Billy Chandler who runs what is left of the U.S. navy, started with about 85 votes in his race for the New Hampshire Senatorship and wound up with 12. Perhaps they wanted him to continue in charge of the navy excursion boats.

Hoadly has nothing to add in regard to the Foster slander, and has dismissed the matter by saying: "My object is sufficiently accomplished by the disclosure of the name of his informant." Is this what Judge Hoadly calls "confronting ?"

Ex-Senator Dorsey is reported as saying in reference to the appointment of Sianly Matthews to a seat on the U S Supreme bench: "So far as the Matthews business goes, I can say that I know there was no surcement in writing." Perhaps, after all, then, it was simply a verbal agreement.

The Louisville Courier-Journal responsible for the statement that it has reliable information from New York ".hat an arrangement has been reached between the President and the Governor of Ohio, by which the two, their managers and followers, are to work together to make the Republican ticket in 1854 read Arthur and Foster." Blaine is a party to the agreement and Conkling is mad.

A Deacon's Decisive Petition.

At a village s few miles from Evans-ville lived a farmer, well to do, a wid-ower with two daughters. The young ladies will be heirensen, and this fact, added to their natural attractions, draws all the young men from far and wide to the farm, but. Mr Wilson's troubles have been sugmented of late. A revivalist has been down in his neighborhood and they've ended by making a descon of him. It was bad snough to have to keep the village beams from his daughters but of late some of our city young men have taken to drive over there to church. Last Sunday old Wilson was especially annoyed by young men 'who, during the whole time of service, were flirting with his youngest daughter. Their misbehavior was car-ried to a point when the regenerated father was praying. Suddenly he felt that he could bear it no longer, and raising his voice to its highest pitch, he prayed: home this morning. The Association decided to hold its next meeting at Lexington, Ky, commencing on the first Tuesday in May next. Dr. Rawls, of Lexington, had given the members of the Association a pressing invitation to hold their next meeting at Lexington, and had given them a glowing description of what he would show them if they would visit the famous blue grass region of Kentucky in May, Dr. Bawls was selected as a committee of arrange-

"No," she lisped. "I walked all wound there, and I didn't thee Judge Davis on the fence." The story got out, and ever since then Mr. Oberly has been afraid to call on Judge Davis. But I ventured to call on Judge Davis. But I ventured to call on him last night, after his return from a trip to some of his estates at a distance. Those industrious people who spend time and money in seeking out the names and dates of their grandfathers are very apt to make some discoveries that are far from agreeable to those with aristocratic tendencies; As an old Yankee aptly said; "There ain't many men in this country who could go back two generations without break-ing their necks over a lapstone or an to the people of that town and recomanvil."

-----The Democratic convention which met at Harrisburg, Pa, last Wednesday, was one of the most numerous and harmonious ever assembled in that state. The platform adopted is a strong one. On the tariff it takes substantial ly the same position as the Democracy of Obio, and also demands the abolition of the internal revenue system. Thus the Democracy of the country is wheeling into line and forming into solid columns. The Democracy of the States that have thus far spoken, Kentucky, Ohio, Virginia, North Carolina and Pennsylvania are united on the tariff question, and now the Pennaylvania Democrats join the Democracy of North Carolina and Virginia in demanding the abolition of the internal revenue system.

Arthur's Presidential Speculations.

LOUISVILLE, August 2 .- The state ment in the eastern papers that Presi-dant Arthur's trip though Virginia and to Kentucky was in the interest of his nomination next year has caused conaideral gossip here to-day. He has received attention from the most promi nent men in the State and city, and Democrats and ex-Confederates were about him all the time. His progress through the city yesterday was exceed ingly quiet. When Grant and Hayes ingly visited Louisville a few years ago each was cheered to the echo and received with every evidence of cordiality. Yesterday, after getting into his carriage, the President was greatly cheered, and stood up to bow his thanks for a short distance. The remaining mile and a half of the route was mostly lacking in demonstration, and the President sat back in his carriage with his bat pulled down, and was not called upon to recognize any shouts or applause. This fea-ture has been the subject of general remark and much quiet wonder among the politicians. It was expected that Commissioner Evans was for Arthur's renomination, and the action of the people yesterday, therefore, causes great surprise.

A Rumor that Eckert has Resigned.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 .- The striking telegraphers and members of the local trade associations held a mass meeting at Ford's opera house to night. There was considerable attendance and much enthusiasm. During the meeting a dispatch was received and read announcing the contemplated resignation of Gen. Eckert, of the Western Union Telegraph Company. It was received with exuberant manifestations of de-light. A rumor has been set afloat here to-night that General Manager Eckert, of the Western Union, has resigned, but its origin cannot be traced, and it is denied by Press Agent Somerville, and is generally discredited. It is attributed to the Telegraphers' Brotherhood in New York.

Coming to Charlotte to Get a Mule Bridled.

Tational Bank.

Mr Philo Summy, a citizen of Lincoln county came all the way to Charlotte yesterday with a mule to have it bridled. The mule had on a bridle that it had worn constantly for the past three years and as the bridle had become rotten, it was necessary to change it for a new one, and this change of bridle is a big thing, Mr Summy assured us, requiring five men with a twister to do the work. The mule has too much devilment in him to be bridled like any other mule, and three years ago when after a big fight and an infinite amount of trouble, Mr Summy succeeded in getting the bridle on the mule, he vowed that he would let it stay on until it rotted, and he did. Yesterday he bought a good strong bridle and getting the mule in Wadsworth's stables, hired five strong colored men who set to work with the twister. The mule resisted admirably, but after a hard struggle he was subdued and the bridle was buckled on his head. After this feat was successfully performed, Mr Summy took his departure with the animal and remarked that if the mule did not die before that tridle wore out, we might look for him back again sometime.
