The mass meeting in favor of foreign missions was called to order pro at 8 o'clock by Moderator Mallard, who announced some changes in the committees on account of the departure of some of the commissioners. Rev. Dr. Fair, of Richmond, led the D. D., who spoke feelingly of the missionaries who have died during the Stuart, a missionary from China, who mission was inaugurated in 1867. It now has 11 stations, 58 missionaries and 235 converts. His address was very interesting. He was followed by Rev. H. P. Price, of Japan, who spoke gratefully of the kind treatment he and the other missionaries have always received from the Japaness people. There are now on hand 664 Protestant churches in Japan; of these 75 are Presbyterian with 79 ordained ministers. The influence of Christianity is wonderful in that coun-try. In the first Parliament of Japan there were 13 Christians, of whom a Presbyterian was chosen Speaker. At the conclusion of his remarks, short talks were made by Dr. Chester and the speaker.
