WHEN YOU ARE OLD.

BY W. K. HENLEY.

When you are old, and I am passed away, Passed, and your golden face is gray— I think, whatever the end, this dream of mine, Comforting you, a friendly star will shine

Down the dim slope where still you stumble and stray. Lo may it be; that no dead Yesterday— No sad-eyed-ghost, but generous and gay. My serene your memories, like almighty wire When you are old.

Dear heart, it shall be so. Under the sway; Of death the past enormous disarray Lies hushed the dark. Yet though there come no sign, Live on well pleased! Immortal and divine, Love shall still tend you, as God's angels may. When you are old.

FRESH FUN

THE SHARP AND WITTY SAYINGS OF THE PRESS MEN

We ain't no Columbian robbers here, said the country land-oid, cheerfully. You ain't charged no ten cents for the use of a plate in this house.

The drummer sawed away at his fried steak for two or three minutes in silence. Then he spoke. Said he: Mebbe you don't charge for the use of your plate, but I don't think any would be justified in kicking if you charged him for the wear and tear of your knives.— Indianapolis Journal.

Jones—My wife is a dress reformer.

B own—Great Scott, man, why don't you read the riot act to her? Does she believe in all these outlandish clothes for women?

Jones—Oh, no, she isn't that kind. She reforms last year's dress as into this year's, so that an expert can't tell the difference.— Detroit Free Press.

So Tom Jones was hung after all, remarked Col. Maverick Brander.

Yes, and he was cheerful to the last moment. What do you think his last words were, replied Judge Peterby.

I've no idea.

He told the Sheriff when he was fixing the noose around his neck that if he didn't make a bungling job of it he would be grateful to him as long as he lived.— Texas Siftings.

Mrs. Flington is an awfully extravagant woman, isn't she?

What has she done? Just now I heard her offer Dumbleigh a penny for his thoughts.— Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Gabble—No, my cold doesn't seem to be getting any better. I have got so now that I can hardly speak.

Stillman—Some people would call that a great improvement.— Boston Transcript.

HE DID NOT CALL.

The man who tried Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and was sure of the $500 reward offered by the proprietors for an incurable case, never called for his money. Why not? O, because he got cured! He was sure of two things: (1) That his catarrh could not be cured. (2) That he would have that $500. He is now sure of one thing, and that is, that his catarrh is gone completely. So he is out $500, of course. The makers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy have faith in their ability to cure the worst cases of Nasal Catarrh, no matter of how long standing, and attest their faith by their standing reward of $500, offered for many years past, for an incurable case of this loathsome and dangerous disease. The Remedy is sold by druggist at only 50 cents. Mild, soothing, cleansing, deodorizing, antiseptic, and healing.

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance.
