THE HEROES AND THE FLOWERS.

There is gladness where the showers Of the sun rays run along. All the grass is gay with flowers, All the air is sweet with song.

Comes a burst of battle thunder, And the frightened birds have fled. Solid ranks are rent asunder, And the green is dripping red.

Now the flowers gently, gently Fall upon each narrow mound, And the spirit ears intently Catch the echo of the sound.

Ah, the years are gray with kindness, And the sky is blue with peace, Gone forever is the blindness, Now the battle echoes cease.

FRESH FUN

THE SHARP AND WITTY SAYINGS OF THE PRESS MEN.

Adorer (feeling his way)—I suppose your sister does not like my coming here so often, does she? Little Brother (confidently)—Oh, you needn't worry about sister. She can endure 'meat' anybody.—Good News.

He was in a brown study, says Life. He is so green in matter of the heart that he feels blue.

He gazes sadly at the fire and works his think machine at the rate of six miles an hour. The storm beating furiously against his window-pane tells him that he is rejected.

The wind shrieking through the trees with technical names in Central Park tells him that he is rejected. Even the sputtering fire tells him that she is none of his.

His bulldog, with one eye at the dissecting table, grows that he is rejected. But he knows that they, one and all, prevaricate.

Such is not the cause of his melancholy: On the contrary, he is accepted—and she has just confessed that she is an adopted daughter, and that on the occasion of her matrimony she will not share in the patrimony.

The Bride's Mother (who always accredits her information to the same trustworthy source)—A little bird tells me that it was not business at the office that kept your son out so late last night.

Mother of the Groom (who recounts the battle from afar)—Yes, your favorite—a lyre bird, I suppose, madam.—Balford's Magazine.

Husband—Why did you invite Mrs. Postley to your tea when you dislike her so? Wife—Because I knew she wouldn't have time to get a new dress.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

LIKE A GOOD CONUNDRUM. is life, because everybody must give it up. But you needn't be in a hurry about it. Life is worth the living. To prolong it is worth your untiring effort. Don't give up without calling to your rescue that grand old family medicine, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Many a worn out exhausted body has it made ever good as new! It strengthens, builds up, invigorates, assisting nature, and yet violating it. Cures liver disease, indigestion and all blood faults and humors. Sure and lasting benefit guaranteed or money refunded. All druggists.

What is CASTORIA. Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance.
