, was fined a penny and costs.

Our Friends, the Mormons. Nothing more has been heard from the two Mormon missionaries who were interviewed in this city by the reporter last Friday, but it is presumed that they are seeking whom they may convert in Polk county. There are two of them down about Rock Hill, but they are not meeting with much success. The Herald says: "The two Mormon missionaries, Elders Robertson and Miller, who have been prowling about India Hooks for some time preached to a small gathering of negroes and Indians last Sunday at a point in Ebenezer township about six miles from this place. This is the second time these vagabonds have crossed the river, but they have not made any converts on this side yet, nor do we think they are likely to. Complimentary Larceny.

The fact that it has now become the regular habit of a number of our esteemed contemporaries to copy verbatim et literatim into their telegraphic columns all the important local items of the Journal-Observer, and head them "Special to the ---," isjaccepted as evidence that the JOURNAL-OBSERVER is regarded as a valuable exchange, and is fulfilling its mission as an enterprising newspaper. The injustice of such combined larceny and mendacity is a trifling matter in comparison with the compliment involved, and, we hope, will not be allowed by our esteemed contemporaries to deter them from a continuance of the practice. Their realers will give them credit for enterprise, and that will be gratifying and profitable to our esteemed contemporaries, and harmless to everybody else, while it will tickle the vanity of the local editor of the JOURNAL-OBSERVER, and thus fill the measure of his highest ambition.

The New Telegraph Office to be Opened in Charlotte Within Six Weeks.

Our city will soon have the advantges of a competing line of telegraph and one which promises longer life than the late American Company. The new line is being erected by the Baltimore and Ohio Company, aided by a company of New York brokers, and will be known as the Southern Telegraph Company. Its line extends from New York to New Orleans, and the wires are up as far South as Danville. at which place an office is now open. Two construction corps are now putting up the wires between Danville and Charlotte, and Mr. A. J. Baldwin, boss of the construction work, tells us that the line will reach Charlotte and an office open for work within six weeks from to-day. Two wires are being put up and are being strung on the old American line. A construction force is working the way from New Orleans. The location of the office in this city has not yet been selected, but it will be made central and convenient. Yesterday nine car loads of cross arms were unloaded at the Richmond & Danville depot for distribution North and South of this point.

A RIOT ON KING STREET.

Negroes Resisting the Police, Breaking Windows and Wounding Inoffensive Cityzens.

Citizens.

Charteston News and Courier, 7th inst.

Last evening a negro named Warren Grant took a ride on the merry goround in Robb's lot, King street, and refused to pay the proprietor, Mr Ludwig Schemmeier. Mr Schemmeier called a policeman and Grant caught Mr Schemmeier by the beard. When the policeman came up and arrested Grant about fifty of the negroes present attempted to rescue him, and followed the officer, throwing bricks and using abusive language. Several windows on King street were amashed by the crowd, and Mr Michael McDavitt, a shoemaker, who was standing in his doorway, received a painful wound, from a way, received a painful wound, from a rock, on his head. As soon as the authorities at the station house could be notified, Lieut Heidt and Officer Miller went up to the scene of the disturbance went up to the scene of the disturbance and dispersed the mob, which had increased to about one hundred and fifty men. A W Brunges and Joe Rivers, both colored, two of the ringleaders, were arrested, and with Grant were lodged at the station house. At one time King street looked like it did in '76, and the three men arrested, and as many more of those implicated as can be arrested will be committed for trial for riot."

for riot." A Dangerous Amusement. In a party in St Joseph, Me, was a young man "noted for his brilliant conversational powers," and a beautiful girl "frem one of the upper counties;" and in the course of a struggle for the possession of a trinket "the girl sank her ivory teeth into the fleshy part of the young man's arm." He politely concealed his pain till he returned home, when, on removing his garments, blood was found trickling from the wound. Next morning the lacerated arm was found swollen to twice its natural size, and he was laid up for several days. The St Joseph paper, in re-lating the incident, refers to another and worse one of a similar nature that occurred at Cape Girardeau a few years ago, in which a young gentleman actually died from a playful bite on his thumb by a young lady. The paper remarks: "It frequently happens that the bite of a woman is poisonous."

In a Tight Box.

New York Times. The indications are that the election this fall in Ohio will turn almost wholly on the liquor question. The law its constitutionality is questioned and cannot be passed upon until the date fixed for the State convention, so date fixed for the State convention, so there is talk of postponing the convention. It would be unfortunate for the party to find it had passed an unconstitutional act for a second time on this question; but the act is passed, and the party cannot help adhering to its principle without being defeated. The Sepublicans of Ohio seem hardly to have learned that a party is never put in power for what it does not believe in.
