Never a day in the world shall seem dim—
Never a winter seem weary
While Love lights the skies
Of my darling's bright eyes—
The beautiful eyes of my dearie!

Never a storm tinge the pathway with gloom—
Casting its shadows so dreary;
Songs for Life's sighs
In the light of her eyes
The beautiful eyes of my dearie!

A Ray county (Ga.) paper tells of a young man down there who called on his best girl one Sunday recently. After they had talked until they could not think of anything more to say, he declared his intention of kissing her. She was apparently very indignant and declared she would tell her father if he did. But the young man dared, and succeeded in planting a fairly respectable kiss somewhere behind the ear. The young woman arose hastily and walked into the other room. "Papa," she said, "Mr. S. wants to see your new gun." "All right, all right," said the old man, delighted with a chance to show off his new shotgun. Taking it from the rack, he stepped into the parlor. The young man broke four window panes in getting out, and when last seen he was still running bareheaded down the country road.

Grandma—If you could have just one wish granted, what would you wish for, dear?
Little Margie—Oh, I'd wish that all my wishes would come true.

There was an old sailor of Crete Whose peg legs propelled him quite nite:
"Strong liquor," he said,
"Never goes to my head,
And I know it can't get to my feet."

A Total Eclipse.

Any man can produce a total eclipse of the sun, so far as he himself is concerned, by holding a dollar close to his eye. The total eclipse of health is often produced in much the same way, by letting the dollar shut out from view all other things and interests.

A great many people pay for wealth with health and admit at last that they have made a poor bargain. In the chase of the dollar people are too eager to take time to eat regularly or choose proper food, the stomach becomes disordered or diseased, the food eaten ceases to nourish, and physical breakdown ensues.

Dr. J. C. Wells' Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and so enables the strengthening of the system only way by which strength can be obtained. It is a perfect and perfectly assimilated.

It is a perfect and perfectly assimilated.

It is a perfect and perfectly assimilated.

Letters from Women

Cured by the use of Kodol are received daily. Their troubles nearly all begin with indigestion or other stomach disorder.

If the food you eat fails to give strength to your body, it is because the juices secreted by the stomach and digestive organs are inadequate to transform the nutrient properties of the food into blood. That is indigestion. The system is deprived of the amount of nourishment required to keep up the strength, and the result is that one of more of the delicate organs gradually grows weak, and then weaker, until finally it is diseased. Here a great mistake is made. That of treating the diseased organ. The best doctors in the land make this very mistake. Why should they? It is so easy to see that the trouble is not there.

Kodol Cures

This famous remedy puts the stomach and digestive organs in a healthy condition so that rich, red blood is sent coursing through the veins and arteries of every muscle, tissue and fiber throughout every organ of the entire body, and by Nature's law of health, full strength and vigor is soon restored to each.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders.

I have taken Kodol for nearly two months after each meal and it is the only remedy that gave relief from the terrible pain I endured. After a time I would take it but once a day, and now, while I keep a bottle handy, I seldom need it, as it has cured me. Mrs. J. W. Colesau, Mile Center, N. Y.
