There can be no better medium of advertising than through our columns, as our paper goes daily into the hands of its many readers, thus keeping them ever reminded of our advertising merchants; and as the chief reason for constant advertising is to have the advertisements read as often as possible; the advantage of advertising in THE DAILY ARGUS is at once evident, as our patrons will have their advertisements read afresh every day. Rates furnished on application.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Boys' meeting at the Y. M. C. A. this morning at 10 o'clock.

THE ARGUS has some advertising space to let. Are you a business man? If so, are you with us?

The pulpit of the Baptist church in this city will be filled this morning by Rev. G. L. Finch, of LaGrange.

THE "Barren Fig Tree" is the subject for the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. Come.

SERVICES in St. Mary's church this morning at 10 o'clock and this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, Rev. Father Price officiating.

ANOTHER fine and much needed piece of sewerage is being done between Pine and John streets by the city authorities. We want also, to see E. and W. Centre and Walnut streets paved—right away.

WELL, may we ask how do you like this Sunday edition of THE ARGUS? We have prepared it with especial care, and take pride in presenting it to our many readers and inviting their careful perusal.

THE ARGUS job office has turned out some of the handsomest work the past week ever done in the city. If you are in need of anything in this line, it will be to your interest to call around and examine our specimens.

REV. R. C. BEAMAN, Pastor of the 5th Street Church Wilmington, N. C., will preach at St. Paul's this morning at 11 a. m. Sunday school at 3 p. m. No service at night. Attractive music at the morning service. The public are cordially invited.

THE funeral of the late Col. Lotte W. Humphrey was largely attended yesterday morning at 11 o'clock from St. Stephen's Episcopal church. The floral tributes were many and beautiful and the ceremonies most impressive. The interment was made in the family plot in Willow Dale Cemetery.

SERVICES at St. Stephen's church today as follows: Holy Communion at 8 a. m. Morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m. Evening prayer and sermon at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 4 p. m. Seats are free and all strangers are heartily welcome at all services.

THE first pea bloom of the season was laid upon our table last week by Mr. W. H. Collins, of Eastern Goldsboro, and experienced and successful trader, who this year has a fine stand. It is early for pea blooms, and the other local truckers will have to get up and hustle to come up abreast of Mr. Collins.

MR. F. C. ROBERTS, of Newbern, Secretary and Treasurer of the A. & N. C. R. R., a classmate of the late Col. L. W. Humphrey in the late Chief Justice Pearson's law school, at Richmond Hill, and before the Supreme court together for license in 1857-58, was in the city yesterday to attend the funeral.

NEWBERN'S great Fish, Oyster, Game and Industrial Fair, which is only a little over a week off, will undoubtedly be the very best yet held. The attractions to this Fair are too numerous for us to enumerate, but we invite our people to examine the premium list and enter something to win some of the many premiums offered. THE ARGUS hopes to see Wayne county well represented at the coming Fair, and she no doubt will be, both in exhibits and attendance. The railroad fare is very low—only one cent a mile—and our people should go and see what Eastern Carolina can show from its waters, lands and factories.

PROF. WINSTON'S LECTURE.

The Wayne County Teachers' Association held their first annual meeting at the Opera House yesterday. There was a generous attendance of teachers, but owing to the hour there was not such an attendance of our citizens as the occasion demanded. The teachers were fortunate in their choice of an orator.

Prof. Geo. T. Winston, of our State University is an uncommon man. He is a man of wide culture and great power of thought. He has traveled the wide world over and his clean-shaven, clear-cut, almost priestly features, and his clear grey eyes betoken the highest order of intellectuality.

His address was an impressive appeal for educated citizenship. It was short, plain as to verbiage, though at times, the speaker reached the heights of genuine eloquence; cogent and abounding in apt illustrations.

The speech had a broad and catholic sweep to it, and it is not too much to say that his hearers were both edified, strengthened and nerved to greater efforts by the arguments and eloquence of this enthusiastic teacher and scholar.

Two Orphans Monday Night.

In speaking of the Two Orphans as played by the M'le Arne Company recently in Baltimore, the Baltimore Sun says:

M'le Arne and her excellent company opened a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House last night, presenting "Mores D'Enessey's Masterpiece," "The Two Orphans," the rendition of which was faultless, the parts were all well taken and we may mention especially the parts of "Louise," the Blind Girl, as portrayed by M'le Arne, a young and pretty little actress of 17 summers, which could not be improved upon, Miss Lucile Aller, as "Mother Trochard" was simply immense. Irvin Walker as "Jacques," Miss Louise Hofer as Henriette, and in fact all the parts were admirably rendered, and the company as a whole, an exceptionally good one. On tomorrow night, they will present the ever popular "East Lynne" in which M'le Arne essays the Dual role of Lady Isabel and Madam Vine, her portrayal, of which has won hearty praise both by the public and press wherever she has appeared. We predict a crowded house on tomorrow night to witness it.

This same company and play will be at our Opera House Monday night, February 16th. Reserved seats now on sale at Messrs. Robinson & Bro's. Drug Store without extra charge. Secure them early.

THE Y. M. C. A. ANNIVERSARY.

In the next column we publish the programme of the anniversary exercises of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, which will be held in the Missionary Baptist church to-night, the address to be delivered by one of North Carolina's most eloquent and earnest divines, Rev. R. C. Beaman, pastor of Fifth Street Methodist church of Wilmington.

This is the third anniversary of the Association in this city. Their progress during the three years has been very gratifying. They have accomplished much good at home; they have contributed to the elevation of mankind abroad—everywhere; they have furnished to the young men inclined to better purposes congenial associations, and they have regularly gone out to the wayfarer sojourning in our midst and invited him to come with them and they would do him good.

And yet not every one who should—not every one whose duty it is has put his shoulder to the wheel for righteousness' sake. Many are lagging who should be girded and in the lead.

THE ARGUS wishes that every young man—that every man, young or old,—in Goldsboro belonged to the Young Men's Christian Association. We would all be better then; our community would prosper more; our people would be happier the masses would be led forward and higher.

The closest study of Ethics exemplified demonstrates the truth, that similarity of tastes, habits, character and modes of thinking, draw men together. In business life there is much that is arbitrary and fictitious in our associations and we are always struggling to overcome these obstacles. The same mechanical skill, study of the same science, profession of the same art, draw men together in private life, and the same facts give origin to public associations and clubs of every character. The more nearly associated the tastes and character of individuals the more intimate their friendship, the stronger and more enduring its bonds, and the stronger the eternal sympathies the more indissoluble the cohesion.

Men imbued with the same virtuous convictions and spiritual truths discover in them an irrefragable bond of union, of sympathetic influences, of common charity, of universal brotherhood; and these affinities are as potent and indestructible among men as are the forces of attraction among the numberless spheres that "sing together in harmony" as they roll through "yonder argent fields above," in unison with God's great plan. They are universal in operation, extending beyond this life, even as unseen influences of our planetary system operate upon others unknown and undiscoverable beyond the confines of our universe.

There is not only divinity in all things, but a divine method of establishing unity in all things. In this life there are obstacles to its perfectibility. Human laws intervene and by outward restraints and force compel formal unity, and this only gives an imperfect conception of the conditions of future existence.

It is hardly probable that the Creator abandons in the next, systems of cohesion and of associations, illustrated in the relations of men and matter in this state of existence. God hardly reverses His own method, and least of all, in conditions of existence having in themselves no obstacle to their perfect operation, either in physical or spiritual life. As a wicked man cannot be happy even here in the presence of the good, so heaven is a hell to those deserving the tortures of the damned.

They alone, therefore, who delight in doing good—"they who in life's warfare firm doth stand, shall bear hope's tender blossoms" into the valley and over the river to the brightness and the full blooming of God's Eternal Day.

OPENING HYMN.
149—GOSPEL HYMNS.
Lo! the day of God is breaking;
See the gleaming from afar!
Sons of earth from slumber waking,
Hail the bright and Morning Star.

CHORUS:
Hear the call! O gird your armour on,
Grasp the Spirit's mighty sword:
Take the helmet of salvation,
Pressing on to battle for the Lord!
Trust in Him who is your Captain;
Let no heart in terror quail:
Jesus leads the pathing legions,
In His name we shall prevail.

CHORUS:
READING SCRIPTURES—REV. B. R. HALL.
PRAYER—REV. S. H. ISLER.

HYMN.
73—TRUMPANT SONGS.
'Tis the grandest theme thro' the ages rung;
'Tis the grandest theme for a mortal tongue,
'Tis the grandest theme that the world e'er sung,
"Our God is able to deliver thee."

CHORUS:
He is able to deliver thee,
He is able to deliver thee,
Tho' by sin oppressed,
Go to him for rest;
Our God is able to deliver thee.
'Tis the grandest theme in the earth or main;
'Tis the grandest theme, for a mortal strain,
'Tis the grandest theme tell the world again,
"Our God is able to deliver thee."

CHORUS:
REPORT OF PRESIDENT—T. R. ROBINSON.

MUSIC.
REPORT OF TREASURER—M. J. BEST.
HYMN.
185—TRUMPANT SONGS.
I've a message from the Lord,
Hallelujah!
The message unto you I'll give,
Tis recorded in his word,
Hallelujah!
It is only that you "look and live."

CHORUS:
"Look and live," my brother, live,
Look to Jesus now and live,
'Tis recorded in his word,
Hallelujah!
It is only that you "look and live."
I've a message full of Love,
Hallelujah!
A message, oh! my friend for you,
'Tis a message from above,
Hallelujah!
Jesus said it; and I know 'tis true.

CHORUS:
ADDRESS - - - REV. R. C. BEAMAN

HYMN.
914—METHODIST HYMN BOOK.
O what ship is this that will take us all home?
O glory! Hallelujah!
'Tis the old ship of Zion, Hallelujah!
'Tis the old ship of Zion, Hallelujah!
Come along, come along and let us go home!
O glory! Hallelujah!
Our home is over Jordan, Hallelujah!
Our home is over Jordan, Hallelujah!

APPOINTING COMMITTEES FOR 1891—PRES'T T. R. ROBINSON.
PRAYER—REV. J. C. McMULLEN.

HYMN.
250—GOSPEL HYMNS.
Come, we that love the Lord,
And let our joys be known,
Join in a song with sweet accord,
Join in a song with sweet accord,
And thus surround the throne,
And thus surround the throne.

CHORUS:
We're marching to Zion,
Beautiful, beautiful Zion;
We're marching upward to Zion,
The beautiful city of God.
Let those refuse to sing
Who never knew our God;
But children of the heavenly King,
But children of the heavenly King,
May speak their joys abroad,
May speak their joys abroad.
