Another Phase

Of the OBSERVER'S great Britannica offer, which should have your attention, is this: You can have The New Edition Encyclopædia Britannica for Ten Cents a Day and then have each ten cents returned to you by the liberal merchants of Charlotte and other leading cities of North Carolina.

The great Encyclopædia Britannica at ten cents a day? Surely that of itself were enough to work a revolution in this book-loving community. And then return the dime! Can all this be? A Yes, it can, and this is

The How of It:

We will present you with our novel invention, the Dime-Registering Calendar Savings Bank, that will register the dimes and the days. In this little bank you will drop a dime each day. At the end of the month there will be thirty; they're ours, for the bank is our col lector, but you do not miss them-it was only one a day -a cigar less to smoke, or a walk to lunch instead of a ride on the car. And for this trifling sum you have been enjoying in your home, your office, your study, the presence of that king of all reference libraries, The New Edition Encyclopædia Britannica.

Enough! Enough!!

You have concluded to accept the proposition. No one who has any appreciation at all for good books will longer do without this monarch of the realm of cyclopædia when it may be had for so small an obligation.

BUT HOLD

You have learned only half the truth, and the latter half is the more surprising half, or rather, the envelop ing whole. You remember we said that the dimes which we take from your bank are to be returned to you.

Those dimes! They are but trifles. You did not miss them as you dropped them, one a day, into the bank we gave you for that purpose; but when we take them out each month it is three dollars, and for it we return CURES SCROFULA, to you a three-dollar scrip book.

You need a new pair of spring pants, and go to Long, Tate & Co., clothiers, and make your choice. It's worth $8; you hand the clerk your scrip book, with the $8, and he tears out 80 cents in scrip and hands you back the same amount in silver.

Your wife sets out to do her shopping among the business houses. She likes to make her purchases of dry goods of H. Baruch. Her bill amounts *to $16.50; she hands the clerk the amount, also her scrip book, from which he tears $1.65 in scrip and hands her silver for the amount.

You wish a new pair of shoes. You must have the best, and go to Rankin & Bro., who likewise tear out 55 cents in scrip, on a $5.50 purchase, and return it in sil

And so every cent we took from your bank has been returned to you in coin, and you realize that the set of Britannica, which has now become so much appreciated in your home, is entirely paid for by the merchants who support this movement, and so it stands in your home monument to the enterprise and liberality of our business

Such generosity should be appreciated, and the only way your appreciation to these merchants is to call at the OBSERVER Britannica Reading Room, Arlington Hotel Building, and procure a set for your home. They made this offer for you, but you must act promptly, for the offer will be

It purifies and enriches the blood, quickens the action of the kidneys, the liver and the bowels, and gently and pleasantly stimulates the digestive organs, and in fact thoroughly renovates and tones up the whole system-and you have no more headache. Hot, Dry, Medicated Vapor has proved o be the most efficacious in all pulmonary diseases. Madam Tully has treated Charlotte families with great success after years of suffering. What is the best treatment for diseases of the throat question to the public and one that is not always easily answered. Diseases and their treatment are constantly changing. One of the ablest and most experienced professors in Rush Medical College said to the writer, a few days since, that the treatment of diseases had so changed that a medical work written ten years ago was hardly of any use now. There is no treatment in th world for diseases of the throat and lungs that is equal to the hot, dry, medicated vapor. This is the only perfect violatilizer for the treatment of con sumption, bronchitis, hav fever, asthma whooping cough, catarrh, la grippe diphtheria. This is superior to any ther treatment for diphtheria and oth r diseases of the throat, and is the rue method of administering a nerve tonic for nervous prostration. There have been treated several cases of incipient consumption with success, by dry, creosote vapor administered by Madam Tully's Vaporizer. It is not simply a spray producer, but it is really a Vaporizer, and thoroughly volatilizes oils, breaking the oils into ery small particles.

The Stock Market Dull, With a Downward Tendency in Prices. Special By Private Wire to Harrison Watts. NEW YORK, May 22.—The stock market was dull and irregular to-day, with prices tending downward. There was no pressure of long stocks, and rallies occurred at times, but the absence of London support and the fears aroused by the persistent reports of damage to wheat and cotton cause depression. Distilling & Cattle Feeding declined over 1% on the liquidation of a large block of long stock. Bugar, after an early firm ness, ran off over 1%. Gas was fairly firm around 75%. Rubber was firm, and Leather (common), after an advance of 1%, fell back about 2%. Grangers were fractionally lower in the afternoon, while Jersey Central was steady, and Reading held steady. Northern Pacific was conspicuously weak, while Great Northern (preferred) rose 4%. The market closed generally heavy under renewed bear pressure. NEW YORK, May 22.-The stock market

The Bulls Having & Great Time on th Sharp Advance in Wheat. CHICAGO, May 22.—The buil enthusiasm in wheat to-day was at its height when the market advanced 3%s from yesterday's clossing. The exchange was well filled with outsiders, who watched the course of operations with the closest interest and the broad tions with the closest interest and the broad smiles that covered their faces meant more than mere amazement. To more fully describe the character of the trading we give the following:

"The countrymen have bid this crop and the next as the next and the amount in the visible supply, and the invisible is not enough to supply the amount they bought, and yet they have not been the only buyers."

and yet they have not been the only buyers."

We firmly believe that large capitalists are having considerable to do with the advance and are tightening the acrews so fifully as to leave little chance for much of a decline until the market reaches a point at which they are willing to dispose of their boldings. Just what this point is is a problem the trade is trying to solve. One of the most encouraging features to-day was the advance in Liverpool. Foreign markets have shown so little disposition to follow us in this upward independent that the change in sentiment noted in that market gave new inspiration to the builtenthusiasm. Damage reports still continue to pour in, but the market of itself was so strong as not to need the influence they have heretofore imvirgin, 125.

Washington, May 22.—Yesterday the Department of State, at the instance of Baron Fava, the Italian ambassador, telegraphed the Governor of Virginia that 125 Italians who had contracted in New York to work for the Southwest Virginia Improvement Company as stone-cutters, it was represented, were being ill-treated, deprived of food and detained by force at Pocahontas; that the company was endeavoring to force them to work in the coal mines in the place of striking miners, contrary to their contract and that Virginia troops were coercing them.
