

Numerous Events and Happenings
 Clipped From Various Sources.

The fashion in foot ball is a fine contribution to the average surgeon. The man with the worst abraded shin is usually the one with the best filled pockets.

What would Lord Nelson have thought of having telephone and electric lights on board his ship? For that matter, what would he have thought of steam? Nowadays the captain may ring up the central and call the mate a lubber, without leaving his state room.

A Halifax man recently sold his family for $40 and the purchaser is accused of ill treating them. Any one who will abuse a $40 family is as reckless of expense as of property. Hereafter, when a man tells his wife to go to Halifax she will be afraid to accept the invitation lest she should be "sold."

There is one man in France who would do well to keep away from all meetings of so-called "strong minded" women. That man is M. Jules Simon. He proposes a tax of a certain amount each year on all male prostitutes over a given age, and in explaining why he confines the tax to males, says, with the utmost frankness, that he does not believe any woman ever remained single of her own free will and that it is unjust to tax any one for a misfortune. This may all be very true, Brer Simon, but it is an ill thing to say in certain circles. We are all aware that it is safer to tell a mortifying lie than a mortifying truth about any man, and the same rule applies to women.

It is more than a year since the City of Fort Dodge, Ia., was torn up over the cow question. It seems that the innocent and useful domestic animal which made the coffee of the people respectable, were allowed to run at large in the streets, to the great scandal of the owners of property of the better class. An appeal was made to the Common Council with the result that is apt to attend appeals of all such bodies. It was simply ignored. Then there were public meetings and the most distinguished men in that portion of the state spoke against the cow, whether brindle, white or spotted, but still the board was obdurate. At the recent election no one cared a brass farthing about the McKinley bill or any other national issue. The sole interest was in cow and anti-cow and the anti-cow carried it by about ten to one.

If there is any other feeling in the United States over the course run by the American woman known as the Duchess of Marlborough than one of supreme disgust it will be at once strange and disappointing. The widow of a man who had left her rich, the fortune having been accumulated by the application of brains and industry directed by character, she married a known profligate and an unmitigated blackguard because that man happened to have inherited a title which was in itself founded in hereditary disgrace. Now she is in this country pursued by English creditors and presumably here to escape these. Yet the mobs of the McAllister type are profuse in the offer of opera boxes and when the woman appears in one she makes such an exhibition of herself as to attract the comment of the press to her loud vulgarity.

It is an old saying, and one worthy of some consideration, that the worst thing that can happen to any movement is for it to become ridiculous. This is especially true in America, when the sense of humor of the average man is so keen and a mote is often better than an argument. This was illustrated in a country town in Kentucky only a few days since. A burlesque company was advertised to appear in the place and had posted some rather "loud" paper on the walls. A member of the council moved that the town marshal be directed to tear the paper down, as it was an offense to decent people. Then there was some debate and at last a member from one of the back wards arose in his place and moved that the sum of $10 be appropriated for the purchase of a sufficient amount of tobacco bagging to cover the posters. He said that this would spare the sensitiveness of those who objected and enable those who could not go to the "show" and would like to see the pictures, to gratify their curiosity by raising the curtain.

Ward's Tonsorial Palace

Nothing succeeds like success; this has been the experience of A. D. WARD, the Barber since he opened business in Goldsboro, where he is now able to announce to the public that he has got the best equipped and most satisfactory Tonsorial Palace in the State.

All the popular Barbers of the city are now employed in his establishment, prompt and courteous as follows:

J. M. BATES,
 JOHN BRADY,
 JOHN PRACE.

Continuing to thank the public for the generous patronage they have extended to me since I moved with my family to Goldsboro and give me a home here, and assuring them that I shall continue to endeavor my best efforts for their continued comfort and satisfaction to my life I remain Very respectfully,
 A. D. WARD,
