DODSON'S CASE.

The trial of W. T. Dodson, charged with murder, arson, and embezz'ement, in Danville, Va., was closed Saturday. He was found guilty of manslaughter. for which he was sentenced to the penitentiary for five years, of arson for which he was sentenced for three years, and of embezziement for which he was sentenced to two years; ten years in all, He plead guilty to the two latter charges. D.dam belongs to a respectable family, but and fallen into the habit of drinking and gambling, and embezz ing money of the warehouse where he was employed, until becoming desperate he insured his life for $5,000, and on the 23 d of April employed two negros a to bring him a dead body, his object being to burn the house he slept in, with the body in it, thus leaving the impression that he had met his death in that way, leave fur parts unknown, and let his family get the benefit of the insurance. Instead of bringing a dead body his employees brought a live man whom they knocked on the head and turned over to him and got the money which he agreed to pay them. He then arranged the body, fired the house and departed. But the fire was discovered in time to prevent the destruction of the building, and the game was exposed. He was arrested at Chatham the following day and brought back to Danville, where he has been since held awaiting trial. It was oue of the mes, deliberate crimes on record in that State, and throughout the trial Dodson showed a surprising amount of coolness.

A REMINDER.

The New York Sun tells those poliparty that they have probably forgotten the complexion of the House of Representatives which will assemble next December, and which would elect a President in case of a failure at the ballot box. If neither of three or more candidates gets a majority of the electoral votes, the House, voting by States, and a majority of each State delegation easting the vote of their State, would choose the President. According to this constitutional provision the Democratic candidate would get the following States, viz: Alabam t, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Michigan, Mis-Issippi, Missouri, Nevada, New York. North Carolina, Obio, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, West Virginia 1304 Misconsin-22 And the It public in cui didate would get the following Nates, viz: Colorade, Ellinois, I.-wa. Kansas, Maine, Mussachusetts, Minneast , Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Oregon, Pennsylvania, R'aute Island, Vermost, Virginia-45.

The State of Florida, not included in the above, is divided equally. In giving this political division of the States the

"The m st noticeable fact in this record is that the Democratic States include every part of the Union, and all its extrem-s, North and South, East and West. This is the first time since the civil war when the strength of that party has been distributed over so vast an area. California, Connecticut, Indiana, Michigan, Nevada, New York, Ohio and Wiscomin speak for the North. The old sectional lines are gone."

THE BURIAL OF PAYNE'S RE-MAINS.

The remains of John Howard Payne, the author of "Home, Sweet Home," were buried in Oak Hill Cemetery, Washington, D. C., last Saturday, with splendid and imposing ceremonies, Mr. R. S. Chilton, who wrote the inscription on his tombetone in Tunis, read a poem which we publish on the third page of this paper, and the funeral oration was delivered by Mr. Leigh Robinson. During the services a telegram was received from Will Carleton in the following words.

A MIDNIGHT ENCOUNTER

With a Burglar who Fights Game, but is Finally Captured -- Knocked Down Twice with Crowbars and Poles and Shot at Four Times-At Bay with a Knife-Burglars and Captors Bloody -A Small Bunch of Keys.

Sunday last, Messrs. Will Wager and G. W. Barnes, of Matthews Station, arrived in the city having two negroes in custody and lodged them in the jail at this place on charge of robbery. Their names were Jim Williams and George Hamilton, and the former hal been captured in the act of burglarizing a store at Matthews, while the latter was arrested on suspicion of being an accomplice. Williams resisted arrest and was not only badly wounded himself. but wounded his captors severely before he was taken. It appears that late Saturday night, a colored man came to Matthews to purchase some burial material and on going to the store of Mr. W. H. D. Wager, found the door open and, by a light that was burning within saw a negro man at work sorting out goods. He went to Mr. Wager's house and waked him after which they waked Mr. Sol Heed, and the three proceeded to the store to make the capture. Mr. Wager had a pistol, Mr. Reed armed himself with a pole and the colored man picked up the iron crowbar which the buglar had used in breaking open the door. Thus armed, the three men were standing at the door when the burglar ran out. The colored man swung his crowbar aloft and felled the burglar to the earth. He jumped to his feet and was knocked down again by Mr. Reed who struch him over the head with the pole. Again the negro jumped up and took to his heels, followed by the colored man and the two white men. Mr. Wager shot four times at Williams, but neither shot struck. On finding himself so closely pursued, the negro turned and drew his knife and began cutting the colored man who had come up with him. Mr. Wager, who came up second, received his share of the desperado's knife and was badly cut on the hands. the knife blade going clear through one of his hands. The colored man's body was terribly gashed and his clothing was cut into shreds. The three men finally disarmed the Legro and roped him securely, and waited for daylight. when they brought him on to town, together with Hamilton, who was suspected of being an accomplice. Williams, after being arrested, made clean confession, and stated that he had burglarized the store of Mr. J. Mc-Stafford, at Harrisburg, and also the store of John Newell, of this county. In Williams' possession was found a bunch of twenty-five keys, among them being several U. S. Mail keys and one key with Mr. Stafford's name on it. Williams stated that four other thieves were operating with him and gave their names to the officers as Frank Brown, Bill McK nzie, Tom Robbins and Jobel Robertson. It is probable that Williams and his gang have had a hand in the recent robberies in this city. Williams will be closely confined in jail and the officers expect to get further and more important confessions from him. ---

SWAY OF THE STORM KING. A WATER SPOUT THAT SPREAD WRECK AND RUIN.

Three Trains in Trouble on the Western North Carolina Railroad -- Tramp of a Charlotte Party-The Storm at Salisbury -- Barns Destroyed by Lightning, and Mills and Bridges Swept Away by the Flood.

One of the most terrific rain storms that has ever been known to fall in this State, visited Salisbury and vicinity last Saturday night. So frightful-was the downpour that many of the people are inclined to the belief that it was a genuine water spout. Be this as it may, it was no ordinary rain storm. Mingled with the roar of the torrents, came the roll of thunder and the crack of lightning, and the course of the turbulent streams, with mill houses and bridges tumbling and rolling down their swollen currents were lighted here and there by blazing barns. Little streams that in ordinary times could be stepped over by a child were quickly converted into rivers, and ruin was being worked on every hand. The storm appears to have extended for 10 miles around Salisbury and was severest up the line of the Western North Carolina Railroad, where two overturned engines and a buried train, bore evidence of its disastrous results.

A party of Charlotte boys were on board one of the trains and arrived home Sunday afternoon to tell their experience. There were three trains on the road, all bound for Salisbury. The mixed local and freight train was in the lead, a gravel train followed this and the regular passenger train brought up the rear. While the first train was going through a big cut, eight miles from Salisbury, a tremendous rock broke loose from the top of the embankment and came down on the track followed by a slide of land, catching and holding the train fast. Finding it impossible to move either backward or forward, Engineer Boyd cut his engine loose, and with the conductor and fireman started on to Salisbury to telegraph back and warn the other two trains.

THREE TRAINS IN A PREDICAMENT. A track walker was sent ahead of the engine with a lautern, and the engineer was moving slowly. After proceeding about two miles, and while crossing a culvert, the engine began to sink and then suddenly went down into thewater below, where it lay bottom up. Engineer Boyd, the fireman and the conductor leaped out at the first warning and escaped unhurt. In the meantime the gravel train was approaching the scene of the first wreck, under charge of Engineer Clark. Torpedoes had been planted on the track and warned by these, the engineer was driving along slowly, and just as he had arrived to within two miles of the "scotched" train, a culvert gave way under his engine and all went down in the surging torrent. The engineer and all hands escaped unhurt. Sometime afterwards, Capt. Tom Murphy's passenger train came up and stopped behind the gravel train. The rain was coming down in sheets and the scene was wild and frightful in the extreme. There were lifteen passengers on the local freight and ten on the regular passenger train. When daylight came, our Charlotte boys got out of the car and took up a pilgrimage to Salisbury. passing the wrecks on their way, and arriving at their destination in time for a late breakfast. All along their with prayer, after which Miss Sudie A tramp, they saw evidences of the severity of the storm. In a level field, the ceedingly interesting essay on "Sermons | dirt had been torn up and the solid red clay exposed for a depth of four feet. All the lowlands were under sheets of shining, rippling water, and the country roads were hollowed out and washed into big gullies. A construction train was at once sent to the scenes of trouble on the railroad, and yesterday morning the damages had been repaired and trains were run-

In Salisbury the rainfall was about 8 inches and at the depot the water stood four feet deep. Where one of the covered bridges spans the track, a landslide occurred bringing down the telegraph poles with it. The damage done in Rowan county is unprecedented. All the bridges leading to Salisbury are either swept away or damaged, and yesterday the town was cut off from the country mails and travel.

LOSSES BY LIGHTNING AND FLOOD. One of the severest losers was Mr. Kinley, whose thill and dam, with about sacks of flour were swept away. Shaver's dam and bridge were carried off, and the mill house was considerably estimate their damages at from $250 to $500. Mr. S. F. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Hammonathy. and acquaining ins whe with what he had done she refused to have it administered to the child as she was strongly in favor of Homocopathy. That night the child par sed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Be urning home the day following, the father found the baby still worse and while contemplating another steepless night, the mother steepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Boothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden and wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup and suffering crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never set falled to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudices of the mothes. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle. TWO HORSES AND A DRIVER.

Disastrous Result of Trying to Cross the Track Ahead of the Fast Mail--A Driver and two Horses Dashed to Destruction. Passengers who arrived in the city

Sunday morning brought news of a terrible accident that occurred on the Virginia Midland road, by which a colored man and two horses were killed by the Charlotte bound train. The accident occurred at a point where the railroad makes an abrupt turn around a hill and through a deep cut, and at the moment the horses stepped on the track, the train was not twenty-five yarda distant. The colored man was driving three horses, and the country road crosses the track in such a manner as to bring all three of the horses on the rails before the wagon wheels struck them. The saddle horse, on which the driver was seated, and the lead horse, were struck simultaneously by the engine. The moment the enginner saw the horses on the track, he realized the danger. There were ten coaches in his train and a hundred or more lives were in peril. Had he attempted to check the speed of the train and struck the horses with a force not sufficient to throw them from the track, a terrible wreck would have resulted. But quick as thought, the engineer pulled the throttle wide open and the train leaped forward like a flash, and hurled the driver and the horses into the air. The train literally ran through a shower of blood and flesh. The saddle horse was torn all to fragments, various parts of his body being found twenty-five and thirty yards from the spot where the accident occurred. The lead horse was knocked torty feet and killed dead as a door nail, while the horse that was next the saddle horse, was thrown down an embankment, but got up and walked off unburt. The driver was nowhere to be seen, but after some search his body was found lying at the foot of the embankment, exactly fifty yards from the crossing. The back of his head had been shattered and he had no doubt been killed instantly. The engineer saw his body go high into the air and descend in front of the engine, and it is thought that it lodged on the pilot and finally rolled off and down the embankment. The wagon was not hurt, and was left standing by the track. the tongue having been cut off and carried along with the horses. The body of the colored man was put on the train and carried to the next station, where it was turned over to the depot agent to be delivered to the relatives of the unfortunate man.

Advice to Mothers. Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for child ren t-ething Its value is incalculable. It will relit the por little sufferer immediately. Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, of Ga., says: Have derived some benefit from the use of Simmons Liver Regulator, and wish to give it a further trial. "The only Thing that never falls to Relieve. —I have used many remedies for Dyspepsia, Liver Affection and Debility, but never have found anything to benefit me to the extent Simmons Liver Regulator has. I sent from Minnesota to Georgia for it, and would send further for such a medicine, and would advise all who are similarly affected to give it a trial as it seems the only thing that never falls to relieve.

P. M. JANNEY, Minneapolis, Minn.

Dr. Z. W. Mason says: From actual ex-perience in the use of Simmons Liver Regulator in my practice I have been and am satisfied to use and prescribe it as a purgative medicine. DEOWNED IN BEER

I we Men Express their Minds. "The fact is sir, and you may stick a pin there, that the people of this country are likely to be drowned in a flood of lager beer," abouted an enthusiastic testotaler the ether day into the ear of your c-rnered correspondent. The German drink has struck us hard. It is the second deluge.

"Yes, and the worst of this beer-drinking business is that it gets up kidney troubles, as a heavy wind raises the waves," added a city physician, who had a knowledge or the times and a tendency to metaphor. "The midnight schooner seaves behind it a wake of furred tongues, head-aches, torpid livers, nausea, and all that, and lays the foundation of Brigat's Disease."

This melantholy fact accounts in part for the increasing sales of BENSON'S CAPCINE PORUS PLASTER, which at once mitigates these symptoms. Price 25 cents. Ask your physician about
