SENATE CONSENTS.

Sends Tariff Bill Back to House for Oil Changes.
 Washington, D. C., April 15.—Shortly after the Senate met today it agreed to a resolution of the House asking that the tariff bill be returned to that body so it might be amended to place upon the free list the products of, as well as crude and refined petroleum. The bill was soon returned to the Senate with the amendment inserted.

The President's message for a revision of the Philippine tariff so that the principle of protection might be applied to the industries of those islands, and at the same time, in view of free trade with the United States sufficient revenue might be provided, was laid before the Senate and referred to the committee on the Philippines.

Senator Bailey introduced an amendment placing a tax of three per cent, on incomes of over $5,000 annually, which, he said, would provide a revenue of from $60,000,000 to $80,000,000 annually.

Senator Aldrich announced that he would speak upon the tariff bill next Monday.

Mrs. Hackett Operated Upon.
 Statesville, N. C., April 15.—Mrs. R. N. Hackett was operated on for appendicitis at the sanatorium Saturday morning. Her condition is very favorable for an early and complete recovery. Mrs. Hackett had not been seriously ill, but had from time to time suffered attacks which were diagnosed as appendicitis. When the appendix was removed a piece of broken toothpick was found in it.

CONFEDERATE NAVAL HEROES.

Have Not Been Accorded Their Meed of Praise by Current Writers of the History of Those Times.

The heroes of the Civil war who wore the gray have been long and ably eulogized, but rather scant has been the praise of the Confederate naval officers whose acts of heroism were not so publicly recognized.

Judge Wright, of Jacksonville, Fla., recently delivered an address in Charleston, S. C., on the Confederate Navy, of which the Baltimore Sun says:

"It was the lecturer's opinion that history has made too little of the heroic achievements of the sea fighters of the Confederacy, who were at the start without any proper ships and without facilities for building them or obtaining supplies and equipment. Opposed to them was the largest and most powerful navy in the world. To show the difference between the two branches of the Confederate service, as they are treated in history, Judge Wright compared the written record of Gen. Robert E. Lee with that of his brother, Sidney Smith Lee. The latter is scarcely known in history, although Judge Wright declared his career prior to the outbreak of the war was as brilliant as that of his more distinguished brother, and that he made a fine record in the Confederate Navy. Without any proper appliances for building ships, the Confederacy constructed and commissioned the first iron-clad that ever engaged in a sea fight. The Confederate Navy also has the honor of having invented and first used the submarine torpedo. It was the first navy to sink a hostile ship with a submarine. That was the United States sloop-of-war Housatonic which was sunk off Charleston by the submarine H. L. Hemley, under command of Lieut. George E. Dixon. This brave officer and his crew went willingly and cheerfully to certain death and perished with their victim. This was one of the most heroic achievements recorded in naval history. Judge Wright discussed the battle between the Virginia and Monitor. The full truth has never been told of this battle, he said. He regarded the first day's fighting as decidedly the more brilliant of the two. The lecturer gave descriptions of the voyages of the Alabama, the Tallahassee and of Lieutenant Read's exploits on the coast of Maine. The most remarkable of the cruises was perhaps that of the Shenandoah, which was burning ships three months after the close of the war. She sailed 58,000 miles in thirteen months, being continuously out of sight of land for four months, and sailing for eight months without dropping anchor. After capturing 36 prizes Captain Waddell learned on August 2, 1865, that the war was over. He then sailed to England and surrendered his ship. Later on Captain Waddell came to Maryland and became a citizen of Annapolis. In 1884 Governor Hamilton appointed him on the oyster commission with Professor Brooks and William Henry Legg. He united with the former in giving to the state the magnificent report which is now the handbook and highest authority upon the subject treated.

"The object of Judge Wright's lectures is to raise funds with which to collect and publish the record of the heroic deeds of the officers and men of the Confederate Navy. It is a worthy object, and such a book may be made a record of thrilling adventure."

ALL STATES TO HELP

Entire South Included in Proposed Educational Work.

Atlanta Educational Conference Considers Far Reaching Scheme For The Betterment of All The People of Dixie.

Atlanta, Ga., April 15.—A movement to build up an educational scheme which shall embrace the entire South was launched today at a prolonged session of the campaign managers of the conference for education in the South, now in annual session here.

It was proposed that all the states of the South be induced to take action toward a strong educational system, which shall be as uniform as possible. The idea to be worked out was expressed by President Claxton, of the University of Tennessee:

"We should have," he said, "an architectural plan built up from all the styles of education now in vogue in the South. We have been strengthening here and there for years with good results, until now it is time to construct a system more or less permanent for the general education."

President Claxton presided at the campaign managers' meeting and it was decided to take early action to spread the uniform education idea.

The Southern Association of College Women met for an afternoon session, presided over by Emma Boyd Garrett, of Atlanta. Elevation of college standards and revised courses of study to meet the demands of those seeking a broad education were the main themes of the meeting.

Reports on educational progress in the individual states of the South produced interesting figures. The Alabama report showed that the appropriation for education in that State for the past year had increased $319,000. The compulsory education law just passed by the Arkansas legislature was commended. Florida reported 41 high schools, 75 junior high schools and 41 rural graded schools.

Georgia showed a state appropriation for 1909 for schools of $2,250,000, and increase over 1908 of a quarter of a million. For Kentucky one of the most successful years in state school history was predicted for 1909, and Oklahoma-called attention to the salaries paid her teachers as being probably the highest in the South.

Rural life as a business and industrial success therein was the leading feature of the night session, the principal address being made by Gifford Pritchot. His subject was "How the National Government May Co-operate With the State in the Betterment of Rural Conditions."

United States Commissioner of Education Elmer E. Brown and Clarence Guseley, editor of the Fort Worth, Tex., Record, were among the principal speakers of the second day of the conference. The morning session was given over to the state superintendents and after calling the body to order President Robt. C. Ogden resigned the chair to Supt. J. Y. Joyner, of North Carolina.

Jere M. Pound, school commissioner of Georgia, sketched the educational progress in the Southern states for the year, calling special attention to the large increase of high schools, betterment in supervision and marked attention to systematic support, embodied in the idea of local taxation.

Only one of the Southern group of states has failed during the year to increase its appropriation for general school purposes. Supt. G. B. Cook, of Arkansas, presented a summary of accomplishments for agricultural and industrial education in the South, citing cases of great benefit to those who needed help, the children of rural districts. He concluded with an expression of the belief that the South will find many of the most vexing problems quietly worked out by the agriculture and industrial commission.

The Turkish Capital.

Washington, D. C., April 16.—Dispatches received at the State Department today from Ambassador Lelshman at Constantinople report that a condition of comparative quiet exists in that city and vicinity at present.

The disorder of the past few days has abated and a new cabinet has been formed.

The recent uprising in the capital has been reflected in the provinces and there is fear of further disorder in the city proper.

As to the report that two American missionaries were killed in the massacre, he says he has not yet been able to verify it.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Carefully Cleaned and Boiled Down For Busy Readers.

Nashville, Tenn., April 15.—For Duncann R. Cooper and Robin J. Cooper recently convicted of the murder of former United States Senator E. W. Carmack, attorneys filed a motion for a new trial today.

New Bern, N. C., April 15.—Robert Hancock has been appointed acting postmaster here on request of the personal bondsmen of the late Seymour W. Hancock. Mr. Hancock has for many years been assistant postmaster and the office will continue as at present. Mr. Hancock is also an applicant for the position of postmaster and has strong backing from his friends for the place.

Washington, D. C., April 15.—State Republicans are trying to unite on a candidate for the judgeship, and for this reason the friends of Thomas Settle have taken hope. They believe that he would come nearer than any of the rest of the Republican candidates in polling the strength of all factions. It does not appear, however, that the Butler-Pritchard-Duncan faction is manifesting any disposition to abandon its support of Seawell. Before leaving Washington, the President inquired of a North Carolina visitor about Judge Brown and Connor and Frank Fuller, all of which shows that he has a Democrat under consideration. They are regarded as the favorites in the contest here in Washington.

Boston, Mass., April 15.—The lengthy litigation against relatives of the late Andrew J. Davis, the wealthy Montana mine owner, by Mrs. Eva A. Ingersoll, of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., widow of the late Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, ended today when Judge Wm. L. Putnam in the United States Circuit Court, handed down a final decree awarding Mrs. Ingersoll $138,810, with interest and costs. Following the death of Mr. Davis certain of his relatives engaged Colonel Ingersoll to break Mr. Davis' will, making a contract by which they were to pay him $100,000. After Colonel Ingersoll died, his widow, as administratrix, endeavored to collect this amount from the Davis relatives, who contested the case, claiming that the full services called for by the contract had not been perfected. The case was fought through the courts until Mrs. Ingersoll's victory today.

GOLDSBORO HOSPITAL.

Executive Committee in Monthly Session Yesterday Elected Mr. Geo. C. Royall Chairman to Succeed Late Rev. F. W. Farries.

The executive committee of the Goldsboro Hospital, that meets monthly at that institution, and that has in charge its management in detail, met at the hospital yesterday afternoon, and this being their first meeting since the recent death of Rev. F. W. Farries, who was the founder of the hospital and the revered and beloved chairman of the board, it was indeed an occasion of deep sadness, and expressions of sincere sorrow and sense of bereavement were indulged in reverently and repeatedly by all the members of the committee—and the attendance was complete.

It was the consensus of the committee that some suitable, permanent memorial in honor of Mr. Farries should be provided in the hospital and on motion the matter was referred to a special committee composed of Mrs. Sol. Weil, Mrs. B. G. Thompson and Mrs. B. H. Griffin, to take under advisement as to what manner of memorial should be provided, and report to a called meeting of the committee.

On motion providing for a committee to draft suitable resolutions upon the death of Mr. Farries the chairman appointed on that committee Mr. Jos. Rosenthal and Col. Jos. E. Robinson.

The election of a chairman of the executive committee to succeed Mr. Farries being in order, the choice went unanimously to Mr. Geo. C. Royall, who has been acting chairman since Mr. Farries' illness and absence, and who has been so generous of his time and personal supervision of the management in detail of this now great and exacting public charity. It is no easy task, calling for many personal sacrifices, unrequited save in the reward that is assured unto those who do for humanity; but, after all, this is the kind that gives most real pleasure to noble souls in life and reaches furthest—into the afterworld of God.

In acknowledging the high honor as well as the onerous responsibility of being chosen to succeed such as was the late chairman, Mr. Royall was so overcome that he could but briefly express his appreciation and conscious unworthiness, which, in itself, was the most eloquent tribute he could pay to him who was so much to the hospital, to the community, to humanity, to every individual member of the executive committee.

After the auditing of the monthly bills of the hospital and disposing of routine business the committee adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

CLARK DEFENDS HIMSELF.

Florida Representative Says He Is Not Responsible to Legislature.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 15.—Asserting that he is answerable to the people of the Second Florida district, and not to the state legislature, Congressman Frank Clark opposed the resolution by Representative Alexander, of Volusia, denouncing him for alleged utterances made on the floor of Congress. In a two hours' speech before the Florida House of Representatives tonight, the hall was crowded to the doors and the speaker was frequently applauded. The resolutions were not acted upon, as they are set for a special order for April 27.

Clark quoted his utterances from the Congressional Record and claimed that he did not attack Champ Clark or say that the Florida legislature instructed him to speak against Bryan. He reiterated his attacks upon Bryan, designating him as "That Nebraskan 'Populist.'" He brought many arguments to bear against the Democratic leader, and claimed that he is already a prospective leader for 1912.

He claimed that he had done more work for the cause of the party during the campaign while Bryan was the standard bearer than all the backers of the resolution put together.

"Yes I'll work for him again" if he is nominated by the party in 1912," he said in reply to a question.

"The people of the South in '72 had to hold their noses and vote for Horace Greeley."

"No self-respecting white Democrat in the South can stand for the further effort of this man to reach the presidency when he believes in the government ownership of railroads," said Clark. Under this he claimed negroes would hold all positions on the railroads soon, as they now hold them in the free delivery service."

Assassinated Today.

Elmira, N. Y., April 16.—Joseph McCann, one of the leading meat dealers of this section, was shot down on the street today while on the way to his store.

His assailant is supposed to be Raymond Gill, an employe he had been dismissed by McCann because of alleged shortage in accounts.

MT. OLIVE LODGE A HOSPITABLE HOST

Phythians Thoroughly Enjoyed District Meeting and Banquet.

125 MEMBERS PRESENT

Goldsboro, Rocky Mount, Nashville, Faison, Warsaw And Clinton Represented.

One of the most enjoyable occasions in the history of the Pythians of this district was held Thursday with the Mount Olive Lodge as hosts. From the beginning to the climax, the banquet, the event was one long to be remembered.

Mr. M. T. Breazeale was elected secretary and treasurer of the district meeting and with District Deputy Grand Chancellor Fred R. Mintz in the chair, the business meeting was called to order promptly at 4 o'clock. There was a full and free discussion advocating a Pythian orphanage, and the vote of the meeting was unanimously for the establishing of such an institution.

The secretary was instructed to draft a memorial to be presented to the Grand Lodge, which meets in Hendersonville in June, advocating the Pythian orphanage.

Following the business session the one hundred and twenty-five members were treated by the excellent work in the third rank by Mount Olive Lodge, assisted by Messrs. W. T. Hollowell and W. T. Harrison, of Goldsboro. Representatives of the lodges of Rocky Mount, Nashville, Faison, Warsaw, Clinton and Goldsboro were present.

The banquet board was the climax of the social feature. Mr. M. T. Breazeale presided as toastmaster and proved a most able and delightful "master." The young ladies who served were sashes of the Pythian colors, blue, yellow, and red.

Following the invocation by Rev. E. E. Rose, Hon. J. D. Langston, of Mount Olive lodge, delivered an "Address of Welcome," which was indeed a welcome to the visiting guests.

In response, Hon. Henry A. Grady, of Clinton Lodge, delivered an address that was unexcelled for thought and fiction.

The addresses on "Damon," by Hon. T. D. Meares, of Wilmington; "Pythias," by C. E. Weatherly, of Faison, and "Calanthe," by Hon. George E. Hood, of Goldsboro, were interspersed with jokes and jests and highly enjoyed, as was shown by the applause as each of these speakers concluded their addresses.

DON'T GROW OLD.

Keep Your Hair Bright and Luxuriant and Stay Young.

Yes, Parisian Sage, the most invigorating hair restorer, grows hair; the women of America, who have luxuriant hair, know it does, and that is why thousands of attractive women throughout the land are regularly using it.

For years this almost marvelous grower of lustrous and beautiful hair was confined to the elite of Europe and New York City, but about two years ago it was given to a select list of druggists, and today can be obtained in any city or town in America where society women of refinement dwell.

Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair tonic in the world. It makes the hair soft, lustrous and luxuriant in a few days. It is perfumed most delicately and is not sticky or greasy. It stops falling hair, cures dandruff and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

This is what Mrs. Elizabeth E. Anderson, Mechanicsburg, Pa., writes: "I had given up hope of ever being cured of dandruff, when I purchased a bottle of Parisian Sage. It has entirely removed the dandruff, and has started a growth of new hair, and all this after having been troubled for 15 years. I cheerfully recommend Parisian Sage."

J. H. Hill & Son are the regularly appointed agents in Goldsboro for Parisian Sage and they will sell you a large bottle under a rigid guarantee for 50 cents.

A larger bottle of better tonic that's what you get when you lay down a half dollar for a bottle of Parisian Sage. The girl with the auburn hair is on every package and bottle.

The way of the slothful is as a hedge of thorns.
