LOCAL BRIEFS.

MESSRS. W. L. Kennedy and Dempsey Wood, of Falling Creek, were in the city yesterday.

PROF. J. Y. Joyner and family went down to LaGrange yesterday afternoon for a day or two.

THE heavy rain early yesterday morning has greatly retarded the truck planting operation in this vicinity.

MISS Minnie Bryan, of Newbern, returning home from visiting relatives in Fayetteville, was in the city between trains yesterday.

THE ARGUS is glad to know that Sheriff Grant is convalescing, and expects soon to be on his rounds of duty again. The Sheriff had a "close call", and his friends are gratified at his safe deliverance.

IN the regular monthly competitive drill of the Goldsboro Rifles Thursday night Mr. Walter P. Wrenn carried off the badge, which he will wear till it is won from him in some subsequent drill.

ALREADY the train for Newbern is crowded these days with passengers—mostly Northern people—who are en route, thus far in advance, to "take in" the great mid-winter Fair of the "Elm City", which has attained a national reputation. The Fair opens on the 30th of this month and will continue for one week.

REV. Thos. Langston on Thursday, in Shine township, over in Greene county, near the Wayne line, married three couples all in one ceremony, as follows: Mr. Turner Howell and Miss Nancy Ham, Mr. Hiram Ham and Miss Cora Radford, Mr. Willie McKeel and Miss Margaret Howell. They were all of the same neighborhood, and, as the names indicate, it was a sort of family affair. THE ARGUS wishes them much happiness and prosperity.

HON. Simon Wolf, of Washington, D. C., is in the city, the guest of his kinsman Mr. Sol Weil. His lecture in the Hebrew Synagogue last night was an event of interest to all our fellow citizens, as Mr. Wolf is much admired here. He will leave this afternoon for the Grand Lodge meeting of "B'Nai B'rith" in Macon, Ga., and will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Sol Weil and Mr. Sol Einstein of this city. Mr. Einstein will represent THE ARGUS in the Grand Lodge and will send daily reports of its proceedings to this paper.

REV. Jonas Barclay will be installed pastor of the Presbyterian Church of this city to-morrow, Rev. S. H. Isler will preside, and Rev. Eugene Daniel, D. D., of Raleigh, will preach in the morning at 11 o'clock and deliver the charge to either the pastor or the people; Rev. C. G. Vardell, of Newbern, will preach at 7:30 o'clock p. m., and deliver one of the charges. These will be intensely interesting services. The charge to the pastor or the people is always impressive and attractive to the general public. Dr. Daniels has the reputation of being one of the ablest preachers of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev. C. G. Vardell is an earnest, tender and pathetic speaker. It is to be hoped that the weather may be propitious in order that the attendance may be commensurate with the interest of the occasion, and serve as an earnest of the interest the Christian people of our city take in the good work that Mr. Barclay has begun in our midst with such bright prospects. The public are cordially invited. The church will be comfortable, seats free.

Paragraphs, Pertinent, Political and Personal for Passing Perusal.

This is a campaign of education.

Hawaii, with its balmy air and perennial flowers, may yet be one of the great American winter resorts.

One of the greatest duties of the hour is the performance of duty. Every citizen ought to perform his on election day.

Honesty is not the best policy. Honesty is not policy at all. Honesty and policy are strangers to one another. The honesty that is policy is policy and not honesty.

Hitherto the Mexicans have preferred three-card monte to any other form of gambling; but now they are to have a stock exchange—the first ever incorporated in that country. Old gamblers may find in it a new sensation.

Mr. Cleveland tells the N. Y. Herald that there is danger of a panic in Wall street if the Sherman silver law is not soon repealed. The Herald tells Mr. Cleveland that there is greater danger of a panic in the Democratic party if the McKinley law is not soon repealed.

Death is rapidly thinning out the ranks of the printers at the hospital at Colorado Springs. Six men have died since the opening of the house and others have been sent to a more hospitable climate to prolong their shattered lives. The union printers of the United States have put $75,000 into a handsome building, Messrs. Childs and Drexel each donated $5,000, and the unions throughout the country are keeping it up at a vast expense. There is every kindness, comfort and luxury within its stately walls, but the climate is too rigorous, the altitude too great for the heart, throat and lung troubles which afflict printers. Had the hospital been located in the Rio Grande Valley it would, indeed, have been a home—the name first given it—for the aged and ailing. Now it is only a question of a short time when the place will be shunned as the gateway to certain and speedy death, and the object for which it was intended fail utterly.

Pension Revision Must Come.

On the 1st of January last the number of pensioners had swelled up to 931,224, and by the 4th of March when the new President shall be inaugurated, the number will be up to a round million.

The present Commissioner of Pensions estimates that the number of pensioners will increase under existing laws until they reach 1,200,000, and require about $200,000,000 annually to pay them.

Of this $200,000,000 not less than $50,000,000 are paid to persons who have no just claim to them under our liberal laws, and it is probable that even a larger proportion of the amount paid goes to undeserving persons who have obtained their pensions by perjury or political favoritism.

No party in this country proposes or desires to lessen or revoke the pensions of an honest soldier or his widow or children; but honest men of all parties are determined in the purpose to make the list of pensioners a roll of honor by exposing and dismissing all fraudulent pensioners.

Will not honest soldiers and honest pensioners join in this good work? Dishonest pensions are a reproach to our heroic soldiery, and the true veterans of the land should join heartily in the work of purging the pension list of all who dishonor it.

Y. C. A. Notes.

Fourteen men attended yesterday morning's 20 minute prayer meeting.

The daily average attendance at the rooms the past week has been 38.

Mr. T. B. Hyman will address the men's meeting to-morrow afternoon. Topic: "The Accursed Thing".

Do not miss "Bill Arrp's" celebrated lecture, "The Cracker and the Cavalier" on the 21st inst. at the Opera House. The net proceeds go to the Y. M. C. A.

The House of Our Fathers.

The eyes of pleasure-seekers being now turned toward the national capital as the theatre of magnificent entertainment and august ceremonial during the coming month and both the eyes and hearts of office-seekers reaching longingly thereto as the shrine of the fruition of ambitious hopes it will not be amiss to give a running sketch of what manner of city is this within whose walls the national Democracy have pitched their tents, and where, in Jeffersonian simplicity, they aim so to reform the badly disjointed affairs of government and remedy great evils as to make this people happy, contented and prosperous—this "house of our fathers," as Geo. D. Wise, of Virginia, said to Boutelle, of Maine, "whereas in we have taken our seats and where we mean to stay."

Rapidly becoming the most beautiful city in the world, Washington is indebted for its splendor to all the appliances of art, scientific civil engineering and a vast expenditure of money, for it is almost entirely without natural advantages, being originally a vast morass west of the capital to the Capitol to the White House, a basin partially enclosed by a broken amphitheatre of bluffs, and extending in a marshy plateau to the Potomac. The city was planned by Major L'Enfant in 1790 and the construction of buildings, the running of streets and avenues, etc., were carried out in accordance with the original design.

Georgetown, now a connected suburb of the great city, was for many years a place of no little importance, while Washington remained little more than a straggling village without drainage, unpaved and badly built. Indeed, up to within a few years ago, it was noted, outside of its public edifices, chiefly as the city of magnificent distances," in which it was painfully difficult to get from one point to another.

About twenty years ago Congress abolished the municipal charters of Georgetown and Washington, placing the District of Columbia under a territorial form of government, and later it repealed the enactment for this also, placing the government in the hands of three commissioners—and since 1871 Washington City has increased in population from 109,000 to 229,000. The people have utterly no voice in the management of their municipal affairs, and, forming the seat of government of the freest people on earth, are the virtual subjects of an absolute despotism.

This incomparably beautiful city has over 279 miles of streets and 70 miles of avenues, ranging in width from 80 to 150 feet, as smooth as a ball room floor and kept as clean as a provident housewife's sitting room. Its parks and ornament grounds are extensive and planted in the rarest flowers and shrubbery, and, with the exception of Shaw's Garden, at St. Louis, the approaches to and the grounds surrounding the Soldier's Home are said to be the most beautiful in the United States. The public buildings of the government, beginning with the capitol and including the White House aggregate over $40,000,000, and within the new building of the Pension Department is the most magnificent ball room in the whole world.

Away off in the Southern suburbs of this grand aggregation of wealth and affluence, rises the loftiest structure in the world, the Washington Monument, 555 feet in height, and, saluting it with the first blush of morning—her classic face irradiated by the light of the morning sun—is the statue of liberty, throned on the dome of the capitol more than 300 feet above the bustling tide of humanity. Just a little way off—the gloom of which may be pierced by his voice, as it is raised now and again in the chamber of the Senate in behalf of the rights of the whole American Union—is the old capitol prison where Zebulon Vance was imprisoned for his faithful service to his State and his people, and, stretching east, is the newer part of the city which promises to eclipse in the future the fashionable sections of the Washington of the past.—Charlotte Observer.

First in Annexation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—The most important news brought by the steamship Australia, which arrived from Honolulu last night is that United States Minister Stevens had established a protectorate over the Islands. At 9 o'clock on the morning of the 1st instant, when the stars and stripes were raised over Aliiolani Hall, Minister Stevens issued the following proclamation:

To Hawaiian People—
At the request of the provisional government of the Hawaiian Islands, I hereby, in the name of the United States of America, assume protection of the Hawaiian Islands for protection of life and property and occupation of the public buildings on Hawaiian soil as far as may be necessary for the purpose specified, but not interfering with the administration of public affairs by the provisional government. This action is taken pending and subject to negotiations at Washington.

(Signed) JOHN L. STEVENS, Envoy Extraordinary, Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States, United States Legation, Feb. 1, '93.

Approved and executed by C. C. Wilite, captain United States steamship Boston.

The Advertiser says, regarding Mr. Stevens' proclamation, that this action was principally due to incessant agitation on the part of certain whites, who have always been the curse of the country, coupled with English and native newspaper efforts to discredit and block the new government. These agencies spread through the town a feeling of uneasiness and distrust. The provisional government concluded that some positive step was necessary and that it would be wisest to call on the United States for direct assistance. The Advertiser, continuing, says: At 3:30 a. m. on the 1st, the Boston's battalion landed under Lieutenant Commander Swinburn and went up to the government building where detachments from volunteer companies of the provisional government were also drawn up. Lieutenant Rush received Minister Stevens' proclamation and on the stroke of nine the stars-and-stripes banner fluttered up the staff on the tower. The flag was saluted by the troops and marines and heavier guns of the Boston, and Hawaii was under Uncle Sam's wing.

The Railroad tax Matter.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 9.—The Legislative Railroad Committee, in secret session tonight, decided to reject the proposition made by the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad Company for payment of taxes and surrender of exemption. A majority of the committee, it is understood, have made the following proposition to the Railroad: To pay three years back taxes on the main line and all branches; surrender all exemptions, including the rate-fixing provision in the charter, and to give legislative control of stems from the main line not exceeding three miles in length. The Railroad Company has not indicated what action it will take.

A Chicago dispatch says: The Herald prints a New York dispatch stating that Judge Walter Q. Gresham has been tendered the Secretaryship of State by Mr. Cleveland, and has accepted. The dispatch states also that Mr. Cleveland will make the fact public in a day or two.
