Mr Tilden has loaned the Louisville exposition a portrait of himself, to be placed in the art gallery. A portrait of himself going up the stairs at Greystone two steps at a jump, with H Watterson, toddling along exhaused in the back ground, would be interesting as a work of art.

The Anson Times thus pu's on record its appreciation of the balancing eapacity of the 'Morning Star: "The State would have tilted downwards at the west when so much of its brains was at Waynesville, had not the glorious Morning Star remained in the east. The Waynesville crowd were selid, but then they were too young, you know, and altogether weakly.

Lemuel M. Park writes an address to the Georgia Legislature, now in session, asking it to either make provision for the removal of, or the raising of a monument over the remains of the two hundred and forty-six Georgia Confederate soldiers who died in prison at Camp Douglas, on the suburbs of Chicago, during the war, and lie buried in Oakwood cemetery, nine miles from that city. It is a burning shame to any Southern State to thus let the remains of the gallant men who died in the defense of the South, be thus neglected and forgotten.

One of our cotemporaries intimates that in the event Messrs Elam and Beirne be tried for dueling in Virginia, the judge who has the privilege of delivering the charge will perhaps follow the precedent of one Johnson, an Irish judge, who some forty years ago charged a Galway jury as follows: "It is my duty to tell you, gentlemen, that the law of the land makes fighting in a duel a crime. At the same time it is equally my duty to state, and I feel sure in stating, that from the interesting account given by the witnesses, I never heard of a fairer duel in the many I have been a party to or witnessed in my life."

TEXAS COLORED MEN.

They Meet in Convention and Issue an Address. GALVESTON, July 13.—A News Aus tin special says: The Colored Men's State Convention before final adjournment adopted an address to the people. It congratulates the State upon the friendly relations of the races in Texas, assumes that the few cases of wrong and oppression upon colored people are exceptional and that the great body of whites are friendly; condemns lynch whites are friendly; condemn law; asserts that as railway pas law; asserts that as railway passenger negroes are badly treated; says they do not want in this matter to ask for so cial equality, but will freely accept social separation with equal accommodations on trains for the same pay advises their people to discharge ignorant and immoral teachers and preacher whose teaching and example keeps superstition and vice alive; discourages immigration from the State and ages immigration from the State and even from county to county unless for the best of reasons; recommends the purchase of lands and homes and the production of home comforts and the necessaries of life before producing articles for sale and that young men should be encouraged to learn trades; counsels local organizations to encourage all these aims, advises against petty litigation and recommends teachers and leaders to encourage friendly rela-tions with the whites. A Protest Against Lynch Law in Texas, GALVESTON, July 13.—A special from Austin to the News says that Gover-nor Ireland has received a letter from five colored persons of Marion county complaining of the recent lynching of two negroes alleged to have been guilty of raping a white woman in that county. The letter says that several young man have been likewise lynched and men have been likewise lynched and that the county judge and county officers would not protect them from lynch law. They appeal to the Governor for protection and threaten to take the law in their own hands if the demand is not complied with. The Governor's reply regrets that the law is not allowed to have its full sway and points out that no specific appeal has been made for redress. He promises that if an ap-peal be made the executive will endeavor to see that the law is not impeded. The Governor's reply conclude as follows: "I have to say that the threat to redress supposed wrongs through methods of your own is not

Chance to Show the Wealth of North rolina Side by Side with the Gree Wenith of the Famed West-An Offer That Should Not go by Unheeded.

The great exposition of minerals Denver, Colorado, is to take place of August 1st, and, through the enterpris of the Richmond & Danville Railroad Company, North Carolina will have an opportunity of showing her superior minerals side by side with the mineral of the famed West, and if the owners of mineral properties and mining in-terests will only take the trouble to get the necessary specimens, a gigantic mining boom in the Old North State will be the natural result of the exhibition. A proper exhibit of our North Carolina ore at Denver, will not only be the sare means of an early and general development of the mines of the State, but will bring thousands of dollars into our midst. In the interests of those who own and are operating mineral properties, the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company has determined to make an exhibit of the minerals of the region of country traversed by its lines of railroads at the Denve exposition.

While the carrying out of this project will be attended with much expense, the company, in view of the practical benefits which will result from such a display and advertisement, is willing to incur it. It wishes to show to the capitalists and practical operators who will congregate at Denver in great numbers, from the Eastern States and cities, and from foreign lands, the great attractions which are to be found in our rich and varied mineral fields: the unusual inducements which are presented in the mildness and healthfulness of our climate—the fortility and adaptation of the soil to all products; the abundance and purity of water; the cheapness and ease of living; the wealth of virgin forests and coal fields; the facilities of transportation and preximity to the great cities and seaports; the settled and well ordered condition of society. The question to be determined, and that quickly, is how far the class to be most benefitted will give its aid and show its for such an exhibit as will do credit to the mineral resources of the country to be illustrated, and produce the impression which can and ought to be made. Well selected specimens of the copper, gold, silver, lead and sinc ores are particularly wanted, and, in addition, rich specimens of "free" gold ores, nuggets, placer washings, native silver, carbonates, chlorides to embellish the display and show that all the richness of precious metal is not confined alone to Western fields. Will our miners aid the company by a contribution of their ores, and add their finest and most valuable specimens? Of course, as has been the case heretofore, all such valuable specimens will be carefully preserved and returned. All specimens will be labelled with the name and address of the owner. Specimens of ores should weigh as much as fitty pounds,

A New Effect in Bangs. The latest thing out for the ladies crystallized bangs, and the style has just been introduced in Charlotte, albeit by accident. A young lady on west Tryon street, wishing to make her bangs stay bung, washed them in what she supposed to be a solution of soda, but immediately after the washing process, she was surprised at the odd effect. Her bangs, instead of appearing fluffy, gradually stood straight out from the forehead in such a state of crystallization and rigidity as to make the feat of impaling an apple upon them an easy one. She had used pulverized alum, in-stead of sods. The effect is unique, but whether or not this new style of bangs become popular with the fair sex re-

Arranging for the Unveiling Celebra-

A joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and the committee from the fire companies, was held Thursday night for the purpose of inaugurating a movement for a proper celebration on were being made, but the matter was forgotten and was never brought to the attention of the board of aldermen. The idea seems to meet with general favor and will be pressed before the board at the next meeting. A tower on top of the hall would set off the building finely and would be ornamental, in addition to being useful as the holder of the city clock. If the board decides upon this improvement, they abould at once advertise for bids and give out the contract. A town clock is one of the needs of Charlotte and the attention of the committee. The merchants and business men of the city have expressed a desire to see the occasion made as hig a thing as possible, and it is going to be a great day. The firemen are energetically at work and are determined to have besides the various fire companies of the State, about fire companies of the State, about fire teen thousand people present to witness the unveiling. The sculptured statue which is to surmount the menutiant will be shipped from Italy this ment will be shipped from Italy this ment will be about the contagion free general and them.

A considerable of a rumpus was rais ed at the office of Judge Hilton, near the city, last Thursday evening, by a negro man named George Mobley, who had been arrested by the colored constable Caldwell, on a number of charges, one of which was for wife heating Mobley was convicted of the first charge and when the officer went to handouff him, he dashed through the crowd and escaped. A party of a dozen or more were standing around and Mobley knocked four men down as he broke through the crowd. The officer followed in hot chase of the fleeing negro and ran him for two miles, and during the chase he fired seven shots at him, but Mobley finally escaped. It is thought that the last shot fired by the constable too effect, as Mobley fell with the report of the pistol, but quickly regained his feet and continued to run. The other charges preferred against Mobley were for resisting officers and retailing whiskey. He is considered a very desperate character.

A Bridge that Causes Trouble.

A good deal of complaint is being made about the bridge over Irwin's creek at the western end of Trade street. Notwithstanding the fact that this bridge is one of the most important of any near the city, and that travel over it is heavy and steady all day long, it is so narrow that vehicles cannot pass each other on it, and in consequence there is a continual blockade of travel at that point, wagons and buggles having to stop some distance off in the road waiting their turn, or chance to cross the bridge. The western approach to the bridge by a long, high, narrow embankment, over which only one vehicle can pass at a time, and the proximity of the burning brick kilns to this embankments, adds danger to inconvenience. Furthermore the bridge is said to be in a bad condition. The com-plaint is not only general, but it is just, and the authorities should at once look into the matter. A wider and safer bridge is needed and should be built. The Water Works Improvement. Mr. Jas. Gamble, president of the Charlotte water works company, arrived in the city yesterday from New York, and Monday morning a meeting of the directors of the company is to be held, when the matter of the water works improvement will be discussed. Mr. Gamble says that the order for the iron necessary for the heightening of the standpipe has been placed with the rolling mills and the work will commence as soon as the iron is shipped. On account of the great consumption of water daily in the city, and the impossibility of keeping a uniform height, all the water in the standpipe will have to be drawn and that receptacle cut off from the mains during the progress of the work. The Richmond & Danville locomotives alone draw 30,000 feet of water per day from the standpipe While the work is going on, the city will dra v its supply of water from the mains, which will be kept full under a heavy pressure by the engine at all

A Grievously Wronged Dog. One of our good citizens, with the view to raising poultry, some weeks since stocked his poultry yard with a number of fine fowls, and his idea of a successful poultry business was to find the nests full of eggs every day, but in this he was daily disappointed. It was evident that the nests were robbed of their eggs, and to find out who the robber was, the citizen in question set to work. He owned a Newfoundland pup and had a hired man on the premises who had fits. At the suggestion of this hired man, poor Tray was singled out as the thief, and as the nest robberies continued to occur, the dog continued to receive punishment as the guilty party. Hot eggs were thrown into his tower of the Methodist church, the question as to what to do with it has firemen's monument in this city, next them, and in addition to this punishduestion as to what to do with it has been raised. An examination reveals the fact that the clock, though old, is still in good condition and good for many more years of active service. It is suggested that the plan drawn by Mr Asbury for a tower on the city hall be carried ont and the clock placed therein. This was suggested at the time the improvements to the city hall were being made, but the matter was forgotten and was never brought to the attention of the board of aldermen. The idea seems to meet with general favor and will be pressed before the board at the next meeting. A tower on top of the half would set off the committee to have besides the various dawned.

This was suggested at the firemen in forwarding the movement. Mr Morgan is chair man of the committee. The merchants and business men of the city have expressed a desire to see the occasion made as hig a thing as possible, and it is going to be a great day. The firemen dayned.
